ERANS INVITED,

AN EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES

Swept the State Before Striking
Lowell—Loss in Other Cities—
Other Diseases Normal

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 13.—Measles, looked upon by many as a harmless disease, caused 10 deaths in Massachusetts in the month of May, and caused the number of cases of communicable diseases reported during the month to exceed the average number reported during the same month for the five preceding years, according to a special report of the state department of health, issued yesterday. "This is a striking commentary," the department says, "on the generally accepted belief that measles is not a dangerous disease."

While the disease was epidemic throughout the state, Lowell seems to have been the center of a small epidemic; while the average number of cases reported during the month of May for the past five years has been 105, last year 152 cases were reported; in Chelmsford the average has been 6, but 22 were reported last month; and in Tyngsboro 21 cases were reported last month, although the average there also has been 6.

Scarlet fever, on the other hand, shows a considerable decrease in number of cases, the only epidemic center being at Quincy. Whooping cough shows more cases than for the five year period, but the department is of the opinion that some of the increase, at least, may be attributed to better reporting of the disease. Diphtheria shows a steady falling off, only seven places in the entire state showing for the month of May a greater number of cases than was averaged for the five-year period.

The department states that it has been disappointed in the work of newly established dispensaries in reporting cases of tuberculosis; instead of finding more cases of this disease, the number for May was actually less than during the five-year period.

Typhoid Fever

Typhoid fever showed for the month a remarkably small number of cases. As to the mortality, the department says:

"As usual, the most important factor in the month's mortality, tuberculosis, however, is the fact that there were 10 deaths from measles during the month, distributed as follows: Boston, 12; Brockton, 7; Worcester, 7; Springfield, 4; Chicopee, 2; Fall River, 2; and one each from Attleboro, Cambridge, Lawrence, Lynn, New Bedford and Woburn. Diphtheria with 35 deaths is a striking feature even though it is below the average. We do not appear to be making satisfactory progress in controlling the mortality from this disease. The most striking factor, however, is the fact that there were 32 deaths, while typhoid fever was given only eight times as a cause of death."

Lowell paid its toll to the measles epidemic last week when four deaths were reported.—Ed.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

It is just quarter of a century since the late Pope Leo XIII gave to the world his encyclical letter on the Condition of Labor, one of the most wonderful documents of modern times which even today is frequently quoted and referred to by learned men of all creeds and races. The encyclical has been translated in every language, and the official English translation was prepared under the direction of the late Cardinal Manning, of England. The old Sun published the encyclical in full.

Some Familiar Names

The old Sun's account of the graduating exercises of St. Patrick's Boys' school, quarter of a century ago, gives us a number of familiar names of boys who have subsequently made good, including the present mayors of Lowell and his twin brother, and some well known professional men, not forgetting "Buster" Brown who even today is "some" recreationist.

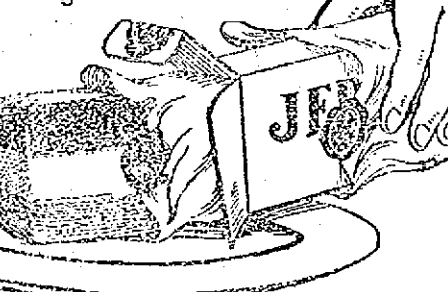

The old Sun's account in part reads as follows:

"The closing exercises of St. Patrick's parochial school were held in Huntington hall, and were largely attended by friends of the children and members of the parish. The program was in charge of the Xaverian brothers, the teachers of the school, and proved quite interesting, being generally conceded to be an improvement on that of last year. The clergymen present were Rev. Michael O'Brien, Rev. Arthur J. Teeling, of Newburyport, Rev. Frs. Burke, Shaw, and Gleason, Rev. Fr. Gilday and Rev. Fr. Foley of South Boston. The American orchestra assisted in the musical portion of the exercises."

"The choruses by a large number of boys were very good and the several

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all that food? Producing nourishment, it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably easily out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny savoury diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those single Sargol tablets. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be weighed. Give to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-where" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come in 10 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless, and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

never missed the annual event at Notre Dame academy, in which he was deeply interested. The other guests included many prominent clergymen from other cities and the late Bishop Delany, who had just returned from abroad after his ordination. The old Sun in its report of the exercises had the following: "The graduates were Misses Mary Johnson, Margaret Kennedy, Elizabeth Creahin, Ellen Murphy, Nora Murphy, Annie Delany, Catherine Cumiskey, all of Lowell, and Mary McSwaney, of Boston."

"The program which followed was of high literary and musical merit, reflecting much credit on the institution and showing too, the talents of the young ladies who participated. A duet on the harp by Miss Cumiskey and Miss Alexander was sweetly rendered and a selection from Ballini by a quartet consisting of the Misses Murphy, Miss Joyce and Miss Bradford was given with much feeling. The Misses Murphy appeared in a piano duet and afterward in a vocal duet singing a selection from Rossini, in a very artistic manner. Misses Joyce, O'Hearn and Crawford sang the Venetian Boat song in a very pleasing manner and Miss McSwaney displayed her proficiency on the piano in a fantasy, Thalberg. The closing chorus, "Tu Solus Pons Amoris" was very effectively rendered, the rich contralto voice of Miss Cumiskey of Boston being noticeable among the others. There were two essays, besides the recitations, one titled "A Rootless Academy" by Miss Elizabeth Creahin and the other "The Blessing of the Bay" by Miss Mary Johnson. The valedictory was in the form of a poetic dialogue and was finely given by Miss Cumiskey and Miss Delany. The diplomas and honors were awarded by Archbishop Williams, who made an eloquent address to the graduates.

"The graduates of St. Patrick's Girls' school of that year were Misses Mary Fitzgerald, Mary Campbell, Kate Murphy, Lizzy Bambrick, Joanna Hoar, Jennie Kearns, Mary Maguire, Ellen Connell."

"As the Twing is Bent"

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"Two Lowell boys won honors at Holy Cross college at the recent closing exercises. John J. O'Hearn won the gold medal for proficiency in Christian doctrine and J. Joseph Hennessy for proficiency in mathematics. And each followed his bent; for the former is now Rev. John J. O'Hearn, a well known clergyman of Boston, while Squire Hennessy's eloquence has mellowed like old wine, as he has matured."

Role in "Horse Cars"

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"On Tuesday the pupils of the Agawam street school to the number of 90 enjoyed a ride in the horse cars around the city accompanied by their teachers. Misses Mary McLaughlin, Annie Lee, Mary A. Fox and Miss Crowley, the pupils of Miss Davis and Miss Palmer also enjoyed a horse car ride on Tuesday."

"Indoubtedly the teachers of these schools would have furnished the children with limousines or with electric cars, but for the fact that there were no limousines and but one line of electric cars (running to Lakeview) in those days, and hence the kiddos had to be content with the slow-going horse cars, and their ride couldn't compare with these given annually to the youngsters of the present by John J. O'Hearn, who, totes them back and forth in electric cars. And it seems queer to think that while we all recall the old fashioned horse cars, and if one should go to the big city of New York he'd find some of them still in service. In that city, however, there are thousands of children in Lowell who have been born since the horse-car disappeared, and hence have never seen them, and probably never will see them."

MOOSE ARE FOR WILSON

MANY WILL SUPPORT PRESIDENT. SAY RETURNING DELEGATES—

ARE "SURE" AT G. O. P.

BOSTON, June 13.—The advance guard of the progressive delegates to their national convention at Chicago returned to Boston at 3.35 last night, borne of voice from much cheering and speaking, indifferent in spirit, and with statements for waiting reporters, that their attitude would be one of watchful waiting.

All agreed that unless they have a party announce their votes will be divided between President Wilson and Hughes. They said there is still hope Colonel Roosevelt will accept the nomination. But little will be issued in statement form until the national committee meets on June 25 to either select a nominee or call a caucus. Colonel Roosevelt does not run or throw up the party sponge.

All were sure because the republicans did not nominate Colonel Roosevelt.

Nelson B. Clark of Beverly was the first delegate-at-large to arrive. He said:

"There appears to be a wide difference of opinion among progressives concerning the support of Hughes. This appears to be particularly the case among the New York and Massachusetts delegates. What the outcome will be no one can, of course, tell at this time. Such progressives as I have talked with prefer to wait until after the meeting of the national committee on June 25, when the committee will fill the vacancy should Mr. Roosevelt decline to run, which is probable."

"It cannot be denied that President Wilson will be a strong candidate among the progressives, especially in the western part of the state. Much will depend upon the success of the Hughes organization in winning over the progressive party men. Massachusetts is a doubtful state at best, and coupled with the Brandeis appointment, which was extremely popular among progressives, it would appear that the outcome in this state is liable to be in doubt even up to the election itself."

WEEKS' SUPPORTERS VERY BITTER AGAINST LODGE AND CRANE—MAY HURT CHANCE OF G.O.P.

BOSTON, June 13.—The Massachusetts delegation to the recent republican national convention arrived home in Boston, yesterday afternoon at 4.40. The party was not complete. Some who started with it stayed longer in Chicago and others left the train at different points in western Massachusetts.

Senator W. Murray Crane got off at North Adams, as he stepped to the platform the rest of the company gave three cheers for him and also three for Hughes and Fairbanks, whereupon Mr. Crane made a very brief speech, thanking the delegates for their kindness in Chicago and expressing the belief that the convention had nominated the very strongest candidate in the whole list.

The other delegates at-large to the convention did not come back on the train. Gov. McCall remained in Chicago to visit one of his sons. Senator Lodge went from Chicago to Princeton, N. J., where, it is said, he will receive an honorary degree at commencement and Senator Weeks returned to Washington. Congressmen Winslow and the other Worcester men left the train at Pittsburg and there were descriptions also at Greenfield and Gardner.

The trip was highly successful as far as the comfort and pleasure of those who took it was concerned. Benjamin F. Felt and Jesse R. Baxter, respectively executive secretary and treasurer of the republican state committee, had charge, and not a slip-up of any kind took place.

The Boston & Maine railroad was represented on the train by C. P. Gourley of the passenger department; he and his associates did their work so well all along the route from Boston to Chicago and return that the train was constantly ahead of its schedule, and even then did not hurry. The time from Boston to Chicago was 24½ hours, and east bound was only a little longer.

In some of its other phases, however, the trip was not satisfactory to either those republicans who went to Chicago or those who remained in Massachusetts. The controversies roused by the candidacy of Senator John W. Weeks for the presidential nomination are likely to exist a long time and perhaps may become a stumbling block to the party in this state.

The Weeks supporters were, and still are, very bitter against Senator Lodge and ex-Senator Crane because they deserted Mr. Weeks after the first ballot in the convention last Friday and turned—the one to Col. Roosevelt and the other to Mr. Hughes. Senator Weeks himself apparently has not taken his defeat as much to heart as some of his friends—at any rate he has outwardly accepted it with good grace, but they have very sharp things to say about Mr. Lodge, Mr. Crane, and also Gov. McCall, and threats, partly veiled, but still unmistakable, have been made.

Fred Meyer has been appointed lecturer on rural fire delivery route No. 1 and will begin his duties the 15th of this month. This vacancy was caused by the resignation of Frank C. Wright during the early part of the year.

Leo Connell will give the class prophecy. Francis Sullivan, class will, Artemas Griffin, class historian. Frederick Hasey will present the class gift, which will be accepted by Miss Beatrice Hosmer of the class of 1917. Miss Ethel Barland will deliver the salutatory. The usual alumni dinner will be given at the town hall at the conclusion of the program to be followed by the annual dance at the town hall at night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sarquhar, of 35 Crowley street yesterday celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage. Owing to the ill health of Mrs. Sarquhar the affair was quietly observed. WEST VIRGINIA CASE

SUPREME COURT REJECTS PLEA FOR $12,000,000 SALE—JUDGMENT ASKED BY VIRGINIA

WASHINGTON, June 13.—After announcing a number of decisions yesterday the supreme court adjourned until Oct. 9 next.

The petition of the commonwealth of Virginia for an immediate order to the court's marshal to sell property of the state of West Virginia to satisfy the $12,000,000 judgment against the latter in the Virginia-West Virginia state debt case was denied on the ground that the West Virginia legislature had not met in regular session since the judgment.

Seneca Indians Lose Case

Seneca Indians were denied the right to fish and hunt without regard to state laws, on the 4,000,000-acre estate in western New York, which their tribesmen ceded to the government in 1795 on condition that they and their heirs always should be allowed fishing and hunting privileges. The opinion, prepared by Justice Hughes, was read by Chief Justice White.

The right of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, to revoke membership in 1910, with a resulting increase in dues for "fourth-class" members, was sustained.

Brandeis A-signed to Circuit

The case restored to the docket for another oral argument, at a time not set, cases involving the constitutionality of the Oregon minimum wage law and 10-hour day for men. Justice

WOMAN'S MARTYRDOM

How many men, think you, have any idea of the pain and misery endured by women of their own households, who suffer from ill peculiar to their sex? They often see them smiling and trying to be cheerful, even while racked with pain. If every such woman would only be guided by the experience of thousands of others who have been released from their pain by the use of the remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, much suffering might be avoided.

Brandeis was counsel in the case and probably will not participate in reconsideration.

Justice Brandeis was assigned to the second or New York circuit, succeeding Justice Hughes.

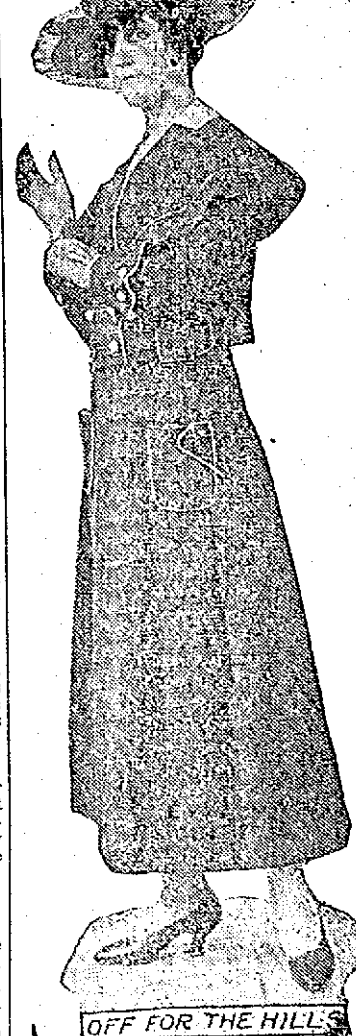

Rearrangement of seats was the only evidence of the resignation of Justice Hughes shown today. Justice Vananter succeeds Mr. Hughes as the fourth associate in point of service.

OFF FOR THE HILLS

LORD KITCHENER RAY MOLLOY MISSING

Memorial Services at St. Paul's Cathedral

LONDON, June 13.—Great crowds lined the streets today in the vicinity of St. Paul's cathedral and stood for hours in the rain awaiting the arrival of King George, Queen Mary and Dowager Queen Alexandra for the memorial services for Field Marshal Earl Kitchener.

The doors of the cathedral opened shortly after 10 o'clock and the vast building was rapidly filled with people who were fortunate enough to have tickets. Thousands of applicants for admission had been refused.

It was announced that the service would be practically devoted of any military ceremonial. No troops lined the streets through which the royal party was to pass and there was no guard of honor.

A feature of the service was the part taken by the band of the Royal Engineers and the drummers of the Irish Guard, of which corps Lord Kitchener was honorary colonel.

The "Dead March" was played by the band and the drummers, and after the benediction the drummers were to sound the "Last Post."

In addition to the services in St. Paul's the memory of the dead soldier was honored by a ceremony in Westminster Abbey, while a third service was held in Canterbury cathedral.

THE NEW HOME TREATMENT FOR UGLY, HAIRY GROWTHS

(Boudoir Secrets)

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms. Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered deodorant. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real deodorant.

LOWELL BOY WOUNDED

SAMUEL KIRKLAND FIGHTING WITH CANADIAN REGIMENT IN FRANCE

Samuel Kirkland, a Lowell boy, has written a letter to a local friend, Charles McQuarrie of 90 Jewett street, stating that he was injured by a flying piece of shrapnel in the trenches of France. Kirkland is fighting under the British colors and hopes to return to the fighting line very soon.

Private Kirkland left Lowell seven months ago, going to Canada, where he enlisted as a private in the Royal Highlanders. Later he sailed for England and after some drilling there, he went to the trenches of France, where he has been located for the past four months.

In his letter to Mr. McQuarrie the young soldier says it makes the boys feel good to receive news from home, for he says that is about the only excitement available on the battle field. He says the allied troops are hoping to meet the Boches in the open for they feel they could clean them out in short order. Private Kirkland speaks of the kills won by the Royal Highlanders and says the members of the Highlanders are referred to by the Germans as the "Mad Women from Hell."

He winds up his letter with a few personal items and states he is longing to return to Lowell. His address is as follows: Private Samuel Kirkland, 48702, No. 3 Platoon, No. 1 Company, 13th Battalion, Royal Highlanders, Canadian, B. E. F., France.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

A. B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"A Perilous Love," that's the title of chapter three of "Gloria's Romance," in which Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the B. F. Keith theatre, twice today and tomorrow. And, after seeing this chapter thrown on the screen, one quite agrees with the authors in giving that name to it. Miss Burke, as will be recalled, in the character of "Gloria," is rescued from the Seminole Indians by Dr. Royce, although one Frenchman takes the credit for it. "Gloria" simply doesn't know the true story, and, prompted by gratitude, reciprocates by giving Frenchman her love. Frenchman agrees with everybody, makes love to every pretty woman he meets, and, after "Gloria" has been away from him five years he passes her by without noticing her. It has been a pact between "Gloria" and her father that she shall not see Frenchman for five years at the end of which time, if they still care for each other, a marriage may take place. "Gloria" still loves the adventurer, but Frenchman has been too busy playing the part of Don Juan to care much for the pretty young woman. Royce, on the other hand, sees "Gloria" and loves her as much as ever. But still "Gloria" sticks to Frenchman, and, just as the chapter ends in a decidedly perilous position. Surely the plot of this engrossing story is becoming more complex, and the gradual unwinding of it later on will prove intensely interesting.

"Gloria's Altar," with pretty Barriacale, Lewis S. Stone and Walter Edwards in the leading roles is a five-act Triangle-Fine Arts drama, with a remarkable story. The eternal triangle in love affairs is exposed, but with a slightly different turn to events than is usually found. A man, risen from the ranks, becomes very wealthy. The partner of his leaner years fails to satisfy him. He wants a woman of social position, and is thrown into the presence of women who flatter him. The wealthy man knows no fault with his wife, and therefore, cannot divorce her. She is too unsuspicious to ever investigate his life. By chance a friend who declares that he has a shred of conscience left. The wealthy man proposes to give him $50,000 if he

FISH AND GAME

Local Association is the Most Active in the State

The Lowell Fish and Game association has established a reputation for quick and large increase in membership that extends far beyond the confines of Massachusetts. The Lowell Fish and Game association is listed as one of the liveliest, most progressive and prosperous organizations of its kind in New England.

The association has been congratulated by members of the state fish and game commission for its earnestness, activity and general executive ability. The state commissioners admit that but for the lowell association the great strides towards the restocking of the Merrimack river with salmon would not have been made and now the state men believe that four years hence there will be thousands of large salmon coming up the river. This belief is expressed in the following letter from Commissioner Graham to the secretary of the local association:

Boston, June 7, 1916.

Mr. Willis S. Holt, Secretary, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Willis: I want to congratulate you and the Lowell Fish and Game association on the result of your membership contest. You have done splendid work and every sportsman in Lowell will be benefited in the end by your large membership.

I wish you could get a crowd and go down to see the salmon station at Andover before long. I would like to be there when you visited the place but I am afraid I cannot. Mr. Larkin will be there to show you what we are doing if you will notify him when you will be down.

The salmon are growing fine and are doing well. I am glad that you have been so successful in increasing the membership in your association. With kind regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

George H. Graham.

will break up his home, and the conscienceless one agrees. Let it be understood that the man without any honor left is not the type of the common scoundrel. He is polished, good looking, well dressed and smoothly functioning. The wife is thrown much into his company, and becomes attached to him. But she trusts him absolutely. And this trust of the wife makes it doubly hard for the man who says he hasn't any conscience left to carry out his diabolical scheme. Finally the trap is laid, the wife is absolutely at the mercy of the supposed friend. But something extra in that man, something which savors of conscience. He cannot carry his game any farther, and leaves the wife without doing as the husband would afford to do. Lewis S. Stone plays the part of the social outcast in a convincing manner, and Walter Edwards, as the magnate, is specially notable. Miss Barriacale, as ever, is wholly charming.

"His Auto Ration," with Mark Swain as the auto thief who wants a trial and a reward for his services, is a Tripartite-Keystone scream. It is in two parts and shows a series of mix-ups which are as funny as they are improbable. This story is keyed up to the very limit for speed and laughter greets every act of the prodigious company. In addition to the story there are two shorter films—both good—"The Perfidy of Mary" and "Some Chicken." They are both comedies. The latter half of the week the leader will be "The Flying Torpedo," with Charles Chaplin in "Police" as the comedy feature. The Hearst-Village News of the week will also be interesting.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

An extraordinarily constructed and exceptionally human drama is "The Evil Thereof" which was shown yesterday afternoon and evening at the popular Merrimack Square theatre with the noted Frank Losee in the leading role. In the story of three one hundred dollar bills earned by sweat, toil and suffering which were eventually garnered by one of the idle rich. How they were spent in self gratification and brought only misery forms the basis of this powerful screen story which will also be shown today and tomorrow at the Merrimack Square theatre. "A Son of the Immortals" is another play which those who attend the Merrimack Square theatre today and tomorrow will have a chance to enjoy. J. Warren Kerrigan appears in the leading role, that of a determined young prince to whom the hand of the last he loves means more than all the homage of his subjects. The latest Sis Hopkins comedy, "Fattie News" and other pictures will also be shown at this theatre today and tomorrow at the continuous performances.

OWL THEATRE

"The Scarlet Woman," a Wonderful Metro feature film in five acts, will again be the attraction at the Owl theatre today. Appearing in the stellar role is the queen of all famous emotional stars, Mme. Petrova. Other excellent attractions will also be presented at the Owl this afternoon and evening.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

DETROIT, Mich., June 12.—The American Medical Association formally opened its sixty-eighth annual convention here today with thousands of physicians and surgeons from all parts of the world in attendance. BARNUM & BAILEY SHOWS

WILL BE AT FAIR GROUNDS ON JUNE 23—FOUR DAYS AFTER WILD WEST SHOW

Seldom if ever before have two big circuses appeared in Lowell so close together as do the Buffalo Bill and the Barnum & Bailey circuses, respectively on June 19 and June 23.

Did you ever stop to consider the brains and ingenuity behind the organization of a great street parade, such as will be seen on the streets of this city on Friday, June 23, when the Barnum & Bailey shows exhibit here?

This long, glittering pageant—the greatest in the history of American circuses—will be in no way similar to the parades of other years, and it represents not only an investment of $1,000,000, but a long period of careful thought and labor on the part of many artists and designers, both in this country and abroad.

With the advantages of many years spent in touring all of the civilized countries of the world, where this circus is as well known as in America, Barnum & Bailey's many agents have been constantly gathering the latest and best ideas for this year's street procession. The four corners of the world have been ransacked and great artists and designers have worked out the designs and ideas. For two years mechanics and properly builders have worked in the foreign workshops at Stoke-on-Trent, executing the latest and most modern designs. The expense has been paid to make the 1916 parade the greatest ever presented by Barnum & Bailey or any other circus.

All strange types of the human family are found in the procession, together with their characteristic costumes, weapons of war, vehicles, idols and strange musical instruments. Rich and fantastic wagons of state, gorgeous tabernacles, palanquins, richly draped howdahs, rolling thrones, chariots of fire and fairy vans have been made of the most expensive woods, carved by hand labor and burnished with pure gold. The laces are from Ireland, the silks and satins from China and Japan, and the rugs and tapestries are from Persia and Turkey.

The parade is three miles in length and has been likened to a "stretched out rainbow." It is a congress of nations, a horse fair, a musical convention, a zoological garden on wheels, a fairland carnival and an academy of science, all rolled into one panorama. Virtually all of the cages in the Barnum & Bailey menagerie are displayed in the procession, thus affording spectators a rare view of the greatest traveling zoo in the world.

The circus entertainment is the finest ever presented by Barnum & Bailey. More than 450 artists, most of them foreigners, present a long series of thrilling and novel acts in the three rings, two stages and in the maze of aerial rigging. The stunts and acrobatic feats are unusually fine, and a continuous round of amusement is afforded by fifty of the funniest clowns in the world.

Continued

The Board of Trade

The members of the Lowell board of trade will assemble at 7 p. m. sharp, on Market street, in the rear of the formation of the Lowell Electric Light delegation. Business dress will be worn and flags will be furnished the members.

It is expected that the women will dress in white and they, too, will carry flags. The flags are to be carried over the right shoulder, resting naturally and easily, and not carried down as suggested at a meeting some few days ago.

The G.A.R. veterans will review the parade from the front of the green school opposite the Memorial building where seats will be provided for their comfort.

Fire Alarm

The Highland Club

The Highland club was inadvertently omitted from the roster in the process of formation at the meeting of the committee on arrangements last night, but was assigned a position today with the York club. The Highland club will hold open house after the parade.

Women Drill at Armory

Never before in the history of the state armory in Westford street was such a scene presented as last evening when between two and three hundred women took a preparatory drill for the Preparedness parade. The affair was scheduled for 7:30 o'clock but did not materialize until 8 o'clock. The women represented only the industrial section of the parade and they were drilled by Maj. Kittredge and Capt. Jones assisted by other officers. It looked like a hopeless case when the women first lined up, on the drill shed floor and it was said by certain ones present that the first attempt was almost as ludicrous as the first attempt of the Business Men's bat-talion. The women "straw footed" and "hay footed" around for a while and it looked for a time as if no com-promise could be arrived at so far as keeping step was concerned, when, presto, change—the roll of a drum was heard, the little bit of music gave magic touch to the two or three hundred pairs of feet and in less time than it takes to tell it the women and girls were marching about the hall or drill shed, not in a way to provoke laughter, but admiration. "Guide right" captives were chosen, and drilled in giving "eyes right" in passing the reviewing stand. It must be distinctly understood by the women that they are not to salute in any way when passing the reviewing stand. They must simply look to the right and let it go at that. The women took very kindly to the drill-ing and seemed to enjoy it.

Of course it was new to them, but a few times around the hall with an of-ficer in khaki marching with each captain at front of her line, brought them into pretty good form.

The Daughters of the American Revolution were at the armory early in the evening, looking after the mat-ter of their regalia, and later they went to the high school for drill.

Notice to Boy Scouts

When plans for the big parade were first suggested by Mayor O'Donnell the Boy Scouts of Lowell and vicinity offered their services in any capacity His Honor might wish to use them. He has requested them to be in line with the rest of the organizations and they will be there. The local offi-cials request every Boy Scout who can do so to meet on Shattuck street out-side their headquarters promptly at 7 o'clock to form for parade, when they will march to the place allotted them to join the other organizations. Eight scouts have been appointed to carry the banners at the heads of divisions. Each troop will carry the American and troop flag.

PREPAREDNESS SPECIAL

To Every Out-of-Town Customer Ordering a Suit or Overcoat Wednesday, Tomorrow, Car Fare Will Be Paid Both Ways

Consciously or unconsciously, America today is judging and estimating the growth, prosperity and capabilities of the various cities by the showing the cities make in their respective preparedness parades.

LOWELL WILL BE SIMILARLY JUDGED. The parade being held Wednesday evening, June 14, in a city of 110,000 population, without the discouraging 6 to 10 hour formation waits of big cities, calls for a line of 15,000 to 18,000 persons.

MR. LOWELL MAN, will you be in that parade? Some organization has grip enough on you to demand that you do your share to uphold the reputation of the order. You may not think so now, but at this last minute you will be hustling around for a dark suit to wear in the parade.

PREPAREDNESS means to be ready for any occasion that may arise; that also applies to clothing. Blue Serge Suits will largely be worn by what ought to be the most cosmopolitan citizen soldiery that ever mustered under a waving flag.

A BLUE SERGE IS SUITABLE FOR ANY OCCASION from a soldier to the pulpit.

I still have six pieces of Arlington Blue Serge Worsted. This caused a sensation three weeks ago when I announced that I had Arlington worsteds, made in Lawrence, Mass., by the Arlington mill. To the layman the importance of this fact is not apparent. To the men connected with the woolen trade it means as fine a quality of merchandise as any tailor puts out at almost double the price. My price, suit to order $12.50.

I Will Need a Little More Time Today Than in Former Years

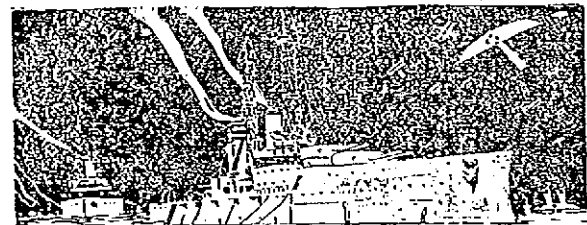

Tailors work only 8 hours a day now and the union won't let them work overtime. Every suit tried on before finishing, made as practically all clothing is now made in America, by union help, under union rules, by a big organization under special efficiency experts.

P. S.—Out-of-town friends bring our population up to 150,000 for that day. My contribution is your car fare paid both ways on any purchase.

1.—Immediately upon reporting at 7:15 p. m., organizations will form in line on the southwesterly side of Thornike street, as follows:

2.—Sixth Regiment band, at Davis square; battalion of militia, with right

Hebrew Division Front

The committee for the preparedness parade of the Jewish community met last night at the office of Bennett Sil-verblatt. The members present were

Bennett Silverblatt, Dr. B. Bernstein,

Rabbi Wolfson, Sigmond Rostler, Aaron

Pasterlosky, Frank Goldman and David

Ziskind. It was decided that all men in the Hebrew division should wear dark suits, straw hats and white gloves and carry American flags. A feature of the division will be a float representing Detsy Ross making the first American flag. A mass meeting will be held at the synagogue in Howard street tonight, when final arrange-ments will be made.

Chauvonniers Will Parade

One hundred and fourteen chauvonniers and repair men attended the meeting called for last night in the Church street garage, and voted unanimously to turn out in the preparedness parade on Wednesday night. A number of chauvonniers who were absent will probably also turn out and swell the ranks to 150. The officers in charge of the delegation ask the co-operation of all automobile owners in letting their drivers and chauvonniers off on Wednes-day night, so that the men may have full ranks and make a good showing in the interests of preparedness.

Chelmsford Street Men

Between 200 and 300 young men of the Chelmsford street section of the city, backed by the business men of Chelmsford street, will form a substan-tial part of the preparedness parade on Wednesday evening. The men will march in dark suits and straw hats and will carry flags. The division will be escorted by the Mission Church band of Roxbury and will be led by Richard

Donohue as marshal.

The movement on the part of Chelms-ford street and Ayer City citizens is purely a voluntary one and they have gathered inspiration from the purpose of the parade and that inspiration will help swell the ranks. Citizens in and

THE COMING FIGHT

The noise and bustle and bonhomie of the Chicago conventions has died down, the result of the St. Louis convention is already assured and the country now looks forward to the coming campaign between President Wilson and Justice Hughes. Thus far there has been no great issue, the line of demarcation in party politics is not well defined and two strong, able and sincere men will contest the greatest office in the hands of the American people to bestow. What shall be the result?

A look backward at the results of 1912 may prove illuminating. The popular vote allotted to President Wilson was 6,292,718, to William Howard Taft 3,369,221, and Theodore Roosevelt 4,057,429. President Wilson's plurality was 2,235,283.

It is pretty safe to assume that President Wilson will receive the vote of practically all who voted for him in 1912. Opposition to him exists in certain quarters, much of it of a discreditable character, but it has not cropped out within his party to any extent. The inevitable murmurs have been heard from time to time but whenever it has come to a showdown in congress or out, he has come out on top. Some of the vocal racial opposition which has been manifested in other sections and in the propagandist press will not affect his vote as few of those who have opposed him of late voted for him in 1912. The great mass of German-Americans and their sympathizers in this country are already republican voters and they would not have voted for President Wilson even under normal conditions. Consequently their threats and their enthusiastic championing of the untitled Justice Hughes will have little effect on the final vote.

It is highly probable, on the other hand, that much of the opposition to President Wilson will serve as a boom-erang and will react in his favor. Among the more conservative Americans who regret the intrusion of old world politics in our domestic affairs, the attempted intimidation by organized groups of voters may reawaken a desire for "America First" that will sweep President Wilson into office by a large majority. The singularly mild note in papers that have hitherto been most rabid in their denunciation of President Wilson would indicate that they see this danger ahead.

Again as in 1912 the so-called "progressive" vote may be the determining factor—though in a different sense. The refusal of Theodore Roosevelt to lead his followers to Armageddon has made many of them bitter and they now see that they were being used to advance the personal ambitions of one who did not find the republican convention in "heroic mood." Those who take their party designation seriously will find more genuine progress under the democratic banner than under that of the old guard, but even the practical politicians cannot look with enthusiasm upon the party that kept Teddy out in the rain at Chicago. Should the vote be in proportion to that of 1912, President Wilson must without doubt attract a great part of the doubtful element that will not be pinned down in their choice of political affiliation.

President Wilson's full strength will materialize when there is open discussion of the foreign policies of the country and when the people ask the republicans for something more definite than condemnation of the democrats, Justice Hughes, in a vague and safe way is against the foreign policies of the present administration. What policies would he substitute? Just now he is being vehemently supported by the more extreme of those who want the country to prepare against aggression and also by those who have become known as the hyphens. He cannot consistently hold the support of both, and as the campaign days draw on the better part of the political strategy shall be at the command of a president who despite all opposition has kept his vision straight and true for a future of American peace, preparedness and prosperity.

AMERICA FIRST!

The roster of the preparedness parade tomorrow night makes inspiring reading, including as it does almost every public and private activity of this great complicated city. With the keynote of sincerity and simplicity running through, the local demonstration will be the strongest exemplification of "America First" ever seen in Lowell. There side by side may be seen representatives of almost all the races that make up our cosmopolitan population, our civic departments, our business interests, private military bodies that are usually seen in parades of more or less empty shows, clubs, fraternities, bodies of women and even children. All Lowell will march under one flag and one only, and though many will participate may not be able to define preparedness, the thought in the hearts of all shall be "America, first, last and all the time!"

As Congressman Rogers said in his stirring address at the high school on Monday, a parade of this kind will be especially beneficial to Lowell because of the many racial strains from which we have drawn. Groups from all of the belligerent nations are here, many having but recently come. Daily they work side by side or pass and repass on the streets. Even though their brothers at home make and kill each other with all the madness of fanatics, here they live in peace and harmony. In each man's heart may burn enthusiasm and sympathy for one side or the other in the old world, but when the Stars and Stripes goes by everything is forgotten but the appeal of "America First."

And, in the last analysis, is it not because of this appeal that the nation now urges preparedness? We had come upon prosperous days that threatened our feelings of nationality. Wealth and pride were here and the thoughtless irreverence of the young nation, like that of a heedless boy in a world of scheming men. Then came the calamity of war all over the world and the hearts of Americans were stirred as they have not been stirred for a generation. All eyes turn to our glorious flag and the voices of Americans are raised in unison to demand that the government and the people leave nothing undone to protect and to perpetuate the land of Washington and Lincoln.

CAMP HOODLUMS

The two Billerica constables who arrested a large number of campers at a camp on the Concord early Sunday morning should keep up the good work and all other constables in camp sections should follow suit, otherwise there is much trouble in store for Lowell and many of its people for the coming months. Scarcely a week went by last summer but lawless campers were haled before the local court and in some places organized bands of loafers made life miserable for storekeepers and others.

One may readily see how camp life leads to license when the campers are of an undesirable type. They get away from the restraint of the city where the sight of the police is a constant warning, to where they think they are safe from interruption. Often, certain refreshments are carried along to sustain their animal spirits and then from sheer love of mischief or natural perversity they begin to act like wild men let loose. Many decent people go to summer camps, but of late years the increasing number of undesirables has interfered with the peace of those who really wish to enjoy a clean, healthy vacation. Unless some improvement is noted the police force at summer camping grounds will have to be increased in the interest of law and morality.

WATCHING US

Let it not be forgotten for a moment that all the nations to the south of us are watching our settlement of the Mexican question, and that on it shall depend in a large measure our future relations with all Latin America. With our ideals and protestations they are thoroughly familiar but they now wait to see if we will put our theories in practice. It is easy for politicians who wish to stir up opposition to President Wilson to find flaws in his watchful waiting policy, but what would they have instead? The alternative is either armed intervention or a costly and unsatisfactory protectorate which would impose thankless obligations on us for generations. If we should intervene in Mexico, where should it end? We have declared that we do not want any territory south of the Rio Grande. And, by the way, if we should intervene in Mexico, would it not be a splendid time for some other power to put our preparedness to the test? President Wilson has played safe, and a better policy does not as yet shape itself out of chaos.

WEEKS GREW STRONGER

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts was a larger figure at Chicago than some of the republican papers of the state are willing to concede, and his honorable consistent action won him many new friends from all parts of the country. He has the satisfaction that he was second to Justice Hughes in the voting, even though the defeat in the state ranks embarrassed him for a time. The Washington correspondent of The Sun who was present at the convention speaks in the highest terms of the attitude of Senator Weeks, and of the enthusiasm he aroused, and the picture painted of him contrasts strongly with that of Senator Lodge who tried to be with everybody at one and the same time, and in consequence lost the confidence of his associates and started trouble that may crop out with serious results to his party at the next state campaign. Lodge came out of the convention a smaller man than he went in while Weeks came out with a considerably larger reputation.

CITY BUYING

A New Bedford paper comes out strongly in opposition to the plan of electing a purchasing agent for that city. At present there is no such office, and the purchasing of supplies for the various city departments is carried out by a system of department co-operation which provides for competitive bids. The paper says that the present system has worked satisfactorily since its inception and that "criticism of contracts or the purchase of supplies have been few and far between." If this is so, the creation of a new office might be unwise since

It is the spirit that counts and if the end is achieved without the formation of a new and costly department, well and good! In all probability there would be far more criticism with a purchasing agent than there is now, for such is the experience of many cities that have the specific department as a separate function.

PLIGHT OF PROGRESSIVES

Now alas the progressives know that the strenuous individual who has again stepped out of politics temporarily merely used them to get something that he was after in dead earnest. Having failed to get the real thing—the republican nomination—he had no use for what his own party handed to him on a silver platter. It is not a time for polished language and the unvarnished fact is that the erstwhile progressives are sore at the raw deal that Theodore Roosevelt handed out. They may now see their folly in its true light and discover that they really belong in the democratic party which from first to last has kept its promises and has been greater than any man in it.

SEEN AND HEARD

Fresh people generally start that way when they're young. Some of our acquaintances make the church influence pay pretty well.

Tom Hoban said, speaking of preparedness, that we could use a few more big guns in congress.

Do not attempt any salute while passing the reviewing stand. Just keep your face turned towards the reviewers.

On the Vermont Central

It was a quarter past eight, and the commuters were waiting for the train, when the station agent appeared and informed them that the eight-sixteen was an hour late.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the oldest commuter of them all. "What are we going to do?"

"You might take the seven-four," suggested the agent. "It ought to be along in about 10 minutes now."

Honest Granger

A farmer who was blessed with a son with an engaging frankness of speech sent him to the local miller's one day.

The lad got hold of the miller and submitted for his inspection a handful of wheat.

The miller studied the wheat attentively, and then said to the boy:

"How much more has your father got of this?"

"He ain't got no more like it," the boy answered. "He's been all morning pickin' that out!"—Berkshire Sunday Herald.

Too Expensive

Johnny was naughty in school the other day, and his teacher, in talking seriously to him, said:

"I certainly shall have to ask your father to come and see me."

"Don't you do it," said Johnny.

Teacher thought she had made an impression, so she repeated: "I must send for your father."

"You'd better not," again said Johnny.

"Why not?" inquired the teacher.

"Cause he's a doctor and charges $5 a visit!"—Exchange.

Naming the Baby

Give your baby a name that will suit him or her throughout life. Let it be a euphonious, well balanced name, indicative of intelligence, character and success and one so easily written or spoken that no nicknames will ever be found necessary. If there is available a family name with these good qualities, all the better. Do not indulge in levity, do not give way to sentiment, do not surrender to affection or romance in this matter of selecting a suitable name, and avoid novel combinations and plays upon words without loading the child down with cheap commonplace.—Dallas News.

Why You Sneeze

There is more than one cause for sneezing, and persons may differ in their susceptibility to them. A bright light will cause some persons to sneeze, the pollen of certain plants will affect others, and most people are likely to sneeze in the presence of dust. Such sneezing is due to superficial irritation. The sneeze caused by the effect of cold is different. It is an attempt of nature to cure you. She makes you sneeze for the same reason that she makes you shiver—to generate heat for warming the blood and preventing you from taking more cold—to help relieve the cold you have.

The sneezing from cold is not an act of the nose alone, this being merely the part of the body where it explodes. It is an act of the entire body, during which every muscle gives a jump. The body is affected by a spasmodic effort to warm the entire system and throw off the cold.—Manchester Mirror.

Wedding Presents

Oh, June's the month of roses and the month of weddings, too. Then persons tie the nuptial knot when those have won who woo. The happy couples send out cards to every one they know. Each hoping that the wedding gifts will make a dazzling show.

The postman comes. You get a double envelope. You sigh. You know it means another gift that you have got to buy. You like the lovers, and for them all happiness you wish. But you could wish it quite as well without a pickle-dish.

You rack your brains, you lie awake and lose much-needed sleep. In trying to fix upon some gift both elegant and cheap. You vainly search through all the stores that every one frequents. To find some fourteen-dollar thing that costs but fifty cents.

Oh, wedding presents are a bore to those that have to buy. The envelopes of wedding cards are opened with a sigh. But to the happy couple what new happiness they bring! So pungle up! Perhaps some day your wedding bells will ring.

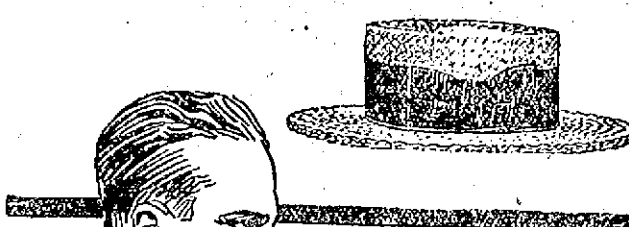

—Somerville Journal.

Resourceful Burglar

A constable going the rounds of his beat in London a few nights ago noticed a light in a house from which the family and servants had gone out of town. After the officer had pulled the bell several times a man put his head out of the bedroom window to say that he would be down in a few minutes. He came down in a dressing gown and carrying a candle in his hand.

The constable explained his suspicion, whereupon the man stated that he had just run up to town to see that all was right. After chatting for a little he invited the constable to have a glass of wine. He lit the dining room gas and produced a bottle of port. After they had drunk each other's health he let

A Fine Talker

"I like the looks of this parrot," said the lady who had stepped into the bird store. "Is he a good talker?" The proprietor replied that the bird was an excellent talker, and it was evident the customer was favorably impressed.

"What is your price for him?" she asked. The man had noticed the rich apparel worn by his customer, and he judged that there was a chance to make a little "easy money" at the expense of one who would never miss it.

"Ten dollars," he said, with just the slightest possible hesitation. "Five dollars, madam," instantly croaked the parrot.

The lady looked at the proprietor, who had turned red. "He certainly is a fine talker," she said, "and he also seems to have good sense. I am willing to take him at his own valuation. Do I get him for that?"

"You do," answered the bird man sadly.

PREPARATIONS FOR ELABORATE OBSERVANCE OF FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the observance of the feast of Corpus Christi in St. Louis' parish on Sunday, June 25. A procession of the Blessed Sacrament will be held through the various streets of West Centralville and two temporary repositories will be erected, one at the junction of Ludlam and Aiken avenue, and another on the piazza of the Centralville Social club building.

The procession will form at the church and the route will be as follows: Boliver to Victor, to Beaulieu, to West Sixth, to Ludlam avenue, to Cumberland road, to Ludlam, to Dalton, to Fisher, to Lakeview avenue, to West Sixth, to Beaulieu and into the church. During the procession stops will be made at the repositories. The church, fraternal and social organizations of the parish as well as the clergy, altar boys and semi-military guards will participate in the procession.

MRS. JOHN J. ROGERS

WELL KNOWN WORCESTER WOMAN SELECTED FOR PART IN WORCESTER CELEBRATION

A Worcester paper has the following:

Mrs. John J. Rogers, wife of John J. Rogers, formerly state president of the A.O.U., will read the Declaration of Independence from the steps of the city hall, as part of the Fourth of July celebration. She was selected by the committee having that duty on the safe and sane program for the city observance of the day. It will be the first time that a woman has been given the honor, and Mrs. Rogers' friends and admirers of her brilliant dramatic powers are immensely pleased with the choice.

Mrs. Rogers is a native of Massachusetts. She taught school before her marriage, and studied elocutionary art in the Emerson School of Oratory of Boston, and has prepared many pupils to give the declamation which will be her part of the exercises on the Fourth. Many a prize-winning speaker has been coached by her.

Mrs. Rogers has worked faithfully on the safe and sane committees for the last few years, and has taken part in many civic movements. She had a prominent part in the "Dream of Shakespeare's Women," which was presented by a representative local cast in the Worcester theatre some years ago.

"The Hon. A. S. Roe and Mrs. J. M. Talamo are members of the committee which have the special exercises in hand that enlisted Mrs. Rogers' services for the reading, which is one of the chief incidents of the day to be celebrated."

The Mrs. Rogers referred to above is a cousin of Mr. Thomas M. Hoban, proprietor of the Richardson hotel.

WHAT TO DO FOR NERVOUS INDIGESTION

When nerves go wrong they always seem to strike at your weakest spot. When this spot happens to be the stomach, nervous dyspepsia, restlessness, appetite vanishes and gives way to dull, dread, uneasiness and a hollow gnawing feeling that keeps up until even the most robust seem on edge. The food you force down won't digest properly, and you're all in down and out, and feel just as far as being really upset to yourself or anyone else is concerned.

It's the height of folly to force the digestion of food with some popular pills when the stomach nerves are in such shape. Nervous indigestion comes from the nerves alone. Get the nerve right and all distress will vanish. Thanks to a remarkable chemical discovery, it is now possible to feed the nerve cells with the exact stimulus they require when overworked and unstrung and a preparation called Nerve Tonic is producing remarkable results in the treatment of Nervous Indigestion, and other nerve disorders. They make a remarkable change in many instances in ten minutes by the way, strengthening the stomach and changing the nerve cells with strength, power, and tremendous reserve energy and giving nerves of steel, a clear head and brain, courage, power, quick wit, and real vital vim. Nerve Tonic cannot harm anyone. They contain no dope or dangerous habit-forming drugs. Forty tablets come in a large package, and this is often enough to give lasting relief to even the most obstinate cases. Lowell Pharmacy and other leading druggists everywhere are selling them with a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

RAN DOWN EMBANKMENT

AUTO AMBULANCE NEARLY FALLS INTO RIVER—STUMP HALTS ITS PROGRESS—NURSE INJURED

BRAINTREE, June 13.—An ambulance of the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital of Boston left the road-way at the junction of Hancock and Washington streets this afternoon near East bridge and ran eight feet down the side of the bank of the Merrimack river. Had it not been for a stump of a tree against which the machine struck, the ambulance would have gone into the river, which is now about six feet deep.

The ambulance was an improvised affair, made out of a touring car, used in transporting patients from the contagious hospital at Brighton. It was in charge of Samuel H. Buckright of 39 Worcester square, Boston, and with the chauffeur was a nurse, Miss Mary Sylvester. The ambulance had been to Bridgewater, carrying a convalescent patient to that place.

Near the East bridge, a bee or "darning needle" flew into the ambulance, and Miss Sylvester, thinking she was about to be stung, screamed. Mr. Buckright turned to see what was the matter and the next instant the ambulance left the road, crashing through a light rail guard.

The impact of the machine against the stump smashed the windshield and Miss Sylvester got a shower of broken glass in the face. She was assisted from the ambulance, which remained upright, to the home of Ralph Newcomb, where she was attended by Dr. C. A. Sullivan. The latter found Miss Sylvester suffering from a number of painful but not serious glass wounds. Mr. Buckright had a slight cut on the right wrist.

The ambulance was not damaged seriously. It was dragged from its position by horses and taken to South BRAINTREE for repairs. Miss Sylvester was taken to the hospital.

ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS

WASHINGTON, June 13.—While some state department advisers today gave a more favorable aspect to conditions in northern Mexico, others reported further anti-American demonstrations, leaving the situation generally unchanged.

LATE WAR NEWS

ATHENS, June 12, via London, June 13.—King Constantine decided today to order the complete demobilization of the Greek army.

The demobilization of the Greek army follows the blockade of the ports of Greece by the allies and the placing of an embargo on Greek ships in British and French ports. The steps were taken as a result of the occupation of Greek fortresses in Macedonia by Bulgaria at the end of May. The allies were aroused by negotiations which were opened by Bulgaria and Germany by Premier Skoulovis and on June 5 the British government announced that steps would be taken to prevent Greece from providing the central powers with supplies. The blockade was the result and on June 10 King Constantine ordered the 12 senior classes of the army to be demobilized.

AUSTRIAN AIR RAID ON VENICE

SUCCESSFUL, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, June 13 (By wireless to Sayville).—A squadron of American aeroplanes attacked Venice on Sunday night. Several other points in northern Italy were bombarded. An official Austrian report of June 12 says the raid was successful.

The announcement follows: "A squadron of naval aircraft on the night of June 11-12 bombarded extensively and with visible success the railroad tracks on the line between Mestre (five miles northwest of Venice) and San Dona di Piave and the railroad station at Mestre. They obtained several full hits on a locomotive shed. The arsenal at Venice also was bombarded."

Notwithstanding a heavy fire directed at them, all the aeroplanes returned unharmed."

ALWAYS MORE FOR LESS

THE SICKABED LADY

Nurse says that when people learn what to eat and how to eat it, they will have but little to do. Over-indulgence in eating and how one eats can result in but one thing. Raw foods containing starch and food to eat, as they cannot be digested in the mouth and the system is exhausted trying to digest them. People who eat them have but little strength for anything else. Next to peanut butter probably dried beans and peas are as nutritious as anything, but they are not suitable for weak stomachs.

Hearty puddings and pies containing eggs and milk should not be eaten at the close of a dinner, but should furnish the main part of a luncheon instead. Tea and coffee or other drink should not be taken with food, but before a meal. Before dinner coffee is better than after dinner coffee. When the stomach is weak it is a good idea to eat meat at one meal and starch food at the next to give it a little more rest.

Too much meat or protein food of any kind produces constipation, as there is more waste to protein food and a large amount clogs the bowels. If the skin of the face and nose looks red and irritated it shows you eat too much meat. Fruits, green vegetables, some cereals, and uncooked fruits are laxative, as olive oil, cream, butter.

Nurse tells me that a hot water bottle half filled with air and water is only doing half its work. It must contain but a little air. Air is a non-conductor of heat and cold and therefore we must get the air out of the bag.

Fill the bag with water, using judgment as to the amount, being sure not to have too much if the bag is to be used on a tender spot. Twist the top of the bag, pressing gently to allow the air to escape and quickly screw on the cap while holding the bag in this way. Vigorously shake the bag, holding it by the bottom to make sure none of the hot water will leak out.

Now we must test the bag to make sure it will not burn, as it is nothing less than a tragedy to blister a patient with a hot water bag. A blister made in this way is very hard to heal and almost always leaves a very ugly scar, and sometimes renders useless the muscles burned. Place the bag against your own cheek or the back of the hand to ascertain whether or not the bag is at the right temperature.

Nurse says hot water is immediately digested or rather absorbed, and so can be taken just before eating, but cool water cools the stomach, and requires half an hour to digest, so should not be drunk for half an hour before meals, and it should not be drunk for at least three hours afterward. Five hours is better, especially if the stomach is weak for a week stomach may require five hours to digest what a strong one would digest in three hours. Stout people should not only eat less, but drink less, then the surplus fat can be utilized in place of water.

From three to four pints of liquid (six to eight cups) should be drunk every day to keep the kidneys active. Two cups of hot water, tea, coffee, herb tea or thin soup, can be taken just before eating or two cups of cold drink half an hour before meals, but an easier way, I think is to take a cup of hot liquid just before the meal and a cup of cool water half an hour before the next meal and one at bedtime. Hot water should be sipped a teaspoonful at a time.

Nurse advises one who has stepped on a rusty nail to at once pour upon the wound a little warm turpentine. Always keep it in the house, for turpentine is very good for a severe cut or bruise. It is also a very good remedy for cramp. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and place it on the throat and chest. Spirits of turpentine gives immediate relief for burns. It prevents soreness of blisters. Useful for corns, rheumatism, sore throats and many other purposes.

Nurse says when used rightly salt is a medicine. Salt should be eaten with nuts to aid digestion. Nervous spasms are usually relieved by a little salt taken in the mouth and allowed to dissolve. Tickling in the throat is best relieved by gargling salt and water.

Hemorrhages from the lungs or stomach are promptly checked by small doses of salt. The patient should be kept as quiet as possible. Consumptive night-sweats may be arrested by sponging the body nightly with salt water.

Nurse says often people think that they need a vacation and that is why they feel tired and half-sick when really it is because they are eating the wrong kind of foods and their food hurts them more than it helps them. It is wicked that so much good is spoiled in cooking, giving people dyspepsia.

If you feel timid, blue, nervous and imagine all sorts of dreadful things, it is because your nerves have been poisoned by indigestion. When the blood gets impure from malnutrition, even the eyes become affected and there are lots of people who are wearing glasses for blurred vision who do not need them, but they do need to look after the food they are eating, then their eyes will become clear again.

After the stomach digests a meal it has to repair itself and then rest before attacking the next meal, so it should not be disturbed until half an hour before the next meal. If you are faint between meals and feel that you must take something, drink water, but do not eat anything, not even fruit until half an hour before the next meal.

If we all perspired more freely it would be much better for us, as it works the poison out of the system through the pores. Cleanliness is promoted by perspiring prior to bathing. Everyone knows the exhilaration which follows a healthy perspiration. Of course the most beneficial method of securing per-

DON'T FAIL TO SEE THEM

Owing to the bad weather and having disappointed so many last week, they will appear again this week.

Respiration is the method applied to the trotting horse—vigorous exercise. In fact, one of the benefits of exercise is perspiration.

When a person cannot or will not take exercise, perspiration can be induced by hot baths. Such extreme measures ought not, however, to be taken too often. How often will depend on the corpulence and other circumstances of each individual.

Sweating may be overdone and should never be pushed to the extent of exhaustion. The function of the skin in removing wastes from the body is much less important than formerly supposed. The advice of a physician is desirable. It should be remembered that all of us perspire insensibly as well as visibly.

SPRINGFIELD IN LEAD

Flynn's Green Sox Strong on Attack—New London Tops in Fielding—Lowell in 7th Place

The Lowell baseball club dropped in both batting and fielding for the week ending June 8, according to the latest table of averages compiled. The local team lost 15 points in batting and now averages .228 per man. In fielding, Lowell held an average of .950 a week ago and the more recent list gives it .946.

With the exception of Lawrence and Lowell, all teams in the league showed marked improvement in team play. By unusually hard slugging Springfield worked its way into first place in batting and New London a close second. New London boasts the best fielding average and Lawrence is in second place, just two points behind.

Springfield is having a merry old time in swatting and leads the circuit in six different departments. The Green Sox have registered the greatest number of runs, leads in hits and total bases, have made the highest number of two-base swats and are showing the way in circuit slugging. The Worcester are second in run-getting, New London is second in two-baggers and Lawrence is following the Home City leads in homers. Lynn with 47 piles leads the league in stolen bases. Springfield passed Portland during the week and is now second with 57, which is one more than the Duffs sport. Worcester lost the lead in sacrifice hitting to New London. The latter has made 50 suicide raps, which is two more than Worcester. The Boosters with 14 lead in sacrifice flies.

NEBES ACCEPTS 48 DOUBLE HEADERS

Ready to Meet Blackburn for Purse—Skating Better Than Ever

Albert J. Nebes, Lowell's champion roller skater, requests The Sun to announce that he is ready to accept William Blackburn's challenge for a race for a purse of $200 any time that the Chicago boy puts up the two hundred bucks.

Blackburn's challenge appeared in yesterday's paper, and just as soon as Nebes read of the defy he rushed into the office and made the announcement that he would gladly accept the challenge to again beat Blackburn.

Nebes and Blackburn appeared in a match race last week at the Crescent rink, and while the latter put up a great exhibition he had to be content with second place. Nebes gave a remarkable performance in the race, and his work on the final night, Saturday, was the most spectacular seen at the rink this season.

The Lowell boy who has been at the game for several years, is experiencing the most successful season of his career. He has met all comers, some of his opponents being among the best in the country, and has yet to be defeated. He is in perfect condition and the fact that he never uses tobacco or intoxicants in any form is standing him in good stead. He is at all times ready to jump in and meet any opponent selected and can always be depended upon to put forth his best effort.

That is the reason that Nebes is so popular in this and other cities. His supporters always know that he will do his best, and hence they never fail to back him in all his endeavors. He never fakes or hangs back and this is the kind of attitude that is entitled to all the support and encouragements that can be given him.

HIT FORMER LOWELL CATCHER WILL NOT GO TO ANY PENNANT CONTENDER, SAYS GRIFFITH

Clark Griffith figures he was stung when he sold Chick Gandil to the Indians. He doesn't propose to be stung again, however. He has another star on the market in Catcher Eddie Ainsmith, who has for several seasons handled Walter Johnson's shoats.

Ainsmith has gotten into Griffith's graces in much the same fashion as Gandil did, but Griffith, while determined to make the sale, doesn't propose to sell him anywhere that there's a possibility of bolstering up any team that might prove a rival to Washington in the pennant fight.

Griffith thought he had made sure this wouldn't happen when he sold Gandil to Cleveland. He couldn't see the Indians as anything but a second division team, even with Gandil. He refused a much greater offer from the highly touted Chicago White Sox than the $5000 the Indians gave for Chick. The Speaker dealt wasn't in sight then and if he had it to do over again the Indians wouldn't get Gandil.

Griffith doesn't propose to be caught the same way twice. Therefore he is now engaged in a strenuous little game of trying to get Ainsmith out of the American league.

He has a deal already arranged to sell Eddie to the Phillies if he can get waivers from the other American league clubs. But the New York Yankees are crazy to get Ainsmith. So each time Griffith asks for waivers the Yankees refuse and Griffith withdraws his request for waivers only to renew it time and time again in hopes of wearing the Yanks out.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Leopards trimmed the Front Street Stars Saturday by the score of 14 to 5. The Leopards would like to play any 12-13-year-old team in the city. The Columbia Seconds preferred to send all challenges through this paper.

The Young Hampshire Street Stars would like to play any nine or 10-year-old team in the city. Their lineup is as follows: Bagle, C. G. Wood, P. Casey, H. H. Wood, B. Moberg, B. Connors, M. Morris, W. Shea, C. Mitchell, Jr.

The Agawams want to know if the Almont B.C. of Tewksbury is afraid to come to Lowell Saturday. If they are not afraid of going back whitewashed, answer through this paper or phone 2923-W.

The Royals of Pawtucket would like to play the Beaver A.C. Saturday afternoon for two quarter ball. Answer through this paper or phone 2923-W.

NEBES ACCEPTS 48 DOUBLE HEADERS

TO BE PLAYED OFF WHEN GOOD WEATHER ARRIVES AS A RESULT OF POSTPONEMENTS, ETC.

The season of double-headers is near at hand in the Eastern league and, beginning next week, they will probably crop up every little while, which means that the fans will have frequent opportunities to see double engagements for one admission. No less than 48 games, or almost one-third of those scheduled to date, have been either postponed, ordered replayed through granting of protests or the decisions. Five postponed games have been played already.

Hartford has more postponed games than any other club, due to its three tie games, and the protested one with New Haven. There are 12 to be played off, seven at home and five on the road. KNIVES USED IN FIGHT

Hot Time at Liberty Square This Morning—The Participants Escaped—Police Court Docket

The corner of Fletcher and Worth streets was the scene of a lively fracas shortly after seven o'clock this morning when knives, clubs, stones and fists were used, but despite the fact that one man received a cut over the eye and another had the sleeve of his coat slashed and that the fight lasted for fully fifteen minutes no police officer appeared on the scene. After two members of the party had been badly beaten up and their assailants had made a get-a-way the two injured men also made their escape, the latter probably feeling that it would be better to go to a doctor and get fixed up than go to the police station.

When queried relative to the affray the police informed a representative of The Sun that a report had been made by the officer on the beat that there was trouble in the vicinity of Liberty square this morning, some foreigners having gotten into an argument over labor troubles.

A man who conducts a store in the vicinity of where the trouble occurred informed The Sun this morning that shortly after seven o'clock he heard loud shouts and looking out saw about fifteen men in the street. They were having a pitched battle using their fists, stones and various missiles. During the thick of the fight he saw a man draw a sharp knife which was at least ten inches long and make vicious lunges at one of the men. The knife went through the man's sleeve and shortly afterwards there was a spurt of blood. Another man got knifed over the eye.

Inasmuch as all of the shouts and utterances of the men was in a foreign tongue I could not understand what they were saying. After the battle had been going on for about fifteen or twenty minutes on member of the party shouted and the majority of the participants started to run away.

The injured men were the last to leave.

The police are investigating the matter and although the details given by the department are very meagre they may succeed in locating some of the disturbers.

Short Session Today

This morning's session of the police court was a comparatively short one. There were but few offenders present and they were disposed of in short order. Several cases which were scheduled for trial were continued until a later date.

David Rioux was arrested yesterday for drunkenness and gave his residence as Lewiston, Me., but later said that he lived in New Hampshire. Inasmuch as the man was not in the best of condition this morning it was decided to continue his case until next Saturday.

Bernard P. Mesnan, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty, but as the police are trying to connect him with a more serious offense the prosecuting officer requested that the case be continued until tomorrow.

Joseph McCall was ordered to pay a fine of $15 and Edward Gagnon $5.

The case of Frank D. Greene charged with non support was continued until Monday by agreement of counsel.

Serious Charge Preferred

John Koswicz and Veronica Szuland were charged with illegal habitation. According to their own admission they had been living together in this country for several years. The man admitted in court this morning that he has a wife and children living in the "old country" while the woman stated that her husband is dead, but that she and Koswicz have been living as man and wife for some years. By request of counsel for the defense the case was continued until Friday.

THE LADY'S WORKBAG

A camisole material by the yard needs only the front edges turned in and ribbon straps added for the shoulders to make it a rival of the more expensive and tediously made models. The yard material consists of a band of white or flesh-colored crepe de chine headed by a pulling of net and a band of lace with a casing of silk through which to run the ribbon. The bust measure, plus about four extra inches of hem and a slight ease across the bust, will be sufficient for one camisole. There are other laces, headings and nets by the yard that will make the camisole process an easy one. Wide ribbon needs but a lace insertion or beading to make a camisole.

There is a particularly lovely negligee that bears out the "by the yard" theory beautifully. It has a slip formed of the accordion-pleated chiffon which comes by the yard or the piece of two or three yards. This is hung from the shoulders by ribbons. Over this is draped wide mesh lace in such a way that the lace is not cut except at the bust, the other is gathered on to this cape to lengthen it in back, and the third is draped from the front to the longer back by merely catching it at intervals to the cape of lace.

In finishing the neck and armholes of little children's undergarments or the neck of yokes of dresses instead of using the usual bias facing a much more lasting, as well as neater finish, can be made by rolling the raw edge over small cord according to the material used—cotton is good—and whipping down.

If hooks and eyes are buttonholed in place they will not pull off. Three or four such stitches will hold them firmly while it takes twice as long to number if taken in the usual over-and-over way, and even they will loosen readily.

When engaged on delicate needlework a good idea is to have a little flour in a saucer by your side and to dip your fingers in it from time to time. This will not only keep the hands dry, but keeps the work beautifully clean.

A simple, but effective case for holding ribbons is made of an odd-length of silk or satin or a strip of ribbon. A piece of material, flowered silk or ribbon, twelve inches long by six inches wide; a skein of white silk, a yard of white ribbon, one quarter-inch-wide, and twelve yards of narrow ribbon suitable for drawing through underclothing are required.

Baste a narrow hem around the material and fold over the lower edge to within one and one-half inches of the top. Featherstitch the hem and divide the turned-up portion into four equal sections with the white silk. From plain white cardboard cut four pieces, 10 in. the section of the ribbon case. Over these wind the ribbons and slip each into its particular section. Fold over the case and tie together with the white ribbon.

This summer more than ever will the bag be useful. Dig bags, silk, cotton bags, round and square, silk, cotton or embroidered, but a bag of some kind one must carry to be in fashion. An effective one can be made from plain repp and cretonne. Cut this

ORPET MURDER TRIAL

JOSEPHINE DAVIS, CHUM OF MURDERED GIRL, RESUMES HER TESTIMONY

WAUKESHA, Ill., June 13.—Josephine Davis, chum of Marian Lambert for whose death last February, Will H. Orpet is charged with murder, resumed her testimony at the continuance of the trial today.

Miss Davis who had been expected to testify for the state, was instead a witness for the defense and yesterday retracted statements she made at the coroner's inquest and at the hearing before the grand jury.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE SAFE, RELIABLE WAY People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure. There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from A. W. Dows & Co. or any good druggist a box of Oil of Korian capsules. Take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal. Oil of Korian is absolutely harmless. It is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. Foodstuffs become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being. Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS

PIERROT EMBROIDERY

"I saw a lovely table runner in black and white pattern at Mabel's house today," remarked Marjorie to Marie. "I don't know what the style is called but it was very effective."

"Perhaps it was a Pierrot style," responded Marie. "That's what they call the new embroidery that stands out so boldly with its black-and-white colored patterns. The idea for the black will be painted in for originated with entire black-and-white work, but the bold black backgrounds of stripes and the like made such an appeal that colors were added to give the striking effect which is gained by the tulip set described. "If you buy your set stamped—and almost any needlework shop has at least one representative of this new design—you will be all right. The leaves for the black will be painted in for you. But if you are one of the talented ones who do their own designing, or at least copy from designs, you will have to stencil the black part or else fill it in with heavy black cotton.

"Tulips are a happy inspiration for the designer of colored work, as they give such an excellent excuse for the introduction of bright reds, yellows and orange.

"Both runner and centerpiece are worked on heavy crash or linen in natural color. The natural-colored crash or linen will be found more effective for the Pierrot work. The width of crash toweling, eighteen or twenty inches, makes a good runner and does away with side seams, as a good design will not require any seams.

"The leaves on the runner are entirely filled in with dark green mercerized cotton, a rather heavy six-thread floss being used, as it fills in very quickly and gives a soft silky effect. The tulips may be worked in the brilliant tulip red, or in yellow or orange. They too are filled in with long and short stitches, like the finer colored work used on centerpieces several years ago."

for maneuvers; but they were forced to abandon going there on account of extremely poor landing facilities.

Major Joseph Hart, who is the regimental surgeon, and Capt. Philip L. Schuyler, the regimental adjutant, were among those accompanying the colonel. Throughout their stay on the island the party was entertained by R. Lee Colter, who runs the Kelley house, the Edgartown garage and the ferry house line which connects Edgartown with the other towns on the island.

The camp will last from July 9 to July 22. The spot chosen is on Edgartown harbor, about two miles due south of the town, on a little rise overlooking the harbor to the east and the ocean to the south, and backed by a small group of trees. The animals will be watered at a small stream which joins the harbor at this point, and wells will be driven for the men. The harbor furnishes a handy bathing place, with water above the average in temperature.

CARELESS USE OF SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mislaid coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless) and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mislaid coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

CAMP AT EDGARTOWN

SIXTH REGIMENT GOING FROM JULY 9 TO 22—GOOD BATHING PLACE

BOSTON, June 13.—Col. Warren E. Sweetzer of the Sixth Mass. Infantry and his staff have just returned from an extensive tour of Martha's Vineyard Island, where they went in search of a camp site for the regiment. They finally decided on Katama bay at South beach in the town of Edgartown, as being nearly ideal. The extreme east part of Edgartown, known as Chappaquiddic, was considered by them to be a slightly preferable location, by reason of a better bathing beach and more varied ground.

VICE PRESIDENT MARSHALL, AS LATEST POSED PHOTOGRAPH PORTRAYS HIM

THOMAS R. MARSHALL

Thomas Riley Marshall, elected vice president in 1912 and slated for renomination by the democrats this year, was governor of Indiana when chosen to run with Wilson four years ago. The governorship and the vice presidency are the only offices he has held. He was born in North Manchester, Ind., on March 14, 1851, and was educated at Wabash college. He began his law practice in 1875. Mr. Marshall is married, but has no children. His home is in Columbia City, Ind.

EXECUTED IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, June 12.—An incident of the Irish rebellion which heretofore has been kept secret, came out at a court-martial today. It concerns the shooting by a sergeant of the guard at the Guinness brewery of his officer and an employee of the brewery, whom he mistook for rebels. The defendant is Sergt. Robert Flood of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers. He is charged with the murder of Lieut. Lucas of King Edward's Horse and William J. Rice, who was employed at the brewery.

The prosecutor explained that Lieut. Lucas took over command of the guard on the night of April 28. It was very dark at the time. Lucas was unknown to the sergeant and when he opened a window, which was contrary to instructions, Flood ordered his arrest, the prosecutor said, and later his execution, as well as that of Rice. Later Lieut. Warwick arrived at the brewery and, rushing up toward the guard also was shot. According to the prosecutor, it was too dark to recognize his uniform.

SLIM SALLEE WILL REMAIN A CARDINAL UNLESS MCGRAW GIVES FOUR STARS

ST. LOUIS, June 13.—Miller Huggins says there is no chance for Johnny McGraw to get Slim Sallee from the St. Louis Cardinals unless he wants to give four or five star players in return for the lanky twirler. "Sallee is a valuable pitcher, and the Cardinals need him. I don't see any reason why I should sell him to the Giants unless I should get something real good in return," says Huggins. Reports have been sent out recently that Huggins was going to sell Sallee to the New York Giants. Photo shows lanky pitcher sending one over.

ADVANCES AT OPENING

PRICES BOUNDED FORWARD VIGOROUSLY AT THE OUTSET—THE TRADING WAS BROAD

NEW YORK, June 12.—Accepting the course of today's early market as a criterion, the speculative community came to regard latest developments in the political situation with some enthusiasm. Prices bounded forward vigorously at the opening, U. S. Steel being most conspicuous, rising a point on transactions extending from 1400 to 4000 shares. Other active industrials and representative railway stocks as well as shipping issues and leaders of the munition group, rose 1 to 2 points. Air Brake made the greatest gain, adding five points to last week's rise. Trading was broad with signs of a renewal of public interest.

Before mid-day trading slackened perceptibly but prices were well maintained. Bonds were firm. Reading, Steel and Beet Sugar expanded their gains in the afternoon, the latter making the new record of 87 1/2. Marine and Mexican Petroleum showed some heaviness elsewhere the undertone continued strong.

Profit taking became more effective toward the end, some important issues again receding a point from highest prices. The closing was strong.

Finishing Blow Given Largest Surviving Band of Villa Followers in Chihuahua

FIELD HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. PERSHING, June 12, via radio to Columbus, N. M., June 13.—The finishing blow was given the largest surviving band of Villa followers in Chihuahua at daylight June 9 by 20 men of the 13th cavalry under Capt. Otto W. Retbore in a gasping canyon fight 20 miles north of Santa Clara near here. The Americans were unhurt.

U. S. TROOPER SHOT BY

BULLET FIRED ACROSS BORDER

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 13.—A bullet fired across the Mexican frontier 21 lone cabin, 40 miles south of Hachita, N. M., yesterday struck Leo W. Sanders, a trooper of K troop, twelfth cavalry, in the left leg, according to a report made today by Sanders.

30 MEXICAN HERDERS

SLAUGHTERED BY INDIANS

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 13.—Thirty Mexican herders engaged in a roundup near Fundacion in the Sahuaripa district of southern Sonora, were attacked and slaughtered by Yaqui Indians several days ago, according to apparently reliable reports received here today. The reports stated that the band recently broke through the line of Carranza troops established in the northern Yaqui river valley and have been committing depredations in the district since. Several isolated ranches being attacked and a number of Mexicans killed.

1500 ADDITIONAL TROOPS

RUSHED TO BORDER

WASHINGTON, June 13.—With 1500 additional regular troops ordered to the Mexican border last night and reports of the rapid spread of anti-American feeling continuing to pour in from consuls all over northern Mexico, administration officials made no attempt to disguise their uneasiness.

It was unofficially admitted that there is growing alarm over what the agitation may produce and the possibility of an attack on Gen. Pershing's expedition.

No case of attack on the persons of American residents in Mexico have been reported, although there have been one or two attacks on vacant consulates and other American property.

Part of the increasing apprehension here is due to the rapid raids in the Laredo region. Several reports dealing with the situation there have been received. Officials declined to reveal details; but they gave the impression of having reason to believe a serious purpose was behind the bandit raid on the Coleman ranch. Three raiders were killed and three captured, one report said, adding that they attempted to burn a railroad bridge near Laredo, but failed.

MEXICANS FLEE TO U. S.

TO SEEK EMPLOYMENT

EL PASO, Tex., June 13.—Several hundred Mexicans have arrived in Juarez in the last few days from the border, and are seeking employment in the United States. They said all industries in the Torreon district are closed and that the industrial and economic situation is the worst in years.

Reports from Sonora indicate a poor crop, thus working a hardship upon farmers, many of whom counted on harvesting their first crop in years.

Over fifty physicians from all over the state, including many from Boston, took the examination and this morning Dr. Finnegan received word from Commissioner McLaughlin that he was first on the list. The commissioner will forward his name to the state health council and it is very probable that it will be approved on account of his high standing in the examination.

Dr. Finnegan is well known as one of Lowell's young physicians. He resides at 491 Lawrence street and is associated with Dr. Edward J. Welch, with offices in the Runels building. Dr. Finnegan was highly commended for his splendid showing against such a large field of competitors.

AN EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES

Lowell—Loss in Other Cities—

Special to The Sun.
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 13.—Measles, looked upon by many as a harmless disease, caused 40 deaths in Massachusetts in the month of May, and caused the number of cases of communicable diseases reported during the month to exceed the average number reported during the same month for the five preceding years, according to a special report of the state department of health, issued yesterday. "This is a striking commentary," the department says, "on the generally accepted belief that measles is not a dangerous disease."

While the disease was epidemic throughout the state, Lowell seems to have been the center of a small epidemic; while the average number of cases reported during the month of May for the past five years has been 105, last year 122 cases were reported; in Chelmsford the average has been 6, but 12 were reported last month; and in Tyngsboro 21 cases were reported last month, although the average there also has been 6.

Scarlet fever, on the other hand, shows a considerable decrease in number of cases, the only epidemic center being at Quincy. Whooping cough shows more cases than for the same year period, but the department is of the opinion that some of the increase, at least, may be attributed to better reporting of the disease. Diphtheria shows a steady falling off, only seven places in the entire state showing for the month of May a greater number of cases than was averaged for the five-year period.

The department states that it has been disappointed in the work of newly established dispensaries in reporting cases of tuberculosis; instead, the number for May was actually less than during the five-year period.

Typhoid Fever
Typhoid fever showed for the month a remarkably small number of cases. As to the mortality, the department says: "As usual, the most important factor in the month's mortality is tuberculosis. The most striking factor, however, is the fact that there were 40 deaths from measles during the month, distributed as follows: Boston, 12; Brockton, 7; Worcester, 7; Springfield, 4; Chicopee, 2; Fall River, 2; and one each from Attleboro, Cambridge, Lawrence, Lynn, New Bedford and Woburn. Diphtheria with 29 deaths is a striking feature even though it is below the average. We do not appear to be making satisfactory progress in controlling the mortality from this disease. Scarlet fever and whooping cough combined to cause 32 deaths, while typhoid fever was given only eight times as a cause of death."

HOYT.

Lowell paid its toll to the measles epidemic last week when four deaths were reported.—Ed.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

It is just quarter of a century since the late Pope Leo XIII gave to the world his encyclical letter on the Condition of Labor, one of the most wonderful documents of modern times which even today is frequently quoted and referred to by learned men of all creeds and races. The encyclical has been translated in every language, and the official English translation was prepared under the direction of the late Cardinal Manning, of England. The old Sun published the encyclical in full:

Some Familiar Names

The old Sun's account of the graduating exercises of St. Patrick's Boys' school, quarter of a century ago, gives us a number of familiar names of boys who have subsequently made good, including the present mayor of Lowell and his twin brother, and some well known professional men, not forgetting "Buster" Brown who even today is "some" recitationist.

The old Sun's account in part reads as follows:

"The closing exercises of St. Patrick's parochial school were held in Huntington hall, and were largely attended by friends of the children and members of the parish. The program was in charge of the Xaverian brothers, the teachers of the school, and proved quite interesting, being generally conceded to be an improvement on that of last year. The clergymen present were Rev. Michael O'Brien, Rev. Arthur J. Teeling, of Newburyport, Rev. Frs. Joyce and Molony, O.M.L., Rev. Frs. Burke, Shaw, and Gleason, Rev. Fr. Gilday and Rev. Fr. Foley of South Boston. The American orchestra assisted in the musical portion of the exercises.

"The choruses by a large number of boys were very good and the several soloists acquitted themselves very creditably. Arthur Marren and Harry Plunkett were liberally applauded in their selections and Mr. O'Dwyer, in his violin solo, while James J. Brown, William Carroll, John J. Costello, Francis Cronin and James O'Sullivan delivered recitations in a very pleasing manner. Master Cronin is a talented youth and showed the effect of good training to best advantage. The debate and dialogue were also good, the participants showing a very intelligent conception of their roles and delivering their parts with clearness and expression.

"Brother Magellan announced the names of the graduates and those who were awarded medals and who received honorable mention, as follows: "Graduates, James O'Sullivan, Thomas J. Johnson, Thomas A. Pendergast, John J. Costello. Roll of honor: John E. Shanley, Joseph Connelley, Francis J. Cronin, Joseph E. Longbrun, Dennis F. Murphy, Edward J. O'Donnell, James E. O'Donnell, George Hart, Francis Redhead.

"Silver medals for progress awarded to John R. Shea, Timothy Harrington, Daniel J. Murphy, Michael McGillicuddy, Thomas J. Fleming.

"Honorable mention for progress: William D. Regan, James Fleming, John J. Giblin, Edward Murphy, William Cuff, John Sullivan, William Walsh.

"The diplomas were presented by Fr. O'Brien and the address to the graduates was made by Fr. Teeling."

Notre Dame Commencement
The Notre Dame commencement exercises of quarter of a century ago were of a brilliant order and the occasion was graced by the presence of the late Archbishop Williams of Boston, who until his declining years

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, dishing dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. It was there, it was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably easily out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny savoury diets. Cut out everything but the meals you eat and eat with every one of those single Sargol tablets. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Give to light, solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to change weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

never missed the annual event at Notre Dame academy, in which he was deeply interested. The other guests included many prominent clergymen from other cities and the late Bishop Delany, who had just returned from abroad after his ordination. The old Sun in its report of the exercises had the following: "The graduates were Misses Mary Johnson, Margaret Kennedy, Elizabeth Creahin, Ellen Murphy, Nora Murphy, Annie Delany, Catherine Cummings, all of Lowell and Mary McSwaney, of Boston.

"The program which followed was of high literary and musical merit, reflecting much credit on the institution and showing too, the talents of the young ladies who participated. A duet on the horns by Miss Cummings and Miss Alexander was sweetly rendered and a selection from Ballini by a quartet consisting of the Misses Murphy, Miss Joyce and Miss Bradford was given with much feeling. The Misses Murphy appeared in a piano duet and afterwards in a vocal duet singing a selection from Rossini. In a very artistic manner, Misses Joyce, O'Hearn and Crawford sang the Venetian Boat song in a very pleasing manner and Miss McSwaney displayed her proficiency on the piano in a fantasia from Thalberg. The closing chorus, "Tu Solus Fons Amoris" was very effectively rendered, the rich contralto voice of Miss Guilmette of Boston being noticeable among the others. There were two essays, besides the valedictory, one entitled "A Religious Academy" by Miss Elizabeth Creahin and the other "The Blessing of the Bay" by Miss Mary Johnson. The valedictory was in the form of a poetic dialogue and was finely given by Miss Cummings and Miss Delany. The diplomas and honors were awarded by Archbishop Williams who made an eloquent address to the graduates.

"The graduates of St. Patrick's Girls' school of that year were Misses Mary Fitzgerald, Mary Campbell, Kate Murphy, Lizzie Dambriek, Jeanina Moor, Jennie Kearns, Mary Maguire, Ellen Connell.

As the Twix is Bent

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"Two Lowell boys won honors at Holy Cross college at the recent closing exercises. John J. O'Hearn won the gold medal for proficiency in Christian doctrine and J. Joseph Hennessy for proficiency in eloquence."

And each followed his bent. The former is now Rev. John J. O'Hearn, a well known clergyman of Boston, while Squire Hennessy's eloquence has mellowed like old wine, as he has matured.

Rode in "Horse Cars"

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"On Tuesday the pupils of the Agawam street school to the number of 50 enjoyed a ride in the horse cars around the city accompanied by their teachers. Misses Mary McLaughlin, Annie Lee, Mary A. Fox and Miss Crowley. The pupils of Miss Davis' school also enjoyed a horse car ride on Tuesday."

Undoubtedly the teachers of these schools would have furnished the children with limousines or with electric cars, but for the fact that there were no electric cars running in Lowell at those days, and hence the kiddos had to be content with the slow-going horse cars, and their ride couldn't compare with those given annually to the youngsters of the present, by John McManus, who takes them back and forth in electric cars. And it seems queer to think that while we all recall the old fashioned horse cars, and if one should go to the big city of New York he'd find some of them still in service in that metropolis. There are thousands of children in Lowell who have been born since the horse-car disappeared, and hence have never seen them, and probably never will see them.

THE OLD TIMER.

MOOSE ARE FOR WILSON

MANY WILL SUPPORT PRESIDENT, SAY RETURNING DELEGATES—ARE "SORRY" AT G. O. P.

BOSTON, June 13.—The advance guard of the progressive delegates to their national convention at Chicago returned to Boston at 8:35 last night, hoarse of voice from much cheering and speaking, indifferent in spirit, and with statements for waiting reporters, that their attitude would be one of watchful waiting.

All agreed that unless they have a party nominee their votes will be divided between President Wilson and Hughes. They said there is still hope Colonel Roosevelt will accept the nomination tendered him. But little will be issued in statement form until the national committee meets on June 25 to either select a nominee in case Colonel Roosevelt does not run or throw up the party sponge.

All were sorry because the republicans did not nominate Colonel Roosevelt. Nelson B. Clark of Beverly was the first delegate-at-large to arrive. He said:

"There appears to be a wide difference of opinion among progressives concerning the support of Hughes. This appears to be particularly the case among the New York and Massachusetts delegates. What the outcome will be no one can, of course, tell at this time. Such progressives as I have talked with prefer to wait until after the meeting of the national committee on June 25, when the committee will fill the vacancy should Mr. Roosevelt decline to run, which is probable.

"It cannot be denied that President Wilson will be a strong candidate among the progressives, especially in the western part of the state. Much will depend upon the success of the Hughes organization in winning over the progressive party men. Massachusetts is a doubtful state at best, and coupled with the Brandeis appointment, which was extremely popular among progressives, it would appear that the outcome in this state is liable to be in doubt even up to the election itself."

BACK FROM CONVENTION

WEEKS' SUPPORTERS VERY BITTER
AGAINST LODGE AND CRANE—
MAY HURT CHANCE OF G.O.P.

BOSTON, June 13.—The Massachusetts delegation to the recent republican national convention arrived home in Boston yesterday afternoon at 4.40. The party was not complete. Some who started with it stayed longer in Chicago and others left the train at different points in western Massachusetts.

Senator W. Murray Crane got off at North Adams; as he stepped to the platform the rest of the company gave three cheers for him and also three for Hughes and Fairbanks, whereupon Mr. Crane made a very brief speech, thanking the delegates for their kindness to him and expressing the belief that the convention had nominated the very strongest candidate in the whole list.

The other delegates at-large to the convention did not come back on the train. Gov. McCall remained in Chicago to visit one of his sons, Senator Lodge went from Chicago to Princeton, N. J., where it is said, he will receive an honorary degree at commencement, and Senator Weeks returned to Washington. Congressmen Winslow and the other Worcester men left the train at Fitchburg, and there were desertions also at Greenfield and Gardner.

The trip was highly successful as far as the comfort and pleasure of those who took it was concerned. Benjamin F. Felt and Jesse B. Baxler, respectively executive secretary and treasurer of the republican state committee, but charged and not a slip-up of any kind took place.

The Boston & Maine railroad was represented on the train by C. F. Gourley of the passenger department; he and his associates did their work so well all along the route from Boston to Chicago and return that the train was constantly ahead of its schedule, and even then did not hurry. The time from Boston to Chicago was 24½ hours, and east bound was only a little longer.

In some of its other phases, however, the trip was not satisfactory to either those republicans who went to Chicago or those who remained in Massachusetts. The controversies roused by the candidacy of Senator John W. Weeks for the presidential nomination are likely to exist a long time and perhaps may become a stumbling block to the party in this state.

The Weeks supporters were, and still are, very bitter against Senator Lodge and ex-Senator Crane because they deserted Mr. Weeks after the first ballot in the convention last Friday and turned—the one to Col. Roosevelt and the other to Mr. Hughes. Senator Weeks himself apparently has not taken his defeat as much to heart as some of his friends—at any rate he has outwardly accepted it with good grace; but they have very sharp things to say about Mr. Lodge, Mr. Crane, and also Gov. McCall, and threats, partly veiled, but still unmistakable, have been made.

THEIR 15TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. George Sarquhar, of 36 Crowley street yesterday celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage. Owing to the ill health of Mrs. Sarquhar the affair was quietly observed. Among them were a beautiful cut glass basket filled with roses and an original poem presented by Miss Emma Cogswell. SHOULD SLOAN'S LINIMENT GO A-ROUND?

Of course it should! For after a strenuous day when your muscles have been exercised to the limit an application of Sloan's Liniment will take the soreness and stiffness away and get you in fine shape for the morrow. You should also use it for a sudden attack of toothache, stiff neck, backache, aching limbs and the many accidents that are incidental to a vacation. "We would as soon leave our baggage as go on a vacation or camp out without Sloan's Liniment." Writes one vacationist: "We use it for everything from cramps to toothache." Put a bottle in your bag, be prepared and have no regrets.

WEST VIRGINIA CASE

SUPREME COURT REJECTS PLEA FOR $12,000,000 SALE—JUDGMENT ASKED BY VIRGINIA

WASHINGTON, June 13.—After announcing a number of decisions yesterday the supreme court adjourned until Oct. 2 next.

The petition of the commonwealth of Virginia for an immediate order to the court's marshals to sell property of the state of West Virginia to satisfy the $12,000,000 judgment against the latter in the Virginia-West Virginia state debt case was denied on the ground that the West Virginia legislature had not met in regular session since the judgment.

Seneca Indians Lose Case
Seneca Indians were denied the right to fish and hunt without regard to state laws, on the 4,000,000-acre estate in western New York which their tribesmen ceded to the government in 1785 on condition that they and their heirs always should be allowed fishing and hunting privileges. The opinion, prepared by Justice Hughes, was read by Chief Justice White.

The right of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, to restate members in 1910, with a resulting increase in dues for "fourth-class" members, was sustained.

Brandeis Assigned to Circuit
The court restored to the docket for another oral argument, at a time not set, cases involving the constitutionality of the Oregon minimum wage law and 10-hour day for men. Justice

Brandeis was assigned to the second or New York circuit, succeeding Justice Hughes.

Reorganization of seats was the only evidence of the resignation of Justice Hughes shown today. Justice Vananter succeeds Mr. Hughes as the fourth associate in point of service.

Justice Brandeis took the seat on the extreme right of the chief justice, establishing the record of being the only justice to sit only one day in the new member's seat on the extreme left.

LORD KITCHENER RAY MOLLOY MISSING

ROY OF SIXTEEN DISAPPEARED ON JUNE 5 AND IS SOUGHT BY PARENTS

Ray Molloy, aged 16 years, is missing from his home, 277 Thorndike street, having disappeared on June 5. The matter has been reported to the police. Molloy is five feet, five inches in height, slim, and has dark eyes and hair. The third finger of his left hand has been amputated at the second joint, and at the time of his disappearance he wore a gray suit and a checked cap.

LORD KITCHENER

Royal Party Attends Memorial Services at St. Paul's Cathedral

LONDON, June 13.—Great crowds lined the streets today in the vicinity of St. Paul's cathedral and stood for hours in the rain awaiting the arrival of King George, Queen Mary and Dowager Queen Alexandra for the memorial services for Field Marshal Earl Kitchener.

The doors of the cathedral opened shortly after 10 o'clock and the vast building was rapidly filled with people who were fortunate enough to have tickets. Thousands of applicants for admission had been refused.

It was announced that the service would be practically devoted of any military ceremonial. No troops lined the streets through which the royal party was to pass and there was no guard of honor.

A feature of the service was the part taken by the band of the Royal Engineers and the drummers of the Irish Guard, of which corps Lord Kitchener was honorary colonel.

The "Dead March" was played by the band and the drummers, and after the benediction the guardsmen were to sound the "Last Post."

In addition to the services in St. Paul's the memory of the dead soldier was honored by a ceremony in Westminster Abbey, while a third service was held in Canterbury cathedral.

THE NEW HOME TREATMENT FOR UGLY, HAIRY GROWTHS

(Boudoir Secrets)

Here is a simple yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real delatone.

BARNUM & BAILEY SHOWS

WILL BE AT FAIR GROUNDS ON JUNE 23—FOUR DAYS AFTER WILD WEST SHOW

Seldom if ever before have two big circuses appeared in Lowell so close together as do the Buffalo Bill and the Barnum & Bailey circuses, here respectively on June 19 and June 23.

Did you ever stop to consider the brains and ingenuity behind the organization of a great street parade, such as will be seen on the streets of this city on Friday, June 23, when the Barnum & Bailey shows exhibit here?

This long, glittering pageant—the greatest in the history of the world—will be no exception to the parades of other years, and it represents not only an investment of $1,000,000, but a long period of careful thought and labor on the part of many artists and designers, both in this country and abroad.

With the advantages of many years spent in touring the most civilized countries of the world, where this circus is as well known as in America, Barnum & Bailey's many agents have been constantly gathering the materials to be used in this year's street procession. The four corners of the world have been ransacked and the artists and designers have worked out the designs and ideas. For two years mechanics and property builders have worked in the foreign workshops at Stoke-on-Trent executing these ideas and neither toil nor expense has been spared to make the 1916 parade the greatest ever presented by Barnum & Bailey or any other circus.

All strange types of the human family are found in the procession, together with their characteristic costumes, weapons of war, vehicles, idols and strange musical instruments. Rich and fantastic wagons of state, gorgeous tableaux floats, palanquins, richly draped howdahs, rolling thrones, chariots of fire and fairy vans have been made of the most expensive woods, carved by hand labor and burnished with pure gold. The harnesses are silver mounted. The laces are from Ireland, the silks and satins from China and Japan, and the furs and tapestries are from Persia and Turkey.

The parade is three miles in length and has been likened to a "stretched out rainbow." It is a congress of nations, a horse fair, a musical convention, a zoological garden on wheels, a fairyland curio and an academy of science, all rolled into one panorama. Virtually all of the cages in the Barnum & Bailey menagerie are displayed in the procession, thus affording spectators a free view of the greatest traveling zoo in the world.

The circus entertainment is the finest ever presented by Barnum & Bailey. More than 450 artists, most of them foreigners, present a long series of thrilling and novel acts in the three rings, two stages and in the maze of aerial rigging. The riding and acrobatic numbers are unusually fine, and a continuous round of amusement is afforded by fifty of the funniest clowns in the world.

LOWELL BOY WOUNDED

SAMUEL KIRKLAND FIGHTING WITH CANADIAN REGIMENT IN FRANCE

Samuel Kirkland, a Lowell boy, has written a letter to a local friend, Charles McQuarrie of 90 Jewett street, stating that he was injured by a flying piece of shrapnel in the trenches of France. Kirkland is fighting under the British colors and hopes to return to the fighting line very soon.

Private Kirkland left Lowell seven months ago, going to Canada, where he enlisted as a private in the Royal Highlanders. Later he sailed for England and after some drilling there, he was sent to the trenches of France, where he has been located for the past four months.

In his letter to Mr. McQuarrie the young soldier says it makes the boys feel good to receive news from home, for he says that is about the only entertainment available on the battle field. He says the allied troops are hoping to meet the Boches in the open for they feel they could clean them out in short order. Private Kirkland speaks of the kilts worn by the Royal Highlanders and says the members of the Highlanders are referred to by the Germans as the "Mad Women from Hill."

He winds up his letter with a few personal items and states he is longing to return to Lowell. His address is as follows: Private Samuel Kirkland, 467,012, No. 3 Platoon, No. 1 Company, 13th Battalion, Royal Highlanders, Canadian, B. E. F. France.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"A Perilous Love," that's the title of chapter three of "Gloria's Romance," in which Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the B. F. Keith theatre, twice today and tomorrow. And, after seeing this chapter thrown on the screen, one quite agrees with the authors in giving that name to it.

Miss Burke, as will be recalled, in the character of "Gloria" is rescued from the Seminoles Indians by Dr. Royce, although one Freneau takes the credit for it. "Gloria" simply doesn't know the true story and, prompted by gratitude, reciprocates by giving Freneau her love. Freneau agrees with everybody, makes love to every pretty woman he meets, and, after "Gloria" has been away from him five years he meets her by without noticing her. It has been a pact between "Gloria" and her father that she shall not see Freneau for five years, at the end of which time, if they still care for each other, a marriage may take place. "Gloria" still loves the adventurer, but Freneau has been too busy playing the part of Don Juan to care much for the pretty young woman. Royce, on the other hand, sees "Gloria" and loves her as much as ever. But still "Gloria" sticks to Freneau, and, just as the chapter ends in a decidedly perilous position. Surely the plot of this engrossing story is becoming more complex, and the gradual unwinding of it later on will prove intensely interesting.

"Honor's Altar," with pretty Bessie Barriscale, Lewis S. Stone and Walter Edwards in the leading roles in a five-act Triangle-Fine Arts drama, with a remarkable story. The eternal triangle in love affairs is exposed, but with a slightly different turn to events than is usually found. A man, risen from the ranks, becomes very wealthy. The partner of his leaner years fails to satisfy him. He wants a woman of social position, and is thrown into the presence of women who flatter him. The wealthy man knows no fault with his wife, and, therefore, cannot divorce her. She is too unsuspecting to care to investigate his life. By chance the magnate comes across a polished fellow who declares that he has a shred of conscience left. The wealthy one proposes to give him $50,000 if he

Local Association is the Most Active in the State

The Lowell Fish and Game association has established a reputation for quick and large increases in membership that extends far beyond the confines of Massachusetts. The Lowell Fish and Game association is listed as one of the liveliest, most progressive and prosperous organizations of its kind in New England.

The association has been congratulated by members of the state fish and game commission for its earnestness, activity and general executive ability. The state commissioners admit that but for the local association the great strides towards the restocking of the Merrimack river with salmon would not have been made and now the state men believe that four years hence there will be thousands of large salmon coming up the river. This belief is expressed in the following letter from Commissioner Graham to the secretary of the local association:

Boston, June 7, 1916.
Mr. Willis S. Holt, Secretary, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Willis: I want to congratulate you and the Lowell Fish and Game association on the result of your membership contest. You have done splendid work and every sportsman in Lowell will be benefited in the end by your large membership.

I wish you could get a crowd and go down to see the salmon station at Andover before long. I wanted to be there when you visited the place but I am afraid I cannot be. Mr. Larkin will be there to show you what we are doing if you will notify him when you are in town.

The salmon are growing fine and are drawing a good many visitors. We shall try another year to rear 1,000,000 salmon at this station and I firmly believe that four years from now there will be thousands of large salmon coming up the river.

I am glad that you have been so successful in increasing the membership in your association. With kind regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

will break up his home, and the conscienceless one agrees. Let it be understood that the man without any honor left is not the type of the common scoundrel. He is polished, good looking, well dressed and smoothly functioning. He will be much into his company, and become attached to him. But she trusts him absolutely. And this trust of the wife makes it doubly hard for the man who says he hasn't any conscience to proceed with his diabolical scheme. Finally the trap is laid, the wife is absolutely at the mercy of the man who has been doing something extra in that man, something which savors of conscience. He cannot carry his game any farther, and leaves the wife without doing as the husband had wanted him to do. Lewis S. Stone plays the part of the social outcast in a convincing manner, and his character is as funny as they are impressive. Miss Barriscale, as ever, is wholly charming.

"His Adieu Ruination," with Mark Swain as the man who wanted a car but couldn't afford the price, is a Triangle-Keystone scream. It is in two parts and shows a series of mix-ups in the plot. The story is as funny as it is probable. This story is keyed up to the very limit for speed and laughter greets every antic of the producing company. In addition to this there are two shorter films—both good—"The Perfidy of Mary" and "Some Chickadees," both comedies.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

An extraordinarily constructed and exceptionally human drama is "The Evil Thoroughfare" which was shown yesterday afternoon and evening at the popular Merrimack Square theatre with the noted Frank Losee in the leading role. It is the story of three one hundred dollar bills earned by sweat, toil and suffering which were eventually garnered by one of the idle rich. How they were spent in self gratification and brought only misery forms the basis of this powerful screen story which will also be shown today and tomorrow at the Merrimack Square theatre. "A Son of the Immortals" is another play which those who attend the Merrimack Square theatre today and tomorrow will have a chance to enjoy. J. Warren Kerrigan appears in the leading role, that of a determined young prince to whom the hand of the lady he loves means more than all the homage of his subjects. The latest Sis Hopkins comedy, "Pathe News and other pictures" will also be shown at the theatre today and tomorrow at the continuous performances.

OWL THEATRE

"The Scarlet Woman," a wonderful Metro feature film in five acts, will again be the attraction at the Owl theatre today. Appearing in the stellar role is the queen of all famous emotional stars, Mme. Petrova. Other excellent attractions will also be presented at the Owl this afternoon and evening.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

DETROIT, Mich., June 13.—The American Medical association formally opened its sixty-seventh annual convention here today with thousands of physicians and surgeons from all parts of the world in attendance. Dr. Albert Van Der Vee of Albany, N. Y., president of the association called the meeting to order.

The Board of Trade

The members of the Lowell board of trade will assemble at 7 p. m., sharp, on Market street, in the rear of the formation of the Lowell Electric Light delegation. Business dresses will be worn and flags will be furnished the members.

The G.A.R. veterans will review the parade from the front of the Green school opposite the Memorial building where seats will be provided for their comfort.

Fire Alarm

Women Drill at Armory

Never before in the history of the state armory in Westford, street was such a scene presented as last evening when between two and three hundred women took a preparatory drill for the Preparedness parade. The affair was scheduled for 7.30 o'clock but did not materialize until 8 o'clock. The women represented on the industrial section of the parade and they were drilled by Maj. Kittredge and Capt. Jeyes assisted by other officers. It looked like a hopeless case when the women first lined up on the drill shed floor and it was said by certain ones present that the first attempt was almost as ludicrous as the first attempt of the Business Men's battalion. The women "straw footed" and "hay footed" around for a while and it looked for a time as if no compromise could be arrived at so far as keeping step was concerned, with, presto, change—the roll of a drum was heard. The little bit of music gave magic touch to the two or three hundred pairs of feet and in less time than it takes to tell it the women and girls were marching about the hall or drill shed, not in a way to provoke laughter, but admiration. "Guide right" captains were chosen, and drilled in giving the order "eyes right" in passing the reviewing stand. It must be distinctly understood by the women that they are not to salute in any way when passing the reviewing stand. They must simply look to the right and let it go at that. The women took very kindly to the drilling and seemed to enjoy it.

Of course it was new to them, but a few times around the hall with an officer in khaki marching with each captain at front of her line, brought them into pretty good form.

The Daughters of the American Revolution were at the armory early in the evening, looking after the matter of their regalia, and later they went to the high school for drill.

Notice to Boy Scouts

When plans for the big parade were first suggested by Mayor O'Donnell the Boy Scouts of Lowell and vicinity offered their services in any capacity. His Honor might wish to use them. He has requested them to be in line with the rest of the organizations and they will be there. The local officials request every Boy Scout who can do so to meet on Shattuck street outside their headquarters promptly at 7 o'clock to form for parade, when they will march to the place allotted them to join the other organizations. Eight scouts have been appointed to carry the banners at the heads of divisions. Each troop will carry the American and troop flag.

PREPAREDNESS SPECIAL

To Every Out-of-Town Customer Ordering a Suit or Overcoat Wednesday, Tomorrow, Car Fare Will Be Paid Both Ways

Consciously or unconsciously, America today is judging and estimating the growth, prosperity and capabilities of the various cities by the showing the cities make in their respective preparedness parades.

LOWELL WILL BE SIMILARLY JUDGED. The parade being held Wednesday evening, June 14, in a city of 110,000 population, without the discouraging 6 to 10 hour formation waits of big cities, calls for a line of 15,000 to 18,000 persons.

MR. LOWELL MAN, will you be in that parade? Some organization has grip enough on you to demand that you do your share to uphold the reputation of the order. You may not think so now, but at this last minute you will be hustling around for a dark suit to wear in the parade.

PREPAREDNESS means to be ready for any occasion that may arise; that also applies to clothing. Blue Serge Suits will largely be worn by what ought to be the most cosmopolitan citizen soldiery that ever mustered under a waving flag.

A BLUE SERGE IS SUITABLE FOR ANY OCCASION from a soldier to the pulpit.

I still have six pieces of Arlington Blue Serge Worsteds. This caused a sensation three weeks ago when I announced that I had Arlington worsteds, made in Lawrence, Mass., by the Arlington mill. To the layman the importance of this fact is not apparent. To the men connected with the woolen trade it means as fine a quality of merchandise as any tailor puts out at almost double the price. My price, suit to order $12.50.

I Will Need a Little More Time Today Than in Former Years

Tailors work only 8 hours a day now and the union won't let them work overtime. Every suit tried on before finishing, made as practically all clothing is now made in America, by union help, under union rules, by a big organization under special efficiency experts.

P. S.—Out-of-town friends bring our population up to 150,000 for that day. My contribution is your car fare paid both ways on any purchase.

THE COMING FIGHT

The noise and bustle and buncome of the Chicago conventions has died down, the result of the St. Louis convention is already assured and the country now looks forward to the coming campaign between President Wilson and Justice Hughes. Thus far there has been no great issue, the line of demarcation in party politics is not well defined and two strong, able and sincere men will contest the greatest office in the hands of the American people to bestow. What shall be the result?

A look backward at the results of 1912 may prove illuminating. The popular vote allotted to President Wilson was 6,292,715, to William Howard Taft 3,563,221, and Theodore Roosevelt 4,057,423. President Wilson's plurality was 2,225,253.

It is pretty safe to assume that President Wilson will receive the vote of practically all who voted for him in 1912. Opposition to him exists in certain quarters, much of it of a discreditable character, but it has not cropped out within his party to any extent. The inevitable murmurs have been heard from time to time but whenever it has come to a showdown in congress or out, he has come out on top. Some of the vocal racial opposition which has been manifested in other sections and in the propagandist press will not affect his vote as few of those who have opposed him of late voted for him in 1912. The great mass of German-Americans and their sympathizers in this country are already republican voters and they would not have voted for President Wilson even under normal conditions. Consequently their threats and their enthusiastic championing of the untried Justice Hughes will have little effect on the final vote.

It is highly probable, on the other hand, that much of the opposition to President Wilson will serve as a boom-crang and will react in his favor. Among the more conservative Americans who regret the intrusion of old world politics in our domestic affairs, the attempted intimidation by organized groups of voters may reawaken a desire for "America First" that will sweep President Wilson into office by a large majority. The singularly mild note in papers that have hitherto been most rabid in their denunciation of President Wilson would indicate that they see this danger ahead.

Again as in 1912 the so-called "progressive" vote may be the determining factor—though in a different sense. The refusal of Theodore Roosevelt to lead his followers to Armageddon has made many of them bitter and they now see that they were being used to advance the personal ambitions of one who did not find the republican convention in "heroic mood." Those who take their party designation seriously will find more genuine progress under the democratic banner than under that of the old guard, but even the practical politicians cannot look with enthusiasm upon the party that kept Teddy out in the rain at Chicago. Should the vote be in proportion to that of 1912, President Wilson must without doubt attract a great part of the doubtful element that will not be pinned down in their choice of political affiliation.

President Wilson's full strength will materialize when there is open discussion of the foreign policies of the country and when the people ask the republicans for something more definite than condemnation of the democrats. Justice Hughes, in a vague and safe way is against the foreign policies of the present administration. What policies would he substitute? Just now he is being vehemently supported by the more extreme of those who want the country to prepare against aggression and also by those who have become known as the hyphens. He cannot consistently hold the support of both, and as the campaign days draw on the better part of the political strategy shall be at the command of a president who despite all opposition has kept his vision straight and true for a future of American peace, preparedness and prosperity.

AMERICA FIRST!

The roster of the preparedness parade tomorrow night makes inspiring reading, including as it does almost every public and private activity of this great complicated city. With the keynote of sincerity and simplicity running through, the local demonstration will be the strongest exemplification of "America First" ever seen in Lowell. There side by side may be seen representatives of almost all the races that make up our cosmopolitan population, our civic departments, our business interests, private military bodies that are usually seen in parades of more or less empty show, clubs, fraternities, bodies of women and even children. All Lowell will march under one flag and one only, and though many who participate may not be able to define preparedness, the thought in the hearts of all shall be "America, first, last and all the time!"

As Congressman Rogers said in his stirring address at the high school on Monday, a parade of this kind will be especially beneficial to Lowell because of the many racial strains from which we have drawn. Groups from all of the belligerent nations are here, many having but recently come. Daily they work side by side or pass and repass on the streets. Even though their brothers at home make and kill each other with all the madness of fanatics, here they live in peace and harmony. In each man's heart may burn enthusiasm and sympathy for one side or the other in the old world, but when the Stars and Stripes goes by everything is forgotten but the appeal of "America First."

And, in the last analysis, is it not because of this appeal that the nation now urges preparedness? We had come upon prosperous days that threatened our feelings of nationality. Wealth and pride were here and the thoughtless irreverence of the young nation, like that of a headless boy in a world of scheming men. Then came the calamity of war all over the world and the hearts of Americans were stirred as they have not been stirred for a generation. All eyes turn to our glorious flag and the voices of Americans are raised in unison to demand that the government and the people leave nothing undone to protect and to perpetuate the land of Washington and Lincoln.

CAMP HOODLUMS

The two Billerica constables who arrested a large number of campers at a camp on the Concord early Sunday morning should keep up the good work and all other constables in camp sections should follow suit, otherwise there is much trouble in store for Lowell and many of its people for the coming months. Scarce a week went by last summer but lawless campers were haled before the local court and in some places organized bands of loafers made life miserable for storekeepers and others.

One may readily see how camp life leads to license when the campers are of an undesirable type. They get away from the restraint of the city where the sight of the police is a constant warning, to where they think they are safe from interruption. Often, certain refreshments are carried along to sustain their animal spirits and then from sheer love of mischief or natural perversity they begin to act like wild men let loose. Many decent people go to summer camps, but of late years the increasing number of undesirable has interfered with the peace of those who really wish to enjoy a clean, healthy vacation. Unless some improvement is noted the police force at summer camping grounds will have to be increased in the interest of law and morality.

WATCHING US

Let it not be forgotten for a moment that all the nations to the south of us are watching our settlement of the Mexican question, and that on it shall depend in a large measure our future relations with all Latin America. With our ideals and protestations they are thoroughly familiar but they now wait to see if we will put our theories in practice. It is easy for politicians who wish to stir up opposition to President Wilson to find flaws in his watchful waiting policy, but what would they have instead? The alternative is either armed intervention or a costly and unsatisfactory protectorate which would impose thankless obligations on us for generations. If we should intervene in Mexico, where should it end? We have declared that we do not want any territory south of the Rio Grande. And, by the way, if we should intervene in Mexico, would it not be a splendid time for some other power to put our preparedness to the test? President Wilson has played safe, and a better policy does not as yet shape itself out of chaos.

WEEKS GREW STRONGER

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts was a larger figure at Chicago than some of the republican papers of the state are willing to concede, and his honorable consistent action won him many new friends from all parts of the country. He has the satisfaction that he was second to Justice Hughes in the voting, even though the defection in the state ranks embarrassed him for a time. The Washington correspondent of The Sun who was present at the convention speaks in the highest terms of the attitude of Senator Weeks and of the enthusiasm he aroused, and the picture painted of him contrasts strongly with that of Senator Lodge who tried to be with everybody at one and the same time and in consequence lost the confidence of his associates and started trouble that may crop out with serious results to his party at the next state campaign. Lodge came out of the convention a smaller man than he went in while Weeks came out with a considerably larger reputation.

CITY BUYING

A New Bedford paper comes out strongly in opposition to the plan of electing a purchasing agent for that city. At present there is no such office, and the purchasing of supplies for the various city departments is carried out by a system of department co-operation which provides for competitive bids. The paper says that the present system has worked satisfactorily since its inception and that "criticism of contracts or the purchase of supplies have been few and far between." If this is so, the creation of a new office might be unwise since it is the spirit that counts and if the end is achieved without the formation of a new and costly department, well and good! In all probability there would be far more criticism with a purchasing agent than there is now, for such is the experience of many cities that have the specific department as a separate function.

PLIGHT OF PROGRESSIVES

Now alas the progressives know that the strenuous individual who again stepped out of politics temporarily merely used them to get something that he was after in dead earnest. Having failed to get the real thing—the republican nomination—he had no use for what his own party handed to him on a silver platter. It is not a time for polished language and the unvarnished fact is that the erstwhile progressives are sore at the raw deal that Theodore Roosevelt handed out. They may now see their folly in its true light and discover that they really belong in the democratic party which from first to last has kept its promises and has been greater than any man in it.

SEEN AND HEARD

Fresh people generally start that way when they're young.

Some of our acquaintances make the church influence pay pretty well.

Tom Hoban said, speaking of preparedness, that we could use a few more big guns in congress.

Do not attempt any salute while passing the reviewing stand. Just keep your face turned towards the reviewers.

On the Vermont Central

It was a quarter past eight, and the commuters were waiting for the train, when the station agent appeared and informed them that the eight-sixteen was an hour late.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the oldest commuter of them all. "What are we going to do?"

"You might take the seven-four."

suggested the agent. "It ought to be along in about 10 minutes now."

Honest Granger

A farmer who was blessed with a son with an engaging frankness of speech sent him to the local miller's one day.

The lad got hold of the miller and submitted for his inspection a handful of wheat.

"How much more has your father got of this?"

"He ain't got no more like it," the boy answered. "He's been all moralin' pickin' that out."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Too Expensive

Johnny was naughty in school the other day, and his teacher, in talking seriously to him, said:

"I certainly shall have to ask your father to come and see me."

"Don't you do it," said Johnny. Teacher thought she had made an impression, so she repeated: "I must send for your father."

"You'd better not," again said Johnny.

"Why not?" inquired the teacher.

"Cause he's a doctor and charges $5 a visit."—Exchange.

Naming the Baby

Give your baby a name that will suit him or her throughout life. Let it be a euphonious, well balanced name, indicative of intelligence, character and success and one so easily written or spoken that no nicknames will ever be found necessary. If there is available a family name with these good qualities, all the better. Do not indulge in levity, do not give way to sentiment, do not surrender to affectation or romance in this matter of selecting a suitable name, and avoid novel combinations and plays upon words without loading the child down with cheap commonplace.—Dallas News.

Why You Sneeze

There is more than one cause for sneezing, and persons may differ in their susceptibility to them. A bright light will cause some persons to sneeze, the pollen of certain plants will affect others, and most people are likely to sneeze in the presence of dust. Such sneezing is due to superficial irritation.

The sneeze caused by the effect of cold is different. It is an attempt of nature to cure you. She makes you sneezes for the same reason that she makes you shiver—to generate heat for warming the blood and preventing you from taking more cold—to help relieve the cold you have.

The sneezing from cold is not an act of the nose alone, this being merely the part of the body where it explodes. It is an act of the entire body, during which every muscle gives a jump. The body is affected by a spasmodic effort to warm the entire system and throw off the cold.—Manchester Mirror.

Wedding Presents

Oh, June's the month of roses and the month of weddings, too. Then persons tie the nuptial knot when those have won who woo. The happy couples send out cards to every one they know.

Each hoping that the wedding gifts will make a dazzling show.

The postman comes. You get a double envelope. You sigh. You know it means another gift that you have got to buy.

You like the lovers, and for them all happiness you wish.

But you could wish it quite as well without a pickle-dish.

You rack your brains, you lie awake and lose much-needed sleep.

In trying to fix upon some gift both elegant and cheap.

You vainly search through all the stores that every one frequents.

To find some fourteen-dollar thing that costs but fifty cents.

Oh, wedding presents are a bore to those that have to buy.

The envelopes of wedding cards are opened with a sigh.

But to the happy couple what new happiness they bring!

So juggle up! Perhaps some day your wedding bells will ring.

—Somerville Journal.

Resourceful Burglar

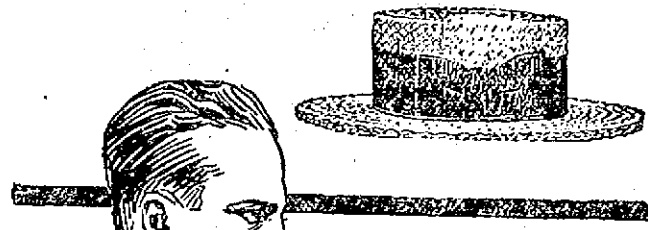

A constable going the rounds of his beat in London a few nights ago noticed a light in a house from which the family and servants had gone out of town. After the officer had pulled the bell several times a man put his head out of the bedroom window to say that he would be down in a few minutes.

He came down in a dressing gown and carrying a candle in his hand.

The constable explained his suspicion, whereupon the man stated that he had just run up to town to see that all was right. After chatting for a little he invited the constable to have a glass of wine.

He lit the dining room gas and produced a bottle of port. After they had drunk each other's health he let

A Fine Talker

"I like the looks of this parrot," said the lady who had stepped into the bird store. "Is he a good talker?"

The proprietor replied that the bird was an excellent talker, and it was evident the customer was favorably impressed.

"What is your price for him?" she asked.

The man had noticed the rich apparel worn by his customer, and he judged that there was a chance to make a little "easy money" at the expense of one who would never miss it.

"Ten dollars," he said, with just the slightest possible hesitation.

"Five dollars, madam," instantly croaked the parrot.

The lady looked at the proprietor, who had turned red.

"He certainly is a fine talker," she said, "and he also seems to have good sense. I am willing to take him at his own valuation. Do I get him for that?"

"You do," answered the bird man sadly.

WHAT TO DO FOR NERVOUS INDIGESTION

When nerves go wrong they always seem to strike at your weakest spot. When this spot happens to be the stomach, nervous dyspepsia results, appetite vanishes and gives way to dull, drag, uneasiness and a hollow, gnawing feeling that keeps up until every nerve in your body seems on edge. The food you eat won't digest properly, and you're all in—down and out for one day at least so far as being really useful to yourself or anyone else is concerned.

It's the height of folly to force the digestion of food with some pepsin pill when the stomach nerves are in such a state. Nervous indigestion comes from the nerves alone. Get the nerves right and all distress will vanish.

Thanks to a remarkable chemical discovery, it is now possible to feed the nerve cells with the exact stimulus they require when overworked and unstrung and a preparation called Margo Nerve Tablets is producing remarkable results in the treatment of Nervous Dyspepsia and other nerve disorders.

They make a remarkable change in many instances in ten minutes by the watch, strengthening the stomach and charging the nerve cells with strength, courage, power, and real vital vim.

Margo Nerve Tablets cannot harm anyone. They contain no dope or dangerous habit-forming drugs. Forty tablets come in a large package, and are often enough to give lasting relief to even the most obstinate cases.

Lowell Pharmacy and other leading druggists everywhere are selling them with a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

MRS. JOHN J. ROGERS

WELL KNOWN WORCESTER WOMAN SELECTED FOR PART IN WORCESTER CELEBRATION

A Worcester paper has the following:

"Mrs. John J. Rogers, wife of John J. Rogers, formerly state president of the A.O.H., will read the Declaration of Independence from the steps of the city hall, as part of the Fourth of July celebration. She was selected by the committee having that duty on the safe and sane program for the city observance of the day. It will be the first time that a woman has been given the honor, and Mrs. Rogers' friends and admirers of her brilliant dramatic powers are immensely pleased with the choice.

Mrs. Rogers is a native of Massachusetts. She taught school before her marriage, and studied elocutionary art in the Emerson School of Oratory of Boston, and has prepared many pupils to give the declamation which will be her part of the exercises on the Fourth.

Many a prize-winning speaker has been coached by her. Mrs. Rogers has worked faithfully on the safe and sane committees for the last few years, and has taken part in many civic movements.

AUTO AMBULANCE NEARLY FALLS INTO RIVER—STUMP HALTS ITS PROGRESS—NURSE INJURED

BRAINTREE, June 13.—An ambulance of the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital of Boston left the road, way at the junction of Hancock and Washington streets this afternoon near Cart bridge and ran eight feet down the side of the bank of the Montiquito river. Had it not been for a stump of a tree against which the machine struck, the ambulance would have gone into the river, which is now about six feet deep.

The ambulance was an improvised affair, made out of a touring car, used in transporting patients from the contagious hospital at Brighton. It was in charge of Samuel H. Buckright of 39 Worcester square, Boston, and with the chauffeur was a nurse, Miss Mary Sylvester. The ambulance had been gone into Bridgewater, carrying a convalescent patient to that place.

Near the Cart bridge, a bee or "darning needle" flew into the ambulance, and Miss Sylvester, thinking she was about to be stung, screamed. Mr. Buckright turned to see what was the mat-

The impact of the machine against the stump smashed the windshield and Miss Sylvester got a shower of broken glass in the face. She was assisted from the ambulance, which remained upright, to the home of Ralph Newcomb, where she was attended by Dr. C. A. Sullivan. The latter found Miss Sylvester suffering from a number of painful but not serious glass wounds. Mr. Buckright had a slight cut on the right wrist.

The ambulance was not damaged seriously. It was dragged from its position by horses and taken to South Braintree for repairs. Miss Sylvester was taken to the hospital.

ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS WASHINGTON, June 13.—While some state department advisers today gave a more favorable aspect to conditions in northern Mexico, others reported further anti-American demonstrations, leaving the situation generally unchanged.

LATE WAR NEWS

ATHENS, June 12, via London, June 13.—King Constantine decided today to order the complete demobilization of the Greek army.

The demobilization of the Greek army follows the blockade of the ports of Greece by the allies and the placing of an embargo on Greek ships in British and French ports. The steps were taken as a result of the occupation of Greek fortresses in Macedonia by Bulgarians at the end of May. The allies were aroused by negotiations which were opened by Bulgaria and Germany by Premier Skoulovis and on June 5 the British government announced that steps would be taken to prevent Greece from providing the central powers with supplies. The blockade was the result and on June 10 King Constantine ordered the 12 senior classes of the army to be demobilized.

AUSTRIAN AIR RAID ON VENICE SUCCESSFUL, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, June 13 (By wireless to Sayville).—A squadron of American aeroplanes attacked Venice on Sunday night. Several other points in northern Italy were bombarded. An official Austrian report of June 12 says the raid was successful.

The announcement follows: "A squadron of naval aircraft on the night of June 11-12 bombarded extensively and with visible success the railroad tracks on the line between Mestre (five miles northwest of Venice) and San Dona di Piave and the railroad station at Mestre. They obtained several full hits on a locomotive shed. The arsenal at Venice also was bombed.

Notwithstanding a heavy fire directed at them, all the aeroplanes returned unharmed."

ALWAYS MORE FOR LESS

Nurse says that when people learn what to eat and how to eat it she will have but little to do. Over-indulgence in eating and how one eats can result in but one thing. Bad food containing starch are not good to eat, as they cannot be digested in the mouth and the system is exhausted trying to digest them. People who eat them have but little strength for anything else. Next to peanut butter, probably dried beans and peas are as nutritious as anything, but they are not suitable for weak stomachs.

Hearty puddings and pies containing eggs and milk should not be eaten at the close of a dinner, but should furnish the main part of the luncheon instead. Tea and coffee or other drink should not be taken with food, but before a meal. Before dinner coffee is better than after dinner coffee. When the stomach is weak it is a good idea to eat meat at one meal and starch food at the next to give it a little rest. Any kind of meat or protein food of any kind produces constipation, as there is more waste to protein food and a large amount clogs the bowels. If the skin of the face and nose is red and irritated it shows you eat too much meat. Fruits, green vegetables, some cereals, and uncooked fats are laxative, as olive oil, cream, butter.

Nurse tells me that a hot water bottle half filled with air and water is only doing half its work. It must contain but a little air. Air is a non-conductor of heat and cold and therefore we must get the air out of the bag.

Fill the bag with water, using judgment as to the amount, being sure not to have too much if the bag is to be used on a tender spot. Twist the top of the bag, pressing gently to allow the air to escape and quickly screw on the cap while holding the bag in this way. Vigorously shake the bag, holding it by the bottom to make sure none of the hot water will leak out.

Now we must test the bag to make sure it will not burn, as it is nothing less than a tragedy to blister a patient with a hot water bag. A blister made in this way is very hard to heal and almost always leaves a very ugly scar, and sometimes renders useless the muscles burned. Place the bag against your own cheek or the back of the hand to ascertain whether or not the bag is at the right temperature.

Nurse says hot water is immediately digested or rather absorbed, and so can be taken just before eating, but cool water cools the stomach, and requires half an hour to digest, so should not be drunk for half an hour before meals, and it should not be drunk for at least three hours afterward. Five hours is better, especially if the stomach is weak. For a weak stomach may require five hours to digest what a strong one would digest in three hours. Stout people should not only eat less, but drink less, then the surplus fat can be utilized in place of water. From three to four pints of liquid (six to eight cups) should be drunk a day to keep the kidneys active. Two cups of hot water, tea, coffee, herb tea or thin soup, can be taken just before eating or two cups of cold drink half an hour before meals, but an easier way, I think is to take a cup of hot liquid just before the meal and a cup of cool water half an hour before the next meal and one at bedtime. Hot water should be sipped a teaspoonful at a time.

Nurse advises one who has stepped on a rusty nail to at once pour upon the wound a little warm turpentine. Always keep it in the house, for turpentine is very good for a severe cut or bruise. It is also a very good remedy for croup. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and place it on the throat and chest. Spirits of turpentine gives immediate relief for burns. It prevents soreness of blisters. Useful for corns, rheumatism, sore throats and many other purposes.

Nurse says when used rightly salt is a medicine. Salt should be eaten with nuts to aid digestion. Nervous spasms are usually relieved by a little salt taken in the mouth and allowed to dissolve. Tickling in the throat is best relieved by gargling salt and water.

Hemorrhages from the lungs or stomach are promptly checked by small doses of salt. The patient should be kept as quiet as possible. Consumptive night-sweats may be arrested by sponging the body nightly with salt water.

Nurse says often people think that they need a vacation and that is why they feel tired and half-sick when really it is because they are eating the wrong kind of foods and their food hurts them more than it helps them. It is wicked that so much good is spoiled in cooking, giving people dyspepsia.

If you feel timid, blue, nervous and imagine all sorts of dreadful things, it is because your nerves have been poisoned by indigestion. When the blood gets impure from malnutrition, even the eyes become affected and there are lots of people who are wearing glasses for blurred vision who do not need them, but they do need to look after the food they are eating, then their eyes will become clear again. After the stomach digests a meal it has to repair itself and then rest, before attacking the next meal, so it should not be disturbed until half an hour before the next meal. If you are faint between meals and feel that you must take something, drink but do not eat anything, not even fruit until half an hour before the next meal.

If we all perspired more freely it would be much better for us, as it works the poison out of the system through the pores. Cleanliness is promoted by perspiring prior to bathing. Everyone knows the exhilaration which follows a healthy perspiration. Of course the most beneficial method of securing perspiration is the method applied to the trotting horse—vigorous exercise. In fact, one of the benefits of exercise is perspiration.

When a person cannot or will not take exercise, perspiration can be induced by hot baths. Such extreme measures ought not, however, to be taken too often. How often will depend on the corpulence and other circumstances of each individual.

Sweating may be overdone and should never be pushed to the extent of exhaustion. The function of the skin in removing wastes from the body is much less important than formerly supposed. The advice of a physician is desirable. It should be remembered that all of us perspire insensibly as well as visibly.

SPRINGFIELD IN LEAD

Flynn's Green Sox Strong on Attack—New London Tops in Fielding—Lowell in 7th Place

The Lowell baseball club dropped in both batting and fielding for the week ending June 8, according to the latest table of averages compiled. The local team lost 15 points in batting and now averages .225 per man. In fielding, Lowell held an average of .950 a week ago and the more recent list gives it .946.

With the exception of Lawrence and Lowell, all teams in the league showed marked improvement in team play. By unusually hard slugging Springfield worked its way into first place in batting and New London a close second. New London boasts the best fielding average and Lawrence is in second place, just two points behind.

Springfield is having a merry old time in swatting and leads the circuit in six different departments. The Green Sox have registered the greatest number of runs, leads in hits and total bases, have made the highest number of two-base swats and are showing the way in circuit clouts. The Worcester team is second in run-getting, New London is second in two-baggers and Lawrence is following the Home City leads in homers. Lynn with 67 pliers leads the league in stolen bases. Springfield passed Portland during the week and is now second with 67, which is one more than the Duffs sport. Worcester lost the lead in sacrifice bunts to New London. The latter has made 50 suicide raps, which is two more than Worcester. The Boosters with 14 lead in sacrifice flies.

NEBES ACCEPTS

Ready to Meet Blackburn for Purse—Skating Better Than Ever

Albert J. Nebes, Lowell's champion roller skater, requests The Sun to announce that he is ready to accept William Blackburn's challenge for a race for a purse of $200 any time that the Chicago boy puts up the two hundred bucks.

Blackburn's challenge appeared in yesterday's papers, and just as soon as Nebes read of the defy he rushed into the office and made the announcement that he would gladly accept the challenge to again beat Blackburn. Nebes and Blackburn appeared in a match race last week at the Crescent rink, and while the latter put up a great exhibition he had to be content with second place. Nebes gave a remarkable performance in the race, and his work on the final night, Saturday, was the most spectacular seen at the rink this season.

The Lowell boy who has been at the game for several years, is experiencing the most successful season of his career. He has met all comers, some of his opponents, being among the best in the country, and has yet to be defeated. He is in perfect condition and the fact that he never uses tobacco or intoxicants in any form is standing him in good stead. He is at all times ready to jump in and meet any opponent selected and can always be depended upon to put forth his best efforts.

That is the reason that Nebes is so popular in this and other cities. His supporters always know that he will do his best, and hence they never fail to back him in all his endeavors. He never fakes or hangs back and is the kind of a athlete that is entitled to all the support and encouragement that can be given him.

The Sun congratulates Nebes on his great record during the past season.

BUT FORMER LOWELL CATCHER WILL NOT GO TO ANY PENNANT CONTENDER, SAYS GRIFFITH

Clark Griffith figures he was stung when he sold Chick Gandil to the Indians. He doesn't purpose to be stung again, however. He has another star on the market in Catcher Eddie Ainsmith, who has for several seasons handled Walter Johnson's shoots. Ainsmith has gotten into Griffith's graces in much the same fashion as Gandil did, but Griffith, while determined to make the sale, doesn't propose to sell him anywhere that there is a possible chance of bolstering up any team that might prove a rival to Washington in the pennant fight.

Griffith thought he had made sure this wouldn't happen when he sold Gandil to Cleveland. He couldn't see the Indians as anything but a second division team even with Gandil. He refused a much greater offer from the highly touted Chicago White Sox than the $5000 the Indians gave for Chick. The Speaker deal wasn't in sight then and if he had it to do over again the Indians wouldn't get Gandil.

Griffith doesn't propose to be caught the same way twice. Therefore he is now engaged in strenuous little game of trying to get Ainsmith out of the American league.

He has a deal already arranged to sell Eddie to the Phillies if he can get waivers from the other American league clubs. But the New York Yankees are crazy to get Ainsmith. So each time Griffith asks for waivers the Yankees refuse, and Griffith withdraws his request for waivers only to renew it time and time again in hopes of wearing the Tanks out.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Leopards trimmed the Front Street Stars Saturday by the score of 14 to 5. The Leopards would like to play any 12-13-year-old team in the city. The Columbia Seconds preferred to send all challenges through this paper.

The Young Hampshire Street Stars would like to play any nine or 10-year-old team in the city. Their lineup is as follows: Bagley C. G. Wood P. Carey 1b. H. Wood 2b. Mahoney 3b. Connors ss. Morris if. Shea of. Mitchell rf.

The Agawams want to know if the Almont B.C. of Tewksbury is afraid to come to Lowell Saturday. If they are not afraid of going back whitewashed, answer through this paper.

The Royals of Pantucketville would like to play the Beaver B.C. Saturday afternoon for two quarter balls. Answer through this paper or phone 2928-V.

48 DOUBLE HEADERS

TO BE PLAYED OFF WHEN GOOD WEATHER ARRIVES AS A RESULT OF POSTPONEMENTS, ETC.

The season of double-headers is near at hand in the Eastern league and, beginning next week, they will probably crop up every little while, which means that the fans will have frequent opportunities to see double engagements for one admission. No less than 48 games, or almost one-third of those scheduled to date, have been either postponed, ordered replayed through granting of protests or the decisions. Five postponed games have been played already.

Hartford has more postponed games than any other club, due to its three tie games, and the protested one with New Haven. There are 12 to be played off, seven at home and five on the road. Springfield has 10 to make up for, but only three of the number are at home, while Portland has 10 to take care of, and seven of them are on their grounds. LOWELL BOY CHOSEN

TRUMAN H. SAFFORD, FORMER MEMBER OF HIGH SCHOOL TRACK TEAM, TO LEAD

WILLIAMSTOWN, June 13.—Truman H. Safford of Lowell has been elected captain of the Williams college track team for next year. He is a member of the junior class and has represented the purple in this branch of athletics for three years. Safford's favorite event is the mile run. Although he failed to score in the recent New England championships, he has won numerous points for Williams in the annual dual meets with Amherst and Wesleyan.

Besides being a member of the track team, Safford has also run on the cross-country team for several years. He prepared for Williams at Lowell high school, where he was prominent on the track team.

LEONARD DEFEATS DUNDEE

NEW YORK, June 12.—Benny Leonard of New York outpointed Johnny Dundee, also of this city, in a 10-round contest here last night. Leonard had an advantage of nine pounds, Dundee weighing 137. Despite the handicap, the latter gave a splendid exhibition.

Leonard is matched to meet Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, here, on Friday night. The bout is expected to be postponed, however, as Welsh is reported to be in no condition to face a dangerous opponent.

Leonard was cool throughout and met Dundee's rushes with a left jab to good effect and his footwork and counter blows were masterful. Dundee kept up his rushing tactics, even in the eighth when Leonard crossed hard rights three times to the face and jaw.

ABOUT JAKE BOULTES

HARTFORD WRITER PRAISES JAKE'S WORK WHEN WITH THE BRIDGEPORT TEAM

A Hartford paper says: Jake Boultès has been passed along by the management of the Bridgeport club. This is not welcome news to the fans, who have watched the great infield play of Boultès since he joined the Park City team three years ago. Memory of the brilliant feats he performed out of his knowledge of inside baseball is still fresh in the minds of every bleacherite. In 20 years Bridgeport has never seen a better man at third base than Boultès, and now the peppy, popular and baseball man of brains—Jake Boultès—has been let go.

The Bridgeport management has made a big mistake, one that will take a long time to rectify. There are but few of the fans who know the true state of affairs. Boultès signed a contract to play at his old position, third base. The club sent to St. Louis for him when the shortstop position was nothing but an empty piece of land. Red Stewart and Tony Pastor cost the team game after game in their efforts to hold down the shortstop job.

When Boultès arrived in Bridgeport he was sent to shortstop until the club could secure a man to take his place. He was then to return to his regular position at the dizzy corner. Al Odell signed a day or so later and placed at third base, the position that should have been given to Jake.

At shortstop, a position that he never had before played, Boultès showed flashes of his old form. He did not get started at stickwork due to his playing in a new position. In one of the games with Lynn he smashed a finger which naturally put him back in hitting.

Probably no more popular baseball player than Boultès ever donned a Bridgeport uniform. He had the fighting spirit that wins baseball games and with Jake the game was never over until the last man was out in the ninth inning.

Two years ago Boultès was named manager of the Bolts. He was notified of his position two weeks before the season opened. The other clubs in the league had their players ready for the season while Bridgeport had none but a few left overs. Jake started the season with a handful of men. In less than six weeks he had the team fighting for places in the first division and took no water from any of the better rated teams in the league.

This tells in a nutshell what Jake knows about the game. He has more baseball brains today than the rest of the Bridgeport club put together. It is said on good authority that one of the former officials of the club was more than responsible for Boultès' release this season. He was given a chance and the fans will not so soon forget the hatched up deal. There is no reason in the world why he should have been let go at this stage of the game.

If there were more Boultès on the personnel of the team, the Blue Sox would not be occupying the cellar position in the league and playing baseball like a grammar school team.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

The next home game comes Thursday with Lynn.

Red Torphy is back ready to go into his position at shortstop.

The Lowell players haven't done anything to earn their money since last Wednesday.

It will be like opening a new league at Spaulding park when the games are resumed.

The New Haven baseball owners have rented a special park for Saturdays, and hereafter games will be played in that city on the Sabbath.

Southpaw Billy Harrington, who was with Lynn a few seasons ago, has been purchased from the Denver club and will again be seen in a Lynn uniform. Reports have it that Harrington has improved since leaving the old New England league.

"Zeke" Lohman can now be called the "iron man" of the Eastern league. He has pitched 105 innings to date and leads the pitchers in strikeouts with 50 to his credit. He has won nine and lost three games for an average of .750. Powers of Springfield has walked more men than any other pitcher.

It is rumored that there may be changes made in the management of several Eastern league clubs soon. Manager Wagner is not doing much in Hartford and about all that Neal Ball is doing in Bridgeport is shifting his lineup. Paddy O'Connor, former big league backstop, is mentioned for the Hartford berth.

Manager Gene McCann of New London has released Shortstop Ralph O'Connell and his splendid infield has been broken up. O'Connell was a speedy youngster and covered a whole lot of ground but did not hit very well. With the other members of the team clouting the ball hard, McCann could have afforded to carry along O'Connell.

George Martin, the star Portland finger, lost his second game of the season yesterday, when he relieved Pitt in the 10th inning of an overtime game. Pitt threw in bases and two out, Burns and Sweet allowed a high fly to drop between them and both men scored. The score was tied when Martin went in, he is charged with the loss.

It is reported that some of the Eastern league team owners are ready to "throw up the sponge." While it has been predicted right along that the 16-team league could not be a success, the weather has brought the matter to its worst. Local baseball officials believe that an eight-club circuit composed of teams from this vicinity would be more effective.

The sun came out yesterday morning, dried up the park and everything was ready for a game when dark clouds appeared over the park and caused their coats just in time to spoil the game. The players and managers of both teams were present and there were about 75 fans in the grandstand when it was found necessary to postpone the game.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Mike Glover of South Boston will oppose his oldtime ring foe Ted Lewis, the English welterweight, in a twelve-round bout before the Armory A. A. of Boston tonight.

The Al Shubert-Battling Reddy contest will take place at Lawrence on next Thursday evening when those boys will clinch in a twelve-round argument.

Ted Lewis will battle Jimmy Coffey at New York on Friday night in a 10-round affair. This will be Ted's second contest of the week and he should win this clash and the one he has scheduled for tonight with Mike Glover. Lewis is a very busy boxer these days.

Johnny Kilbane and Johnny O'Leary meet before a Buffalo club tonight in a 10-round no-decision affair. O'Leary will have to travel at top speed if he is to stay in the running with the featherweight champion.

Walter Mohr, who appeared in Boston several times, will meet Phil Bloom at Brooklyn tonight. Bloom should prove a little too skillful for the aggressive Mohr, who depends on rushing tactics to win, while Bloom is extremely clever, his left jab winning the majority of battles for him.

Ex-lightweight Champion Al Volgaist will resume ring harness tomorrow night when he tackles Joe Flynn at Denver, Colo. Volgaist seems to have no trouble securing money matches throughout the country and the promoters seem anxious to book the one time great warrior.

Al Badoud, the European champion in the welterweight class, will try and demonstrate his ring goods against the old trial horse, Johnny "Kid" Alberts at a Brooklyn club, Thursday evening. Frankie Callahan meets Young Driscoll in the semi-final of the same show.

LOWELL DRIVING CLUB

The Lowell Driving club has prepared a program of excellent racing for Saturday afternoon at Golden Cove park. The feature of the event will be a race between Mutt and Jeff and the only way to find out who are Mutt and Jeff is to see the races.

The club is arranging for a big meet on July 4 that will include special races for out-of-town horses, professional foot races, half-mile amateur event and various other attractions to be announced later.

KNIVES USED IN FIGHT

Hot Time at Liberty Square This Morning—The Participants Escaped—Police Court Docket

The corner of Fletcher and Worth streets was the scene of a lively fracas shortly after seven o'clock this morning when knives, clubs, stones and fists were used, but despite the fact that one man received a cut over the eye and another had the sleeve of his coat slashed and that the fight lasted for fully fifteen minutes no police officer appeared on the scene. After two members of the party had been badly beaten up and their assailants had made a get-away the two injured men also made their escape, the latter probably feeling that it would be better to go to a doctor and get fixed up than go to the police station.

When queried relative to the affair the police informed a representative of The Sun that a report had been made by the officer on the beat that there was trouble in the vicinity of Liberty square this morning, some foreigners having gotten into an argument over labor troubles. A man who conducts a store in the vicinity of where the trouble occurred informed The Sun this morning that shortly after seven o'clock he heard loud shouts and looking out saw about fifteen men in the street. They were having a pitched battle, using their fists, stones and various weapons. During the thick of the fight he saw a man draw a sharp knife which was at least ten inches long and make vicious lunges at one of the men. The knife went through the man's sleeve and shortly afterwards there was a spurt of blood. Another man got knifed over the eye.

"Inasmuch as all of the shouts and utterances of the men was in a foreign tongue I could not understand what they were saying. After the battle had been going on for about fifteen or twenty minutes on member of the party shouted and the majority of the participants started to run away.

The injured men were the last to leave." The police are investigating the matter and although the details given by the department are very meagre they may succeed in locating some of the disturbers.

Short Session Today
This morning's session of the police court was a comparatively short one. There were but few offenders present and they were disposed of in short order. Several cases which were scheduled for trial were continued until a later date.

David Houx was arrested yesterday for drunkenness and gave his residence as Lewiston, Me., but later said that he lived in New Hampshire. Inasmuch as the man was not in the best of condition this morning it was decided to continue his case until next Saturday.

Bernard F. Meehan, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty, but as the police are trying to connect him with a more serious offense the prosecuting officer requested that the case be continued until tomorrow.

Joseph McCall was ordered to pay a fine of $15 and Edward Gagnon $6.

The case of Frank D. Greene charged with non support was continued until Monday by agreement of counsel.

Serious Charge Preferred
John Koswicz and Veronica Szumand were charged with illegal cohabitation. According to their own admission they had been living together in this country for several years. The man admitted in court this morning that he has a wife and children living in the "old country" while the woman stated that her husband is dead, but that she and Koswicz have been living as man and wife for some years. By request of counsel for the defense the case was continued until Friday.

THE LADY'S WORKBAG

A camisole material by the yard needs only the front edges turned in and ribbon straps added for the shoulders to make it a rival of the more expensive and tediously made models. The yard material consists of a band of white or flesh-colored crepe de chine headed by a pulling of net silk through which to run the ribbon. The bust measure, plus about four extra inches of hems and a slight ease across the bust, will be sufficient for one camisole. There are other laces, beadings and nels by the yard that will make the camisole process an easy one. Wide ribbon needs but a lace insertion or beading to make a camisole.

There is a particularly lovely negligee that bears out the "by the yard" theory beautifully. It has a slip formed of the accordion-pleated chiffon which comes by the yard or the piece of two or three yards. This is hung from the shoulders by ribbons. Over this is draped wide mesh lace in such a way that the lace is not cut except three places. One piece makes a draped cape, the other is gathered on to this cape to lengthen it in back, and the third is draped from the front to the longer back by merely catching it at intervals to the cape of lace.

In finishing the neck and armholes of little children's undergarments or the neck of yokes of dresses instead of using the usual bias facing a much more lasting, as well as neater finish, can be made by rolling the raw edge over a small cord according to the material used—cotton or linen is good—and whipping down.

If hooks and eyes are buttonholed in place they will not pull off. Three or four such stitches will hold them firmly while it takes twice or more what number if taken in the usual over-and-over way, and even they they will loosen readily.

When engaged on delicate needlework a good idea is to have a little flour in a saucer by your side and to dip your fingers in it from time to time. This will not only keep the hands dry, but keeps the work beautifully clean.

A simple, but effective case for holding ribbons is made of an odd length of silk or satin or a strip of ribbon. A piece of material, flowered silk or ribbon, twelve inches long by six inches wide; a skein of white silk, a yard of white ribbon, one-quarter-inch-wide and twelve yards of ribbon suitable for drawing through underclothing are required.

Make a narrow hem around the material and fold over the lower edge to within one and one-half inches of the top. Featherstitch the hem and divide the turned-up portion into four equal sections with the white silk. From pink pin the cardboard cut four pieces on the section of the ribbon case. Over these wind the ribbons and slip each into its particular section. Fold over the case and tie together with the white ribbon.

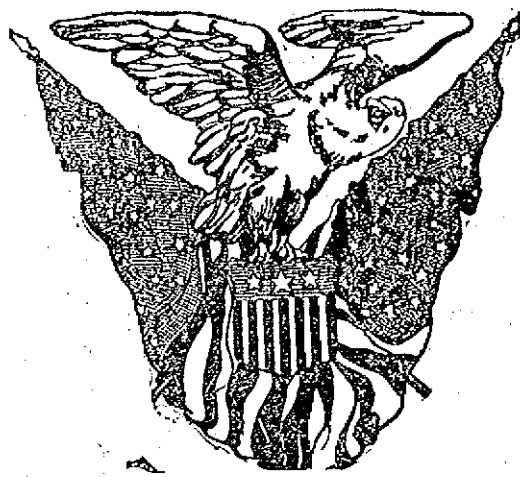

This summer more than ever will the bag be useful. Big bags, little bags, round and square, silk, cotton or embroidered, but a bag of some kind one must carry to be in fashion. An effective one can be made from plain repp and cretonne. Cut the

JOSEPHINE DAVIS, CHUM OF MURDERED GIRL, RESUMES HER TESTIMONY

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 12—Josephine Davis, chum of Marlan Lambert for whose death last February, Will H. Orpet is charged with murder, resumed her testimony at the continuance of the trial today.

Miss Davis who had been expected to testify for the state, was instead a witness for the defense and yesterday retraced statements she made at the coroner's inquest and at the hearing before the grand jury.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE SAFE, RELIABLE WAY
People who are overburdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from A. W. Dows & Co., or any good druggist a box of oil of korean capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korean is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. Footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

PIERROT EMBROIDERY

"I saw a lovely table runner in white work, but the bold black back-black and white pattern at Mabel's house today," remarked Marjorie to Marie. "I don't know what the style is called but it was very effective." "Perhaps it was a Pierrot style," responded Marie. "That's what they call the new embroidery that stands out so boldly with its black-and-white colored patterns. The idea for the black will be painted in for originated with entire black-and-white. But if you are one of the talented ones who do their own designing, or at least copy from designs, you will have to stencil the black part or else fill it in with heavy black cotton.

"Tulips are a happy inspiration for the designer of colored work, as they give such an excellent excuse for the introduction of bright reds, yellows and orange.

"Both runner and centerpiece are worked on heavy crash or linen—in natural color. The natural-colored crash or linen will be found more effective for the Pierrot work. The width of crash toweling, eighteen or twenty inches, makes a good runner and does away with side seams, as a good selvage will not require any seams.

"The leaves on the runner are entirely filled in with dark green mercerized cotton, a rather heavy six-thread floss being used, as it fills in very quickly and gives a soft, silky effect. The tulips may be worked in the brilliant tulip red, or in yellow or orange. They, too, are filled in with long and short stitches, like the finer colored work used on centerpieces several years ago.

for maneuvers; but they were forced to abandon going there on account of extremely poor landing facilities.

Major Joseph Hart, who is the regimental surgeon, and Capt. Philip L. Schuyler, the regimental adjutant, were among those accompanying the colonel. Throughout their stay on the island the party was entertained by R. Leo Coiter, who runs the Kelley house, the Edgartown garage and the Gray bus line which connects Edgartown with the other towns on the island.

The camp will last from July 9 to July 22. The spot chosen is on Edgartown harbor, about two miles due south of the town, on a little rise overlooking the harbor to the east and the ocean to the south, and backed by a small group of trees. The animals will be watered at a small stream which joins the harbor at this point; art wells will be driven for the water. The harbor furnishes a handy bathing place, with water above the average in temperature.

CARELESS USE OF SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps, and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two teaspoons will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

CAMP AT EDGARTOWN

SIXTH REGIMENT GOING FROM JULY 9 TO 22—GOOD BATHING PLACE

BOSTON, June 13.—Col. Warren E. Sweetzer of the Sixth Mass. Infantry and his staff have just returned from an extensive tour of Martha's Vineyard Island, where they went in search of a camp site for the regiment. They finally decided on Katama bay at South beach in the town of Edgartown, as being nearly ideal. The extreme east part of Edgartown, known as Chappaquiddick, was considered by them to be a slightly preferable location, by reason of a better bathing beach and more varied ground.

WAS ARRESTED AS SPY

MISS SILLIMAN, AMERICAN TEACHER TELLS OF HER EXPERIENCE IN WAR ZONE

NEW YORK, June 13.—Miss Mary Silliman, a teacher in the American school for girls at Constantinople, and who was arrested in April on suspicion of espionage, returned here today on the steamship Ryndam from Rotterdam. Miss Silliman said that her arrest, which occurred in April, amounted to nothing more than temporary detention on a nominal charge which the Germans in many cases prefer against foreigners entering the country until their status can be investigated. She was on her way home from Turkey, she said, where she had been doing Red Cross work under Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, wife of the American ambassador, and was soon able to clear herself of the charge. She was soon after taken ill, however, and remained several weeks in German hospitals where, she said, she received the best of attention. Miss Silliman intimated that the conditions either in Germany or Turkey.

Police Set Upon and Stoned by Strike Sympathizers

Officers Fired Several Shots—Two Men Arrested.

CAMBRIDGE, June 13.—A strike of building laborers, which has been in effect in Greater Boston for two weeks was marked by rioting here today. The return to work of some of the men employed on a building near the new Massachusetts Institute of Technology group was followed by a demonstration of strike sympathizers. Police were set upon and stoned, and their clubs taken away and turned against them. The officers fired several shots into the air. Two men were arrested on charges of inciting to riot.

THE HOME RULE PLAN

THE UNIONISTS OF ULSTER AGREE ON PRETEXT OF HELPING WIN THE WAR

BELFAST, June 13.—The Ulster unionist council, while showing no enthusiasm for the proposed home rule compromise at a meeting yesterday presided over by Sir Edward Carson, authorized Sir Edward to proceed with the negotiations. The attitude of the members was that they were willing to make sacrifices in order, as the government desires, to procure a settlement which will strengthen the empire and aid in winning the war.

The meeting was private, but a statement of the proceedings showed that the unionists in the counties Cavan, Monaghan and Donegal protested their separation from the rest of Ulster, but agreed to abide by the decision of the other six Ulster counties. These counties have shown home rule majorities in their elections.

The meeting further adopted a resolution stating that in the event of the failure of negotiations complete freedom of action would be taken to oppose the whole policy of home rule.

AN ACCIDENT HEARING

CASE OF MICHAEL GIBBONS HEARD BY ARBITRATION BOARD TODAY

An arbitration committee under the workman's compensation act held a hearing at city hall this forenoon on the question of compensation to be paid Michael Gibbons, an employee of the Saco-Lowell shops. Mr. Gibbons had his sleeve caught in a net screw on Jan. 11, 1916, and had his right arm badly bruised. He was treated at the Lowell hospital.

The young man received compensation under Feb. 22, at which time Dr. E. J. Clark, superintendent of the Lowell hospital, testified that he was unable to return to his work. Mr. Gibbons, however, did not feel able to work and he remained out a few more weeks. The American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. refused to pay him any compensation after Feb. 22, and Mr. Gibbons appealed to the Industrial Accident board.

The hearing was presided over by Joseph A. Parks of the Industrial Accident board, and the other members of the arbitration committee were Arthur Santry, Esq. for the insurer and John A. Crowley, Esq. for the employee. Gay Glendon represented the insurance company and Mayor O'Donnell the mayor by saying all members of the Industrial Accident board prefer Lowell to any other city in the state for the holding of hearings, for he said the Lowellians are so courteous.

The position to which the local physicians until the appointment has been confirmed by the state health council. A competitive examination was held last week in Boston to fill the vacancy. Over fifty physicians from all over the state, including many from Boston, took the examination and this morning Dr. Frank A. Finnegan received word from Commissioner McLaughlin that he was first on the list. The commissioner will forward his name to the state health council and it is very probable that it will be approved on account of his high standing in the examination.

Dr. Finnegan is well known as one of Lowell's young physicians. He resides at 491 Lawrence street and is associated with Dr. Edward J. Welch, with offices in the "Ruehls building." Dr. Finnegan was highly commended for his splendid showing against such a large field of competitors. The position to which the local physicians

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Thomas Matte of the drapery department of the Bon Marche is spending the day in Boston on store business.

An enthusiastic meeting of the employees of the B. & M. car shops at Billerica was held last evening at Associate hall for the purpose of taking action on the acceptance or rejection of the increase of two cents an hour offered by the company. It was estimated that between 600 and 800 men attended the meeting, which was presided over by International Vice President John J. Dowd of the Boilermakers' union. Present at the meeting also was General Vice President Fred C. Belam of the Blacksmiths and Helpers' union. A vote was taken, but the result will not be announced until the votes from all over the system shall have been tabulated at Boston. Similar meetings will be held this week in various places along the B. & M. system. The offer of two cents an hour applies to the mechanical trades on the road.

B. & M. Clerks

The clerks of the Boston & Maine met last evening at Old Fellows hall, Middlesex street, and transacted considerable business. The recent threatened strike of the clerks was averted and the concessions made by the road affect between 50 and 60 clerks in this city.

Bottlers and Tenders

The members of the Bottlers and Dresser Tenders' union held an interesting meeting at their quarters in Middle street last evening. Considerable business was transacted and the meeting was followed by a social hour.

SPRINGFIELD 2-LOWELL 3

FIGHT FOR CHAIRMAN OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 13.—Delegates gathering for the democratic national convention have turned from discussions of ticket and platform to consideration of a chairman of the new national committee and those to be associated with him in the management of President Wilson's campaign for reelection.

Three names are under consideration today for the chairmanship. They are United States Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware; Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut, vice chairman of the present committee; and Colonel E. M. House of New York.

President Wilson has indicated that any one of the three men was agreeable to him.

The new national committee meets Saturday and expects to select the chairman at that time.

Mr. Cummings is most certain to be the man if the chairman is taken from within their own number.

Prospects of a fight over a vice presidential nominee diminished today as incoming delegations lined up behind Vice President Marshall. Some of the candidates themselves declared that they would not attempt to oppose him.

Friends of former Secretary Bryan today circulated reports that Judge W. H. Thompson, a candidate for Nebraska place on the resolutions committee, and a Bryan state leader, intended to present peace, prohibition and anti-militarism issues in the platform-making committee, if seated there.

"These reports are merely part of the Nebraska fight against Mr. Bryan," said Judge Thompson. He denied that he planned to present such plank in the resolutions committee. He also expressed confidence that Mr. Bryan would not initiate such a movement and would not seek to obtain a seat on the convention floor with the Nebraska delegation.

BYRAN ARRIVES

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 13.—William J. Bryan, newspaper reporter, from Nebraska, arrived here today to "cover" the democratic national convention. He asserted most emphatically that his reportorial role will be his first.

"Now is the opportune time for the democratic party to get most of the press," said Mr. Bryan. In a hasty across-the-country interview as he reached his hotel today.

He indicated that this might be largely accomplished by the writing into the democratic platform of progressive planks.

"I have no plans except to report this convention," was Mr. Bryan's cryptic answer when asked if he would address the convention or appear before the resolutions committee in behalf of peace and anti-militarism planks.

"I have come to the convention as a newspaper correspondent and not as a candidate," he said. "I will not accept a seat on the floor of the convention as an alternate from Nebraska nor accept a proxy from any other state."

SUPPUGISTS' CAMPAIGN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 13.—With arrangements complete for a hearing before the resolutions committee of the democratic convention as soon as it opened, supporters today directed their principal efforts to an educational campaign among the delegates.

A heavy shower which came from the east about noon threatened to once more prevent the playing of a ball game at Spaulding park but happily for all concerned the shower, which lasted less than an hour, gave way to Old Sol whose rays beat upon the ball park and quickly dried up the moisture thereby allowing the game to go on as per schedule.

Today's game was the first played here since a week ago last Friday when Lord's boys won a verdict from Jesse Burkett. Since that date Lowell has been hit hard by the weather man, harder even than the other cities in the circuit. But one game was played away from home in the 11 days that elapsed. For the first time the sun, which had been such a stranger for many days, came out yesterday morning and threatened to again be kind to baseball. But in the afternoon when all was ready for the game, the wind shifted and brought a storm directly over the park which drowned the players' hopes they could reach their dressing rooms.

The sun appeared again this morning and dried up yesterday's rain. At noon another shower came down but the rain did little serious damage, and the grounds were in condition at 3 o'clock.

Jack Flynn, who rode into town early this morning with his Springfield Ponies, was the chief attraction. Flynn's team is in second place in the league only a few games behind New London and is expected to be a stronger aggregation than the Planters at this date. The team is comprised of a set of youngsters, full of energy and ginger, who fight for the old ball game all the time. Heavy slugging is their chief factor while they are now far behind in their hitting.

Joe Briggs, who was formerly a member of the Lowell team but went to Hartford during the early part of the season and who was released by the Connecticut team yesterday and subsequently joined the Lowells, was in uniform today and played in right field, replacing Kane, the latter covering the initial corner. Torphy was back in the game and Downey covered second base.

Matty Zieser was on the mound for Lowell with Kilhullen on the other end of the battery. For the visitors Powers did the twirling and Stephens was the receiving artist.

James Keady, of Philadelphia, a brother of Tom Keady, made his first appearance as an Eastern league umpire and called the game at three o'clock the batting order of the teams being as follows:

Lowell: Kane, 1b; Lord, 2b; Briggs, cf; Barrows, 3b; Hammond, 4b; Downey, 5b; Flynn, 6b; Kilhullen, 7b; Stephens, 8b; Powers, 9b.

Springfield: Lord, 1b; Booe, 2b; Briggs, cf; Barrows, 3b; Hammond, 4b; Downey, 5b; Flynn, 6b; Kilhullen, 7b; Stephens, 8b; Powers, 9b.

First inning. Lowell scored two runs in the first inning, while excellent work on the part of Kilhullen prevented the visitors from sending a man across the plate. Lowell's two runs were scored by Lord and Briggs, who traveled home on Barrows' double to the right field fence. Hickey, the first man to face Zieser, died to Briggs' good start fly which, Stimpson should have gathered in but the latter dropped it. Parks was hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. Booe going to second. Hammond fouled in back of the plate but Kilhullen was in the job and grabbed the sphere. Kilhullen then made a spectacular catch of a foul fly off Flynn's bat, the local catcher securing the ball up against the fence near the Lowell players' bench.

No runs, no hits, one error.

Kane went out on an easy grounder to Powers, and Lord reached first on four balls. Hammond slipped up on a chance to make a double play when he fumbled Briggs' grounder and both runners were safe. Lord and Briggs scored on Barrows' double to the right field fence. Downey then fanned the breeze. Stimpson singled over second base and Barrows started for home but the latter was caught at the plate.

Two runs, two hits, one error. Score—Lowell 2, Springfield 0.

Second inning. Neither side scored in the second session, the visitors going out in one, two, three order while the home team got a man as far as second but he died there.

Lord was first out on a foul fly to Kilhullen and Stimpson gathered in

MANY INJURED AND LIVES LOST IN BIG EXPLOSION

BALTIMORE, Md., June 13.—Fire which followed an explosion in a grain elevator of the Pennsylvania railroad at Canton, a suburb, destroyed the huge structure this afternoon, together with about 1,600,000 bushels of grain mostly wheat and oats.

Two steamships, which were loading at the elevator, caught fire and may be destroyed, as it seemed impossible to remove them to a place of safety.

A patrol wagon loaded with injured men was brought to a Baltimore hospital. It is reported there has been loss of life.

Five ambulances were sent from this city in response to the request of the Baltimore county police marshal.

AMERICANS WERE KILLED

EL PASO, Tex., June 13.—A rumor was current in El Paso today that several Americans had been killed in a native uprising at Chihuahua City.

The rumor was attributed to a dispatch received over telegraph lines of the Mexico-Northwestern railway but officials denied that such message had been received.

ITALIAN VICTORY

ROME, June 13, via London, 7.17 p. m.—After a preliminary artillery bombardment, Italian troops made an attack in the Lagarina valley, and captured a strong Austrian line, the war office announcement of today reports. Austrian troops attempted to recapture several sectors but met with checks.

FLOATS IN PARADE

The following additional aides to the chief marshal in the Preparedness parade were announced this afternoon: James Lahiff, Fred Jones and J. R. Ellis.

The float, "Gem of the Ocean," has been assigned a position behind the teamsters in the fifth division; the Darby & Morse float, "Spirit of '76," in the rear of the board of trade, and the "Zeppelin" behind the Saco-Lowell shops.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR GREAT PARADE

THE PARADE FUND

The following subscriptions to the parade fund have been acknowledged by the fund treasurer, John E. Sawyer of the Union Bank: J. C. Ayer company, $379.75. Previously acknowledged, $50.00.

When Mayor James E. O'Donnell suggested a Preparedness parade for Lowell there were many who were inclined to be skeptical as to the outcome of it, but the skeptics have either changed their minds or taken to the woods.

The mayor may not have fully appreciated the possibilities of his action in declaring for a parade, for it would be a far stretch of the imagination to anticipate in the beginning the enthusiasm and general interest that has developed along the parade line. Everybody is talking about the parade and those who are dealing with the details know that it will be the greatest thing Lowell has ever seen.

It will be in keeping with the traditions of the city and will add to her glory for all time. There will be some dissatisfaction as to positions in line, but the various units should appreciate the problem that the chief marshal, his chief of staff and the general committee were up against in making the assignments. The bands governed to a great extent the roster formation for it was necessary to distribute the music to best advantage and it was some job to so arrange it as to give those not provided with music the benefit of somebody else's band. Those who care to parade and who are not enrolled in any of the units included in the roster are cordially invited to fall in behind the last division, and they are requested to carry flags.

Besides this general invitation the Lowell board of trade extends a cordial invitation to all men, unaffiliated with any of the organizations included in the parade, and who are desirous of marching, to join the board and help hold its hand as long as possible and to strike only for victory.

The president's address ran through almost the entire list of subjects discussed by former Justice Hughes in his telegram accepting the republican nomination and he declared that the United States is ready to join with other nations to see that the kind of justice it believes in is given.

Shaking his finger emphatically the president told the graduates of the military academy and a large audience, that nobody who does not put America first can be tolerated. He added, however, that true Americans should set a good example.

The president declared the present war did not come by accident but that it had to come. The United States wants nothing from Europe, he said, and there is nothing she wants which she must get by war. He sounded a warning that no man can tell what the next day will bring forth in the world's events.

The word "Americanism" was used today by the president for the first time in recent addresses.

WHEN AMERICA SPEAKS SHE MEANS WHAT SHE SAYS—WILSON

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 13.—President Wilson, making his first address since the presidential campaign began today discussed preparedness, militarism, Americanism, the causes of the war in Europe, peace, the Monroe Doctrine, divided allegiance, and the ideals of America. He declared it the present imperative duty of the United States to be prepared, adding "man is going to know that when America speaks she means what she says."

The president said the United States should not be a blustering nation, a nation with "a chip on its shoulder," but a calm nation, which will with-

MURDER TRIAL
WAUKESHA, Ill., June 13.—Josephine Davis testified today that Marian Lambert, for the alleged murder of whom WILL H. Orpet is on trial here, threatened to commit suicide, if it proved true that Orpet had transferred his attentions to her.
The school girl witness, called by the state, continued to testify for the defense. She completely repudiated stories of the cheerfulness of Marian, her chum, and told of fits of depression over fear of results of her alleged intimacy with Orpet, and later, when this fear became less acute, after Jan. 20, over the reported defection of Orpet. It was Dorothy Mason, who told Marian, that Orpet, a student at the University of Wisconsin, was engaged to marry Celeste Youker, according to the witness.

AN EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES

Swept the State Before Striking Lowell—Loss in Other Cities—Other Diseases Normal

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 13.—Measles, looked upon by many as a harmless disease, caused 40 deaths in Massachusetts in the month of May, the highest number of cases of communicable diseases reported during the month to exceed the average number reported during the same month for the five preceding years, according to a special report of the state department of health, issued yesterday. "This is a striking commentary," the department says, "on the generally accepted belief that measles is not a 'dangerous disease'."

While the disease was epidemic throughout the state, Lowell seems to have been the center of a small epidemic; while the average number of cases reported during this month of May for the past five years has been 165, last year 182 cases were reported; in Chelmsford the average has been 0, but 22 were reported last month; and in Tyngsboro 21 cases were reported last month, although the average there also has been 0.

Scarlet fever, on the other hand, shows a considerable decrease in number of cases; the only epidemic center being at Quincy. Whooping cough shows more cases than for the five-year period, but the department is of the opinion that some of the increase, at least, may be attributed to better reporting of the disease. Diphtheria, on the other hand, shows only seven cases in the entire state showing for the month of May a greater number of cases than was averaged for the five-year period. The department states that it has been disappointed in the work of newly established dispensaries in reporting cases of tuberculosis; instead of finding more cases of this disease, the number for May was actually less than during the five-year period.

Typhoid Fever
Typhoid fever showed for the month a remarkably small number of cases. As to the mortality, the department says:

"As usual, the most important factor in the month's mortality is tuberculosis. The most striking factor, however, is the fact that there were 40 deaths from measles during the month, distributed as follows: Boston, 12; Brookline, 7; Worcester, 7; Springfield, 4; Chicopee, 2; Fall River, 2; and one each from Attleboro, Cambridge, Lawrence, Lynn, New Bedford and Woburn. Diphtheria with 29 deaths is a striking feature even though it is below the average. We do not appear to be making satisfactory progress in controlling the mortality from this disease. Scarlet fever and whooping cough combined to cause 32 deaths, while typhoid fever was given only eight times as a cause of death."

Lowell paid its toll to the measles epidemic last week when four deaths were reported.—Ed.

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food and stomach and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction. Cut out the foolish foods and funny, sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good, solid pounds of healthy, stay-there fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with the food to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 15 to 25 pounds a month on Sargol. It says that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

never missed the annual event at Notre Dame academy, in which he was deeply interested. The other guests included many prominent clergymen from other cities and the late Bishop Delany, who had just returned from abroad after his ordination. The old Sun in its report of the exercises had the following: "The graduates were Misses Mary Johnson, Margaret Kennedy, Elizabeth Cragin, Ellen Murphy, Nora Murphy, Anne Delany, Catherine Cumiskey, all of Lowell, and Mary Mcweeney, of Boston."

"The program which followed was of high literary and musical merit, reflecting much credit on the institution and showing too, the talents of the young ladies who participated. A duet on the harp by Miss Cumiskey and Miss Alexander was sweetly rendered and a selection from Ballini by a quartet consisting of the Misses Murphy, Miss Joyce and Miss Bradford was given with much feeling. The Misses Murphy appeared in a piano duet and afterward in a vocal duet singing a selection from Rossini, in a very artistic manner. Misses Joyce, Cragin and Cragin sang the Venetian boat song in a very pleasing manner and Miss Mcweeney displayed her proficiency on the piano in a fantastic from Thalberg. The closing chorus, 'Tu Solus Pons Amoris' was very effectively rendered, the rich contralto voice of Miss Cumiskey of Boston being noticeable among the others. There were two essays, besides the valedictory, one entitled 'A Rootless Academy' by Miss Elizabeth Cragin and the other 'The Blessing of the Day' by Miss Mary Johnson. The valedictory was in the form of a poetic dialogue and was finely given by Miss Cumiskey and Miss Delany. The diplomas and honors were awarded by Archbishop Williams who made an eloquent address to the graduates."

"The graduates of St. Patrick's Girls' school of last year were Miss Mary Fitzgerald, Mary Campbell, Kate Murphy, Lizzie Bambrick, Joanna Hoar, Jennie Kearns, Mary Maguire, Ellen Connell."

As the Twigs Is Bent

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"Two Lowell boys won honors at Holy Cross college at the recent closing exercises. John J. O'Brien won the gold medal for proficiency in Christian doctrine and J. Joseph Hennessy for proficiency in elocution. And each followed his bent, for the former is now Rev. John J. O'Brien, a well known clergyman of Boston, while Joseph Hennessy's eloquence has matured like old wine, as he has matured."

Rode in 'Hess Cars'

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"On Tuesday the pupils of the Agawam street school to the number of 56 enjoyed a ride in the horse cars around the city accompanied by their teachers. Misses Mary McLoughlin, Annie Lee, Mary A. Fox and Miss Crowley. The pupils of Miss Davis and Miss Palmer's rooms in the Kirk street school also enjoyed a horse car ride on Tuesday."

Endorsed by the teachers of these schools would have furnished children with limousines or with electric cars, but for the fact that there were no limousines and but one line of electric cars (running to Lakeview) in those days, and hence the kiddos had to be content with the slow-going horse cars, and their ride could compare with those given annually to the youngsters of the present, by John McLannans, who totes them back and forth in electric cars. And it seems queer to think that while we all recall the old fashioned horse cars, and if one should go to the big city of New York he'd find some of them still in service in that metropolis, there are thousands of children in Lowell who have been since the horse-car disappeared, and hence have never seen them, and probably never will see them.

SAV RETURNING DELEGATES ARE 'SURE' AT G. O. P.

BOSTON, June 12.—The advance guard of the progressive delegates to their national convention at Chicago returned to Boston at 3:35 last night, hoarse of voice from much cheering and speaking, indifferent in spirit, and with statements for water-tight proof that their attitude would be one of watchful waiting.

All agreed that unless they have a party nominee their votes will be divided between President Wilson and Hughes. They said there is still hope. Colonel Roosevelt will accept the nomination tendered him. But little will be used in statement form until the national convention meets on June 22, either select a nominee in case Colonel Roosevelt does not run or throw up the party sponge.

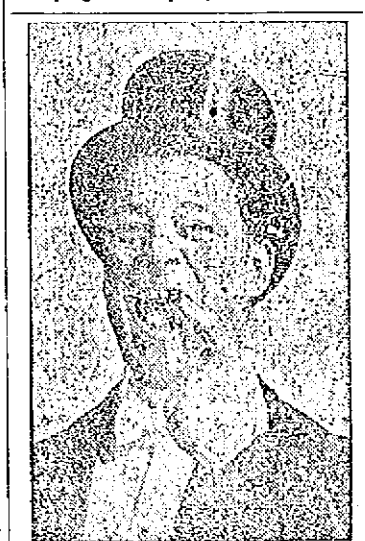

All were sure because the republicans did not nominate Colonel Roosevelt.

Neilson B. Clark of Beverly was the first delegate-at-large to arrive. He said:

"There appears to be a wide difference of opinion among progressives concerning the support of Hughes. This appears to be particularly the case among the New York and Massachusetts delegates. What the outcome will be no one can, of course, tell at this time. Such progressives as I have talked with prefer to wait until after the meeting of the national committee on June 25, when the committee will fill the vacancy should Mr. Roosevelt decline to run, which is probable."

"It cannot be denied that President Wilson will be a strong candidate among the progressives, especially in the western part of the state. Much will depend upon the success of the Hughes organization in winning over the progressive party men. Massa-

BIRD WITH HUGHES

HIS TWO PAPERS ALSO TO SUPPORT REPUBLICAN NOMINEE—JUSTICE HIS SECOND CHOICE

BOSTON, June 12.—Charles Sumner Bird, in a statement issued last night, pledged his support to Charles E. Hughes for president. He said:

"There should be no question about my attitude toward Mr. Hughes, the nominee of the republican convention. More than 40 months ago, at a time when most of the republican newspapers of Massachusetts ignored the candidacy of Mr. Hughes and Colonel Roosevelt, I said in public:

"There are two men, and two only, who have a ghost of a chance to defeat President Wilson next November—Justice Hughes and Colonel Roosevelt. Either would be acceptable to the great majority of progressives; either would be satisfactory to the rank and file of the republican party."

"Mr. Hughes, as governor of New York, was independent, efficient and courageous. Undoubtedly he would make a great president."

"At that time I stated that Colonel Roosevelt was my first choice, as he has been since. I also stated in the primary election fight that Roosevelt was my first choice and that Hughes was my second choice."

"I stand in this national election as I stood last November in the state election—in favor of the amalgamation of republicans and progressives upon a liberal platform and for a progressive candidate."

"I and the newspapers which I control will do our utmost to elect Mr. Hughes, who stands substantially for the principles for which we have worked. I hope and believe that the progressives and republicans of Massachusetts will bury their hatchets and work single-mindedly to defeat this democratic administration, which, as I see it, is a menace to business prosperity, industrial efficiency and adequate military preparedness."

BACK FROM CONVENTION

MAY HURT CHANCE OF G.O.P.

BOSTON, June 12.—The Massachusetts delegation to the recent republican national convention arrived home in Boston, yesterday afternoon at 4.30. The party was not complete. Some who started with it stayed longer in Chicago and others left the train at different points in western Massachusetts.

Senator W. Murray Crane got off at North Adams; he stepped to the platform the rest of the company gave three cheers for him and also three for Hughes and Fairbanks, whereupon Mr. Crane made a very brief speech, thanking the delegates for their kindness to him and expressing the belief that the convention had nominated the very strongest candidate in the whole list.

The other delegates at-large to the convention did not come back on the train. Gov. McCall remained in Chicago to visit one of his sons. Senator Lodge went from Chicago to Princeton, N. J. where, it is said, he will receive an honorary degree at commencement.

Senator Weeks returned to Washington. Congressmen Winslow and the other Worcester men left the train at Fitchburg, and there were desertions also at Greenfield and Gardner.

The trip was highly successful as far as the comfort and pleasure of those who took it was concerned. Benjamin P. Felt and Jesse B. Baxter, respectively executive secretary and treasurer of the republican state committee, had charge, and not a slip-up of any kind took place.

The Boston & Maine railroad was represented on the train by C. F. Gourley of the passenger department; he and his associates did their work so well all along the route from Boston to Chicago and return that the train was constantly ahead of its schedule, and even then did not hurry. The time from Boston to Chicago was 24½ hours, and east bound was only a little longer.

In some of its other phases, however, the trip was not satisfactory to either those republicans who went to Chicago or those who remained in Massachusetts. The controversy raised by the candidacy of Senator John W. Weeks for the presidential nomination are likely to exist a long time and perhaps may become a stumbling block to the party in this state.

The Weeks supporters were, and still are, very bitter against Senator Lodge and ex-Senator Crane because they deceived the hearty wishes for many more anniversaries from their many friends.

WEST VIRGINIA CASE
SUPREME COURT REJECTS PLEA
FOR $12,000,000 SALE—JUDGMENT
ASKED BY VIRGINIA

WASHINGTON, June 13.—After announcing a number of decisions yesterday the supreme court adjourned until Oct. 3 next.

The petition of the commonwealth of Virginia for an immediate order to the court's marshal to sell property of the state of West Virginia to satisfy the $12,000,000 judgment against the latter in the Virginia-West Virginia state debt case was denied on the ground that the West Virginia legislature had not met in regular session since the judgment.

Seneca Indians Lose Case
Seneca Indians were denied the right to fish and hunt, without regard to state laws, on the 4,000,000-acre estate in western New York which their tribesmen ceded to the government in 1795 on condition that they and their heirs always should be allowed fishing and hunting privileges. The opinion, prepared by Justice Hughes, was read by Chief Justice White.

The right of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, to restate members in 1910, with a resulting increase in dues for "fourth-class" members, was sustained.

Brandeis Assigned to Circuit
The court restored to the docket for another oral argument, at a time not set, cases involving the constitutionality of the Oregon minimum wage law and 10-hour day for men. Justice

WOMAN'S MARTYRDOM
How many men, think you, have any idea of the pain and misery endured by women of their own households, who suffer from ill-peculiar to their sex? They often see them smiling and trying to be cheerful, even while racked with pain. If every such woman would only be guided by the experience of thousands of others who have been restored to health by that grand old remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, much suffering might be avoided.

LORD KITCHENER RAY MOLLOY MISSING

Memorial Services at

St. Paul's Cathedral

LONDON, June 13.—Great crowds lined the streets today in the vicinity of St. Paul's cathedral and stood for hours in the rain awaiting the arrival of King George, Queen Mary and Dowager Queen Alexandra for the memorial services for Field Marshal Earl Kitchener.

The doors of the cathedral opened shortly after 10 o'clock and the vast building was rapidly filled with people who were fortunate enough to have tickets. Thousands of applicants for admission had been refused.

It was announced that the service would be practically devoted of any military ceremonial. No troops lined the streets through which the royal party was to pass and there was no guard of honor.

A feature of the service was the part taken by the band of the Royal Engineers and the drummers of the Irish Guard, of which corps Lord Kitchener was honorary colonel.

The "Dead March" was played by the band and the drummers, and after the benediction the guardsmen were to sound the "Last Post."

In addition to the services in St. Paul's the memory of the dead soldier was honored by a ceremony in Westminster Abbey, while a third service was held in Canterbury cathedral.

BARNUM & BAILEY SHOWS

WILL BE AT FAIR GROUNDS ON JUNE 23—FOUR DAYS AFTER WILD WEST SHOW

Seldom if ever before have two big circus shows appeared in Lowell so close together as do the Buffalo Bill and the Barnum & Bailey circuses, here respectively on June 19 and June 23.

Did you ever stop to consider the brains and ingenuity behind the organization of a great street parade, such as will be seen on the streets of this city on Friday, June 23, when the Barnum & Bailey shows exhibit here?

This long, glittering pageant—the greatest in the history of American circuses—will be a way similar to the parades of other years, and it represents not only an investment of $1,000,000, but a long period of careful thought and labor on the part of many artists and designers, both in this country and abroad.

With the advantages of many years spent in planning the world, where this circus is as well known as in America, Barnum & Bailey's many agents have been constantly gathering the materials to be used in this year's street procession. The four corners of the world have been ransacked and worked out by artists and designers. For two years mechanics and property builders have worked in the foreign workshops at Stoke-on-Trent executing these ideas and neither toil nor expense has been spared to make the 1916 parade the greatest ever presented by Barnum & Bailey of any other circus.

All strange types of the human family are found in the procession, together with their characteristic costumes, weapons of war, vehicles, idols and strange musical instruments. Rich and fantastic wagons of state, gorgeous tableaux floats, palanquins, richly draped howdahs, rolling thrones, chariots of fire and fairy vans have been made of the most expensive woods, carved by hand labor and burnished with pure gold. The harnesses are silver mounted. The laces are from Ireland, the silks and satins from China and Japan, and the rugs and tapestries are from Persia and Turkey.

The parade is three miles in length and has been likened to a "stretched out rainbow." It is a congress of nations, a horse fair, a musical convention, a zoological garden on wheels, a fairland carnival and an ever changing panorama. Virtually all of the cages in the Barnum & Bailey menagerie are displayed in the procession, thus affording spectators a free view of the greatest traveling zoo in the world.

The circus entertainment is the finest ever presented by Barnum & Bailey. More than 50 artists, most of them foreigners, present a long series of thrilling and novel acts in the three rings, two stages and in the maze of aerial rigging. The riding and acrobatic numbers are unusually fine, and a continuous round of amusement is afforded by fifty of the funniest clowns in the world.

Millon Greenwood, aged 22 years and living in Nashua, N. H., was arrested Saturday by Patrolman Brown of the police of the upriver city. ST. PAUL'S M. E. CHURCH

The B.W.H. club met last evening at the home of Mrs. Wm. Morse, 216 Poppleton street, with 19 members present.

After a brief business session a picture guessing contest was held which produced much merriment. Mrs. Snow won the contest and received a china photo frame as prize. Refreshments were served and the club adjourned until September. Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Richardson sang solos.

LOWELL BOY WOUNDED

SAMUEL KIRKLAND FIGHTING WITH CANADIAN REGIMENT IN FRANCE

Samuel Kirkland, a Lowell boy, has written a letter to a local friend, Charles McQuarrie of 99 Jewett street, stating that he was injured by a flying piece of shrapnel in the trenches of France. Kirkland is fighting under the British colors and hopes to return to the fighting line very soon.

Private Kirkland left Lowell seven months ago, going to Canada, where he enlisted as a private in the Royal Highlanders. Later he sailed for England.

and after some drilling there, he was sent to the trenches of France, where he has been located for the past four months.

In his letter to Mr. McQuarrie the young soldier says it makes the boys feel good to receive news from home. He says that is about the only comfort available on the battle field. He says the allied troops are hoping to meet the Boches in the open for they feel they could clean them out in short order. Private Kirkland speaks of the kills won by the Royal Highlanders and says the members of the Highlanders are referred to by the Germans as the "Mad Women from Hell."

He winds up his letter with a few personal items and states he is longing to return to Lowell. His address is as follows: Private Samuel Kirkland, 467,012, No. 3 Platoon, No. 1 Company, 13th Battalion, Royal Highlanders, Canadian, E. F. France.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

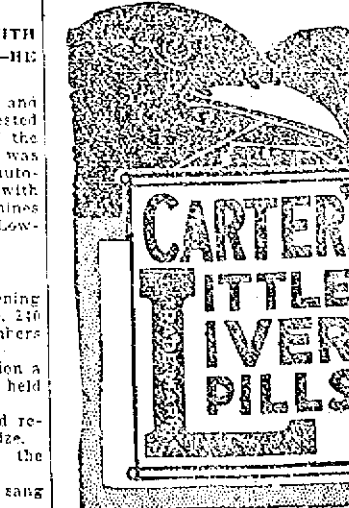

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"A Perilous Love," that's the title of chapter three of "Gloria's Romance," in which Miss Billie Burke will be seen at the B. F. Keith theatre, twice today and tomorrow. And, after seeing this chapter thrown on the screen, one quite agrees with the authors in giving that name to it.

Miss Burke, as will be recalled, in the character of "Gloria," is rescued from the Seminole Indians by Dr. Royce, although one Freneau takes the credit for it. "Gloria" simply doesn't know the true story and, prompted by gratitude, reciprocates by giving Freneau her love. Freneau agrees with everybody, makes love to every pretty woman he meets, and, after "Gloria" has been away from him five years, he passes her by without noticing her. It has been a part between "Gloria" and her father that she shall not see Freneau for five years, at the end of which time, if they still care for each other, a marriage may take place. "Gloria" still loves the adventurer, but Freneau has been too busy playing the part of Don Juan to care much for the pretty young woman. Royce, on the other hand, sees "Gloria" and loves her as much as ever. But still "Gloria" sticks to Freneau, and, just as the chapter ends is in a decidedly perilous position. Surely the plot of this engrossing story is becoming more complex, and the gradual unfolding of it later on will prove intensely interesting.

"Honor's Altar," with pretty Bessie Barriscale, Lewis S. Stone and Walter Edwards in the leading roles is a five act triangle Zine Arts drama, with a remarkable story. The eternal triangle in love affairs is exposed, but with a slightly different turn to events than is usually found. A man, risen from the ranks, becomes very wealthy. The partner of his leaner years falls to satisfy him. He wants a woman, the presence of women who flatter him. The wealthy man knows no fault with his wife, and therefore, cannot divorce her. She is too unsuspecting to care to investigate his life. By chance the magnate comes across a polished fellow who declares that he hasn't shared of conscience left. The wealthy man proposes to give him $50,000 if he

Local Association is the Most Active in the State

The Lowell Fish and Game association has established a reputation for quick and large increase in membership that extends far beyond the confines of Massachusetts. The Lowell Fish and Game association is listed as one of the liveliest, most progressive and prosperous organizations of its kind in New England.

The association has been congratulated by members of the state fish and game commission for its earnestness, activity and general executive ability. The state commissioners admit that but for the local association the great strides towards the restocking of the Merrimack river with salmon would not have been made and now the state men believe that four years hence there will be thousands of large salmon coming up the river. This belief is expressed in the following letter from Commissioner Graham to the secretary of the local association:

Boston, June 7, 1916.
Mr. Willis S. Holt, Secretary, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Willis: I want to congratulate you and the Lowell Fish and Game association on the result of your membership contest. You have done splendid work and every sportsman in Lowell will be benefited in the end by your large membership.

I wish you could get a crowd and go down to see the salmon station at Andover before long. I want to tell you when you visited the place but I am afraid I cannot be. Mr. Larkin will be there to show you what we are doing. I will notify him when you will be down.

The salmon are growing fine and are drawing a good many visitors. The salmon will be ready to rear 1,000,000 salmon at this station and I firmly believe that four years from now there will be thousands of large salmon coming up the river.

I am glad that you have been so successful in increasing the membership of your association. With kind regards, I am,
Very truly yours,
George H. Graham.

will break up his home, and the conscienceless one agrees. Let it be understood that the man without any honor left is not the type of the common account. He is polished, good looking, well dressed and smoothly fascinating. The wife is thrown much into his company, and becomes attached to him. But she trusts him absolutely. And this trust of the wife makes it doubly hard for the man who says he hasn't any conscience to proceed with his diabolical scheme. The trap is laid. The wife is absolutely at the mercy of the supposed fiend. But something stirs in that man, something which savors of conscience. He cannot carry his game any farther, and leaves the wife without doing as the husband had wanted him to do. Lewis S. Stone plays the part of the social outcast, in a convincing manner, and Walter Edwards, as the magnate, is specially notable. Miss Barriscale, as ever, is wholly charming.

"His Auto Ruination," with Mark Swain as the man who wanted a car but couldn't afford the price, is a triangle-Kepone drama. It is in two parts and shows a series of mix-ups which are as funny as they are improbable. This story is keyed up to the very limit for speed and laughter greets every antic of the producing company. In addition to this there are two shorter comedies, "The Porridge of Mary" and "Some Chicken." They are both comedies. The latter half of the week the leader will be "The Flying Torpedo," with Charles Chaplin in "Police" as the comedy feature. The Hearst-Vita-graph News of the week will also be interesting.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

An extraordinarily constructed and exceptionally human drama is "The Evil Theroed" which was shown yesterday afternoon and evening at the popular Merrimack Square theatre with the noted Frank Losce in the leading role. It is the story of three one hundred dollar bills earned by sweat, toil and suffering which were eventually earned by one of the idle rich. How they were spent in self gratification and brought only misery forms the basis of this powerful screen story which will also be shown today and tomorrow at the Merrimack Square theatre. "A Son of the Immortals," is another play which these who attend the Merrimack Square theatre today and tomorrow will have a chance to enjoy. J. Warren Kerrigan appears in the leading role, that of a determined young prince to whom the hand of the lady he loves means more than all the homage of his subjects. The latest Sir Hovins comedy, "Pathe Noirs" and other playlets will also be shown at this theatre today and tomorrow at the continuous performance.

OWL THEATRE

"The Scarlet Woman," a wonderful Metro feature film in five acts, will again be the attraction at the Owl theatre today. Appearing in the emotional story is the queen of all famous actresses, Mme. Petrova. Other excellent attractions will also be presented at the Owl this afternoon and evening.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

The Board of Trade
The members of the Lowell board of trade will assemble at 7 p. m., sharp, on Market street, in the rear of the formation of the Lowell Electric Light delegation. Business dresses will be worn and flags will be furnished the members.

It is expected that the women will dress in white and they, too, will carry flags. The flags are to be carried over the right shoulder, resting naturally and easily, and not carried down as suggested at a meeting some few days ago.

The G.A.R. veterans will review the parade from the front of the Green school opposite the Memorial building where seats will be provided for their comfort.

Fire Alarm
In the event of a fire alarm during the parade hours, the marchers are instructed to oblique to the right in order to give the fire apparatus all the room possible.

The Highland Club
The Highland club was inadvertently omitted from the roster in the process of formation at the meeting of the committee on arrangements last night, but was assigned a position today with the York club. The Highland club will hold open house after the parade.

Women Drill at Armory
Never before in the history of the state armory in Westford street was such a scene presented as last evening when between two and three hundred women took a preparatory drill for the Preparedness parade. The affair was scheduled for 7:30 o'clock but did not materialize until 8 o'clock. The women represented only the industrial section of the parade and they were drilled by Maj. Kittredge and Capt. Leves assisted by other officers. It looked like a hopeless case when the women first lined up on the drill shed floor and it was said by certain ones present that the first attempt was almost as ludicrous as the first attempt of the Business Men's battalion. "The women to endow it," and "hay footed" around for a while and it looked for a time as if no compromise could be arrived at so far as keeping step was concerned, when, presto, change—the roll of a drum was heard. The little bit of music gave magic touch to the two or three hundred pairs of feet and in less time than it takes to tell it the women and girls were marching about the hall or drill shed, not in a way to provoke laughter, but admiration. "Guide right" captains were chosen, and drilled in giving the order "eyes front" and "attention" and in less time it must be distinctly understood by the women that they are not to salute in any way when passing the reviewing stand. They must simply look to the right and let it go at that. The women took very kindly to the drilling and seemed to enjoy it. Of course it was new to them, but a few times around the hall with an officer in khaki marching with each captain at front of her line, brought them into pretty good form.

The Daughters of the American Revolution were at the armory early in the evening, looking after the matter of their regalia and later they went to the high school for drill.

Notice to Boy Scouts

When plans for the big parade were first suggested by Mayor O'Donnell the Boy Scouts of Lowell and vicinity offered their services in any capacity His Honor might wish to use them. He has requested them to be in line with the rest of the organizations and they will be there. The local officials request every Boy Scout who can do so to meet on Saturday, June 10, at 7 o'clock to form for parade, when they will march to the place allotted them to join the other organizations. Eight scouts have been appointed to carry the banners at the heads of divisions. Each troop will carry the American and troop flag.

PREPAREDNESS SPECIAL

To Every Out-of-Town Customer Ordering a Suit or Overcoat Wednesday, Tomorrow, Car Fare Will Be Paid Both Ways

Consciously or unconsciously, America today is judging and estimating the growth, prosperity and capabilities of the various cities by the showing the cities make in their respective preparedness parades.

LOWELL WILL BE SIMILARLY JUDGED. The parade being held Wednesday evening, June 14, in a city of 110,000 population, without the discouraging 6 to 10 hour formation waits of big cities, calls for a line of 15,000 to 18,000 persons.

MR. LOWELL MAN, will you be in that parade? Some organization has grip enough on you to demand that you do your share to uphold the reputation of the order. You may not think so now, but at this last minute you will be hustling around for a dark suit to wear in the parade.

PREPAREDNESS means to be ready for any occasion that may arise; that also applies to clothing. Blue Serge Suits will largely be worn by what ought to be the most cosmopolitan citizen soldiery that ever mustered under a waving flag.

A BLUE SERGE IS SUITABLE FOR ANY OCCASION from a soldier to the pulpit.

I still have six pieces of Arlington Blue Serge Worsted. This caused a sensation three weeks ago when I announced that I had Arlington worsteds, made in Lawrence, Mass., by the Arlington mill. To the layman the importance of this fact is not apparent. To the men connected with the woolen trade it means as fine a quality of merchandise as any tailor puts out at almost double the price. My price, suit to order $12.50.

I Will Need a Little More Time Today Than in Former Years

Tailors work only 8 hours a day now and the union won't let them work overtime. Every suit tried on before finishing, made as practically all clothing is now made in America, by union help, under union rules, by a big organization under special efficiency experts.

P. S.—Out-of-town friends bring our population up to 150,000 for that day. My contribution is your car fare paid both ways on any purchase.

The Military Division

The military division has issued directions for the formation Wednesday night.

General order No. 2:

1—Immediately upon reporting at 7:15 p. m., organizations will form in line on the southwest side of Thorndike street, as follows:

2—Sixth Regiment band, at Davis square; battalion of militia, with right resting at Davis square; section of Battery C, M.V.M.; Meagher Guards, Sheridan Guards, Wolfe Tonic Guards, Ansel Guardian Cadets, Garde Frontenac, Garde d'Honneur, Garde of the Sacred Heart, Garde of St. Louis.

3—Salem Cadet band, at Hale street; Business Men's battalion, Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans.

4—High School regiment, right resting opposite Hood's laboratory; O.M.I. Cadets, Boys' brigade, Boy Scouts.

If there is not sufficient room on Thorndike street, organizations will be placed by later orders or by aides of the division marshal.

5—Organizations are expected to be formed in line at 7:30 p. m., and will immediately be closed up to the right. The division marshal will proceed to the right of the line at Davis square, and organizations will be brought into column of companies by their respective commanders. The command of "March" will be given promptly at 7:45 p. m.

6—Bands and drum corps will report with their organizations.

By order of

Gen. Gardner W. Pearson,
Division Marshal.

W. C. MacBrayne, Lieut.,
Chief of Staff.

Hebrew Division Float

The committee for the preparedness parade of the Jewish community met last night at the office of Bennett Silverblatt. The members present were Bennett Silverblatt, Dr. B. Bernstein, Rabbi Wolfson, Sigmund Rostler, Aaron Paterlosky, Frank Goldman and David Ziskind. It was decided that all men in the Hebrew division should wear dark suits, straw hats and white gloves, and carry American flags. A feature of the division will be a float representing Dety Ross making the first American flag. A mass meeting will be held at the synagogue in Howard street tonight, when final arrangements will be made.

Chauffeurs Will Parade

One hundred and fourteen chauffeurs and repair men attended the meeting called for last night in the Church street garage, and voted unanimously to turn out in the preparedness parade on Wednesday night. A number of chauffeurs who were absent will probably also turn out and swell the ranks to 150. The officers in charge of the delegation ask the co-operation of all automobile owners in letting their drivers and chauffeurs off on Wednesday night, so that the men may have full ranks and make a good showing in the interests of preparedness.

Chelmsford Street Men

Between 200 and 300 young men of the Chelmsford street section of the city, backed by the business men of Chelmsford street, will form a substantial division of the preparedness parade on Wednesday evening. The men will march in dark suits and straw hats and will carry flags. The division will be escorted by the Mission Church band of Roxbury and will be led by Richard Donoghue as marshal.

The movement on the part of Chelmsford street and Ayer City citizens is purely a voluntary one and they have gathered inspiration from the purpose of the parade and that inspiration will help swell the ranks. Citizens in and around Chelmsford street and Ayer City are cordially invited to form with the division at the Lincoln monument at 7 o'clock. William Scannell, George Haggerty, John McAndrews and Richard Donoghue are the moving spirits in the affair and a big crowd will march behind them.

Milliners in Line

All milliners wishing to march in the parade on Wednesday night are asked to notify Miss Ella M. Burke, 20 Valmer street, or telephone 1703 before Wednesday morning.

Chief Marshal's Headquarters

Chief Marshal Rogers will establish his headquarters at the court house, Gorham street, at 6:30 o'clock. His staff will be there to look after all marching units. If any head of an organization desires to communicate with any member of the staff relative to place in line or other detail he should call either 8767 or 1120, by telephone.

Cow Girl in Line

Miss Mabel Quinn of 686 Bridge st. communicated with Chief of Staff O'Donnell yesterday and informed him that she has an excellent horse and that she would much like to participate in the parade as a rider. She said that she will be dressed as a cowgirl. Mr. O'Donnell immediately asked her to join the general staff of the parade and Miss Quinn agreed.

THE COMING FIGHT

The noise and bustle and buncos of the Chicago conventions has died down, the result of the St. Louis convention is already assured and the country now looks forward to the coming campaign between President Wilson and Justice Hughes. Thus far there has been no great issue, the line of demarcation in party politics is not well defined and two strong, able and sincere men will contest the greatest office in the hands of the American people to bestow. What shall be the result?

A look backward at the results of 1912 may prove illuminating. The popular vote allotted to President Wilson was 6,292,718, to William Howard Taft 3,359,221, and Theodore Roosevelt 4,057,423. President Wilson's plurality was 2,258,258.

It is pretty safe to assume that President Wilson will receive the vote of practically all who voted for him in 1912. Opposition to him exists in certain quarters, much of it of a discreditable character, but it has not cropped out within his party to any extent. The inevitable murmurs have been heard from time to time but whenever it has come to a showdown in congress or out, he has come out on top. Some of the vocal racial opposition which has been manifested in other sections and in the propagandist press will not affect his vote as few of those who have opposed him of late voted for him in 1912. The great mass of German-Americans and their sympathizers in this country are already republican voters and they would not have voted for President Wilson even under normal conditions. Consequently their threats and their enthusiastic championing of the untired Justice Hughes will have little effect on the final vote.

It is highly probable, on the other hand, that much of the opposition to President Wilson will serve as a boom-erang and will react in his favor. Among the more conservative Americans who regret the intrusion of old world politics in our domestic affairs, the attempted intimidation by organized groups of voters may reawaken a desire for "America First" that will sweep President Wilson into office by a large majority. The singularly mild note in papers that have hitherto been most rabid in their denunciation of President Wilson would indicate that they see this danger ahead.

Again as in 1912 the so-called "progressive" vote may be the determining factor—though in a different sense. The refusal of Theodore Roosevelt to lead his followers to Armageddon has made many of them bitter and they now see that they were being used to advance the personal ambitions of one who did not find the republican convention in "heroic mood." Those who take their party designation seriously will find more genuine progress under the democratic banner than under that of the old guard, but even the practical politicians cannot look with enthusiasm upon the party that kept Teddy out in the rain at Chicago. Should the vote be in proportion to that of 1912, President Wilson must without doubt attract a great part of the doubtful element that will not be pinned down in their choice of political affiliation.

President Wilson's full strength will materialize when there is open discussion of the foreign policies of the country and when the people ask the republicans for something more definite than condemnation of the democrats. Justice Hughes, in a vague and safe way is against the foreign policies of the present administration. What policies would he substitute? Just now he is being vehemently supported by the more extreme of those who want the country to prepare against aggression and also by those who have become known as the hyphens. He cannot consistently hold the support of both, and as the campaign days draw on the better part of the political strategy shall be at the command of a president who despite all opposition has kept his vision straight and true for a future of American peace, preparedness and prosperity.

AMERICA FIRST!
The roster of the preparedness parade tomorrow night makes inspiring reading, including as it does almost every public and private activity of this great complicated city. With the keynote of sincerity and simplicity running through, the local demonstration will be the strongest exemplification of "America First" ever seen in Lowell. There side by side may be seen representatives of almost all the races that make up our cosmopolitan population, our civic departments, our business interests, private military bodies that are usually seen in parades of more or less empty show, clubs, fraternities, bodies of women and even children. All Lowell will march under one flag and one only, and though many who participate may not be able to define preparedness, the thought in the hearts of all shall be "America, first, last and all the time!"

As Congressman Rogers said in his stirring address at the high school on Monday, a parade of this kind will be especially beneficial to Lowell because of the many racial strains from which we have drawn. Groups from all of the belligerent nations are here, many having but recently come. Daily they work side by side or pass and repose on the streets. Even though their brothers at home maintain and kill each other with all the madness of fanatics, here they live in peace and harmony. In each man's heart may burn enthusiasm and sympathy for one side or the other in the old world, but when the Stars and Stripes goes by everything is forgotten but the appeal of "America First."

And, in the last analysis, is it not because of this appeal that the nation now urges preparedness? We had come upon prosperous days that threatened our feelings of nationality. Wealth and pride were here and the thoughtless irreverence of the young nation, like that of a headless boy in a world of scheming men. Then came the calamity of war all over the world and the hearts of Americans were stirred as they have not been stirred for a generation. All eyes turn to our glorious flag and the voices of Americans are raised in unison to demand that the government and the people leave nothing undone to protect and to perpetuate the land of Washington and Lincoln.

CAMP HOODLUMS
The two Billerica constables who arrested a large number of campers at a camp on the Concord early Sunday morning should keep up the good work and all other constables in camp sections should follow suit, otherwise there is much trouble in store for Lowell and many of its people for the coming months. Scarce a week went by last summer but lawless campers were haled before the local court and in some places organized bands of loafers made life miserable for storekeepers and others.

One may readily see how camp life leads to license when the campers are of an undesirable type. They get away from the restraint of the city where the sight of the police is a constant warning to where they think they are safe from interruption. Often, certain refreshments are carried along to sustain their animal spirits and then from sheer love of mischief or natural perversity they begin to act like wild men let loose. Many decent people go to summer camps, but of late years the increasing number of undesirables has interfered with the peace of those who really wish to enjoy a clean, healthy vacation. Unless some improvement is noted the police force at summer camping grounds will have to be increased in the interest of law and morality.

WATCHING US
Let it not be forgotten for a moment that all the nations to the south of us are watching our settlement of the Mexican question, and that on it shall depend in a large measure our future relations with all Latin America. With our ideals and protestations they are thoroughly familiar but they now wait to see if we will put our theories in practice. It is easy for politicians who wish to stir up opposition to President Wilson to find flaws in his watchful waiting policy, but what would they have asked? The alternative is either armed intervention or a costly and unsatisfactory protectorate which would impose thankless obligations on us for generations. If we should intervene in Mexico, where should it end? We have declared that we do not want any territory south of the Rio Grande. And, by the way, if we should intervene in Mexico, would it not be a splendid time for some other power to put our preparedness to the test? President Wilson has played safe, and a better policy does not as yet shape itself out of chaos.

WEEKS GREW STRONGER
Senator Weeks of Massachusetts was a larger figure at Chicago than some of the republican papers of the state are willing to concede, and his honorable consistent action won him many new friends from all parts of the country. He has the satisfaction that he was second to Justice Hughes in the voting, even though the defection in the state ranks embarrassed him for a time. The Washington correspondent of The Sun who was present at the convention speaks in the highest terms of the attitude of Senator Weeks and of the enthusiasm he aroused, and the picture painted of him contrasts strongly with that of Senator Lodge who tried to be with everybody at one and the same time and in consequence lost the confidence of his associates and started trouble that may crop out with serious results to his party at the next state campaign. Lodge came out of the convention a smaller man than he went in while Weeks came out with a considerably larger reputation.

CITY BUYING
A New Bedford paper comes out strongly in opposition to the plan of electing a purchasing agent for that city. At present there is no such office, and the purchasing of supplies for the various city departments is carried out by a system of department co-operation which provides for competitive bids. The paper says that the present system has worked satisfactorily since its inception and that "criticism of contracts or the purchase of supplies have been few and far between." If this is so, the creation of a new office might be unwise since it is the spirit that counts and if the end is achieved without the formation of a new and costly department, well and good! In all probability there would be far more criticism with a purchasing agent than there is now, for such is the experience of many cities that have the specific department as a separate function.

PLIGHT OF PROGRESSIVES

Now alas the progressives know that the strenuous individual who has again stepped out of politics temporarily merely used them to get something that he was after in dead earnest. Having failed to get the real thing—the republican nomination—he had no use for what his own party handed to him on a silver platter. It is not a time for polished language and the unvarnished fact is that the erstwhile progressives are sore at the raw deal that Theodore Roosevelt handed out. They may now see their folly in its true light and discover that they really belong in the democratic party which from first to last has kept its promises and has been greater than any man in it.

SEEN AND HEARD

Fresh people generally start that way when they're young.

Some of our acquaintances make the church influence pay pretty well.

Tom Hoban said, speaking of preparedness, that we could use a few more big guns in congress.

Do not attempt any salute while passing the reviewing stand. Just keep your face turned towards the reviewers.

On the Vermont Central

It was a quarter past eight, and the commuters were waiting for the train, when the station agent appeared and informed them that the eight-thirteen was an hour late.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the oldest commuter of them all. "What are we going to do?"

"You might take the seven-four."

suggested the agent. "It ought to be along in about 10 minutes now."

Honest Granger

A farmer who was blessed with a son with an engaging frankness of speech sent him to the local miller's one day.

The lad got hold of the miller and submitted for his inspection a handful of wheat.

The miller studied the wheat attentively, and then said to the boy: "How much more has your father got of this?"

"He ain't got no more like it," the boy answered. "He's been all mornin' pickin' that out!"—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Too Expressive

Johnny was naughty in school the other day, and his teacher, in talking seriously to him, said:

"I certainly shall have to ask your father to come and see me."

"Don't you do it," said Johnny. "Teacher thought he had made an impression, so she repeated: 'I must send for your father.'"

"You'd better not," again said Johnny.

"Why not?" inquired the teacher.

"Cause he's a doctor and charges $5 a visit!"—Exchange.

Naming the Baby

Give your baby a name that will suit him or her throughout life. Let it be a euphonious, well balanced name, indicative of intelligence, character and success and one to easily written or spoken that no nicknames will ever be found necessary.

If there is available a family name with these good qualities, all the better. Do not indulge in levity, do not give way to sentiment, do not surrender to affection or romance in this matter of selecting a suitable name, and avoid novel combinations and plays upon words without loading the child down with cheap commonplace.—Dallas News.

Why You Sneeze

There is more than one cause for sneezing, and persons may differ in their susceptibility to them. A bright light will cause some persons to sneeze, the pollen of certain plants will affect others, and most people are likely to sneeze in the presence of dust. Such sneezing is due to superficial irritation.

The sneeze caused by the effect of cold is different. It is an attempt of nature to cure you. She makes you sneeze for the same reason that she makes you shiver—to generate heat for warming the blood and preventing you from taking more cold—to help relieve the cold you have.

The sneezing from cold is not an act of the nose alone, this being merely the part of the body where it explodes. It is an act of the entire body, during which every muscle gives a jump. The body is affected by a spasmodic effort to warm the entire system and throw off the cold.—Manchester Mirror.

Wedding Presents

Oh, June's the month of roses and the month of weddings, too. Then prance the merriment knot when those happy couples send out cards to every one they know.

Each hoping that the wedding gifts will make a dazzling show.

The postman comes. You get a double envelope. You sigh. You know it means another gift that you have got to buy.

You like the lovers, and for them all happiness you wish. But you could wish it quite as well without a pickle-dish.

You rack your brains, you lie awake and lose much-needed sleep in trying to fix upon some gift both elegant and cheap.

You vainly search through all the stores that every one frequents. To find some fourteen-dollar thing that costs but fifty cents.

Oh, wedding presents are a bore to those that have to buy. The envelopes of wedding cards are opened with a sigh. But to the happy couple what new happiness they bring!

So pungle up! Perhaps some day your wedding bells will ring.

—Somerville Journal.

Resourceful Burglar

A constable going the rounds of his beat in London a few nights ago noticed a light in a house from which the family and servants had gone out of town. After the officer had pulled the bell several times a man put his head out of the bedroom window to say that he would be down in a few minutes.

He came down in a dressing gown and carrying a candle in his hand.

The constable explained his suspicion, whereupon the man stated that he had just run up to town to see that all was right. After chatting for a little he invited the constable to have a glass of wine. He lit the dining room gas and produced a bottle of port. After they had drunk each other's health he let

A Fine Talker
"I like the looks of this parrot," said the lady who had stepped into the bird store. "Is he a good talker?" The proprietor replied that the bird was an excellent talker, and it was evident the customer was favorably impressed. "What is your price for him?" she asked.

The man had noticed the rich apparel worn by his customer, and he judged that there was a chance to make a little "easy money" at the expense of one who would never miss it.

"Ten dollars," he said, with just the slightest possible hesitation. "Five dollars, madam," instantly croaked the parrot.

The lady looked at the proprietor, who had turned red, and into the bird store. "He certainly is a fine talker," she said, "and he also seems to have good sense. I am willing to take him at his own valuation. Do I get him for that?"

"You do," answered the bird man sadly.

PREPARATIONS FOR ELABORATE OBSERVANCE OF FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the observance of the feast of Corpus Christi in St. Louis' parish on Sunday, June 25. A procession of the Blessed Sacrament will be held through the various streets of West Centralville and two temporary repositories will be erected, one at the junction of Ludlum and Aiken avenue and another on the piazza of the Centralville Social club building.

The procession will form at the church and the route will be as follows: Boisvert to Victor, to Beaulieu, to West Sixth, to Lilley avenue, to Cumberland road, to Ludlum, to Dalton, to Fisher, to Lakeview avenue, to West Sixth, to Beaulieu and into the church.

During the procession stops will be made at the repositories. The church, fraternal and social organizations of the parish as well as the clergy, altar boys and semi-military guards will participate in the procession.

LOWELL BOYS IN "TECH"

Five Lowell boys will graduate from "Tech" on Wednesday, taking the degree of bachelor of science. They are Horace Ralph Bennett, Harold Francis Dodge, Howard Albert Hands, William Andrew Liddell, Earl Rufus Mellen.

WHAT TO DO FOR NERVOUS INDIGESTION

When nerves go wrong they always seem to strike at your weakest spot. When this spot happens to be the stomach, nervous dyspepsia results, appetite vanishes and gives way to dull, dread, heaviness and a hollow, gnawing feeling that keeps up until every nerve in your body seems on edge. Nervous indigestion never cures properly, and you're all in and out for one day at least so far as being really useful to yourself or anyone else is concerned.

It is the height of folly to force the digestion of food with some painful pill when the stomach nerves are in a state of extreme irritation. The cure comes from the nerves alone. Get the nerves right and all distress will vanish.

Thanks to a remarkable chemical discovery, it is now possible to feed the nerve cells with the exact stimulus they require when overworked and unstrung, and a preparation producing remarkable results in the treatment of Nervous Dyspepsia, and other nerve disorders. They make a remarkable change in many instances in ten minutes by the watch, strengthening the stomach and charging the nerve cells with strength, power, and giving nerves a clear head and brain, courage, power, quick wit, and real vital vim. Marko Nerve Tablets cannot harm anyone. They contain no dope or dangerous habit-forming drugs. Forty tablets come in a large package, and this is often enough to give lasting relief to even the most obstinate cases. Lowell Pharmacy and other leading druggists everywhere are selling them with a positive guarantee of satisfaction.

MRS. JOHN J. ROGERS

WELL KNOWN WORCESTER WOMAN SELECTED FOR PART IN WORCESTER CELEBRATION

A Worcester paper has the following:

"Mrs. John J. Rogers, wife of John J. Rogers, formerly state president of the A.O.H., will read the Declaration of Independence from the steps of the city hall, as part of the Fourth of July celebration. She was selected by the committee having that duty on the safe and sane program for the city observance of the day. It will be the first time that a woman has been given the honor, and Mrs. Rogers' friends and admirers of her brilliant dramatic powers are immensely pleased with the choice.

"Mrs. Rogers is a native of Massachusetts. She taught school before her marriage, and studied elocutionary art in the Emerson School of Oratory of Boston, and has prepared many pupils to give the declaration which will be her part of the exercises on the Fourth. Many a prize-winning speaker has been coached by her.

"Mrs. Rogers has worked faithfully on the safe and sane committees for the last few years, and has taken part in many civic movements.

"She had a promised part in the money back."

AUTO AMBULANCE NEARLY FALLS INTO RIVER—STUMP HALTS ITS PROGRESS—NURSE INJURED

BRAINTREE, June 12.—An ambulance of the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital of Boston left the road-way at the junction of Hancock and Washington streets this afternoon near East bridge and ran eight feet down the side of the bank of the Monaquot river. Had it not been for a stump of a tree against which the machine struck, the ambulance would have gone into the river, which is now about six feet deep.

The ambulance was an improvised affair, made out of a touring car, used in transporting patients from the congested hospital at Brighton. It was in charge of Samuel H. Buckright, of 20 Worcester square, Boston, and with the chauffeur was a nurse, Miss Mary Sylvester. The ambulance had been to Bridgewater, carrying a convalescent patient to that place.

Near the East bridge, a bee or "darning needle" flew into the ambulance, and Miss Sylvester, thinking she was about to be stung, screamed. Mr. Buckright turned to see what was the matter and the next instant the ambulance left the road, crashing through a light rail guard.

The impact of the machine against the stump smashed the windshield and Miss Sylvester got a shower of broken glass in the face. She was assisted from the ambulance, which remained upright, to the home of Ralph Newcomb, where she was attended by Dr. C. A. Sullivan. The latter found Miss Sylvester suffering from a number of painful but not serious glass wounds. Mr. Buckright had a slight cut on the right wrist.

The ambulance was not damaged seriously. It was dragged from its position by horses and taken to South Braintree for repairs. Miss Sylvester was taken to the hospital.

ANTI-AMERICAN DEMONSTRATIONS
WASHINGTON, June 12.—While some state department advisers today gave a more favorable aspect to conditions in northern Mexico, others reported further anti-American demonstrations, leaving the situation generally unchanged.

LATE WAR NEWS

ATHENS, June 12, via London, June 12.—King Constantine decided today to order the complete demobilization of the Greek army.

The demobilization of the Greek army follows the blockade of the ports of Greece by the allies and the placing of an embargo on Greek ships in British and French ports. The steps were taken as a result of the occupation of Greek fortresses in Macedonia by Bulgaria at the end of May. The allies were aroused by negotiations which were opened by Bulgaria and Germany by Premier Skoulovis and on June 5 the British government announced that steps would be taken to prevent Greece from providing the central powers with supplies. The blockade was the result and on June 10 King Constantine ordered the 12 senior classes of the army to be demobilized.

AUSTRIAN AIR RAID ON VENICE SUCCESSFUL, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, June 12 (By wireless to Sayville).—A squadron of American aeroplanes attacked Venice on Sunday night. Several other points in northern Italy were bombarded. An official Austrian report of June 12 says the raid was successful.

The announcement follows: "A squadron of naval aircraft on the night of June 11-12 bombarded extensively and with visible success the railroad tracks on the line between Mestre (five miles northwest of Venice) and San Dona di Piave and the railroad station at Mestre. They obtained several full hits on a locomotive shed. The arsenal at Venice also was bombarded."

Notwithstanding a heavy fire directed at them, all the aeroplanes returned unharmed.

ALWAYS MORE FOR LESS

THE SICKABED LADY

Nurse says that when people learn what to eat and how to eat it, they will have but little to do. Over-indulgence in eating and how one eats can result in but one thing. Raw foods containing starch are not good to eat, as they cannot be digested in the mouth and the system is exhausted trying to digest them. People who eat these fare but little strength for anything else. Next to peanut butter probably dried beans and peas are as nutritious as anything, but they are not suitable for weak stomachs.

Hearty puddings and pies containing eggs and milk should now be eaten at the close of dinner, but should furnish the main part of a luncheon instead. Tea and coffee or other drink should not be taken with food, but before a meal. Before dinner coffee is better than after dinner coffee. When the stomach is weak it is a good idea to eat meat at one meal and starch food at the next to give it a little more rest.

Too much meat or protein food of any kind produces constipation, as there is more waste to protein food and a large amount clogs the bowels. If the skin of the face and nose looks red and irritated it shows you eat too much meat. Fruits, green vegetables, some cereals, and uncooked fats are laxative, as olive oil, cream, butter.

Nurse tells me that a hot water bottle half filled with air and water is only doing half its work. It must contain but a little air. Air is a non-conductor of heat and cold and therefore we must get the air out of the bag.

Fill the bag with water, using judgment as to the amount, being sure not to have too much if the bag is to be used on a tender spot. Twist the top of the bag, pressing gently to allow the air to escape and quickly screw on the cap while holding the bag in this way. Vigorously shake the bag, holding it by the bottom to make sure none of the hot water will leak out.

Now we must test the bag to make sure it will not burn, as it is nothing less than a tragedy to blister a patient with a hot water bag. A blister made in this way is very hard to heal and almost always leaves a very ugly scar, and sometimes renders useless the muscles burned. Place the bag against your own cheek or the back of the hand to ascertain whether or not the bag is at the right temperature.

Nurse says hot water is immediately digested or rather absorbed, and so can be taken just before eating, but cool water cools the stomach, and requires half an hour to digest, so should not be drunk for half an hour before meals, and it should not be drunk for at least three hours afterward. Five hours is better, especially if the stomach is weak for a weak stomach may require five hours to digest what a strong one would digest in three hours. Stout people should not eat less, but drink less than lean people, as fat can be utilized in place of water.

From three to four pints of liquid (six to eight cups) should be drunk a day to keep the kidneys active. Two cups of hot water, tea, coffee, herb tea or thin soup, can be taken just before eating or two cups of cold drink half an hour before meals, but an easier way, I think is to take a cup of hot liquid just before the meal and a cup of cool water half an hour before the next meal and one at bedtime. Hot water should be sipped a teaspoonful at a time.

Nurse advises one who has stepped on a rusty nail to at once pour upon the wound a little warm turpentine. Always keep it in the house, for turpentine is very good for a severe cut or bruise. It is also a very good remedy for cramp. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and place it on the throat and chest. Spirits of turpentine gives immediate relief for burns. It prevents soreness of blisters. Use for corns, rheumatism, sore throats and many other purposes.

Nurse says when used rightly salt is a medicine. Salt should be eaten with nuts to aid digestion. Nervous spasms are usually relieved by a little salt taken in the mouth and allowed to dissolve. Ticking in the throat is best relieved by gargling salt and water.

Hemorrhages from the lungs or stomach are promptly checked by small doses of salt. The patient should be kept as quiet as possible. Consumptive night-sweats may be arrested by sponging the body nightly with salt water.

Nurse says often people think that they need a vacation and that is why they feel tired and half-sick when really it is because they are eating the wrong kind of foods and their food hurts them more than it helps them. It is wicked that "so much good is spoiled in cooking, giving people dyspepsia."

If you feel timid, blue, nervous and imagine all sorts of dreadful things it is because your nerves have been poisoned by indigestion. When the blood gets impure from malnutrition, even the eyes become affected and there are lots of people who are wearing glasses for blurred vision who do not need them, but they do need to look after the food they are eating, then their eyes will become clear again. After the stomach digests a meal it has to repair itself and then rest, before attacking the next meal, so it should not be disturbed until half an hour before the next meal. If you are faint between meals and feel that you must take something, drink water, but do not eat anything, not even fruit until half an hour before the next meal.

If we all perspired more freely it would be much better for us, as it works the poison out of the system through the pores. Cleanliness is promoted by perspiring prior to bathing. Everyone knows the exhilaration which follows a healthy perspiration. Of course the most beneficial method of securing perspiration is the method applied to the trotting horse—vigorous exercise.

In fact, one of the benefits of exercise is perspiration.

When a person cannot or will not take exercise, perspiration can be induced by hot baths. Such extreme measures ought not, however, to be taken too often. How often will depend on the corpulence and other circumstances of each individual.

Sweating may be overdone and should never be pushed to the extent of exhaustion. The function of the skin in removing wastes from the body is much less important than formerly supposed. The advice of a physician is desirable. It should be remembered that all of us perspire insensibly as well as visibly.

KNIVES USED IN FIGHT

Hot Time at Liberty Square This Morning—The Participants Escaped—Police Court Docket

The corner of Fletcher and Worth streets was the scene of a lively fracas shortly after seven o'clock this morning when knives, clubs, stones and fists were used, but despite the fact that one man received a cut over the eye and another had the sleeve of his coat slashed and that the fight lasted for fully fifteen minutes no police officer appeared on the scene. After two members of the party had been badly beaten up and their assailants had made a get-a-way, the two injured men also made their escape, the latter probably feeling that it would be better to go to a doctor and get fixed up than go to the police station.

When queried relative to the affair the police informed a representative of The Sun that a report had been made by the officer on the beat that there was trouble in the vicinity of Liberty square this morning, some foreigners having gotten into an argument over labor troubles.

A man who conducted a store in the vicinity of where the trouble occurred informed The Sun this morning that shortly after seven o'clock he heard loud shouts and looking out saw about fifteen men in the street. They were having a pitched battle, using their fists, stones and various missiles. During the thick of the fight he saw a man draw a sharp knife which was at least ten inches long and make vicious lunges at one of the men. The knife went through the man's sleeve and shortly afterwards there was a spurt of blood. Another man got knifed over the eye.

"Inasmuch as all of the shouts and utterances of the men was in a foreign tongue I could not understand what they were saying. After the battle had been going on for about fifteen or twenty minutes on morn of the party shouted and the majority of the participants started to run away."

THE LADY'S WORKBAG

A camisole material by the yard needs only the front edges turned in and ribbon straps added for the shoulders to make it a rival of the more expensive and tediously made models. The yard material consists of a band of white or flesh-colored crepe de chine headed by a pulling of net and a band of lace with a casing of silk through which to run the ribbon. The bust measure, plus about four extra inches of hems and a slight ease across the bust, will be sufficient for one camisole. There are other laces, headings and nets by the yard that will make the camisole process an easy one. Wide ribbon needs but a lace insertion or beading to make a camisole.

There is a particularly lovely negligee that bears out the "by the yard" theory beautifully. It has a slip formed of the accordion-pleated chiffon which comes by the yard or the piece of two or three yards. This is hung from the shoulders by ribbons. Over this is draped wide mesh lace in such a way that the lace is not cut except three pieces. One piece makes a draped cape, the other is gathered on to this cape to lengthen it in back, and the third is draped from the front to the longer back by merely catching it at intervals to the cape of lace.

In finishing the neck and armholes of little children's undergarments or the neck of yokes of dresses instead of using the usual bias facing a much more lasting, as well as neater finish, can be made by rolling the raw edge over a small cord according to the material used—cotton is good—and stitching down. If hooks and eyes are buttonholed in place they will not pull off. Three or four such stitches will hold them firmly while it takes twice or more that number if taken in the usual over-and-over way, and even they will loosen readily.

When engaged on delicate needlework a good idea is to have a little flour in a saucer by your side and to dip your fingers in it from time to time. This will not only keep the hands dry, but keeps the work beautifully clean.

A simple, but effective case for holding ribbons, made of an odd-length piece of satin or a strip of ribbon. A piece of material, flowered silk or ribbon, twelve inches long by six inches wide; a skin of white silk, a yard of white ribbon, one-quarter-inch-wide, and twelve yards of narrow ribbon suitable for drawing through underlining are required. Over a narrow hem around the material and fold over the lower edge to within one and one-half inches of the top. Featherstitch the hem and divide the turned-up portion into four equal sections with the white silk. From plain white cardboard cut four pieces to fit the section of the ribbon case. Over these wind the ribbons and slip each into its particular section. Fold over the case and tie together with the white ribbon.

This summer more than ever will the bag be useful. Big bags, little bags, round and square, silk, cotton or embroidered, but a bag of some kind one must carry to be in fashion. An effective one can be made from plain repp and cretonne. Cut the solage from the repp in strips of 14 inches wide. Take a piece a yard long by 21½ inches wide and stitch a panel of cretonne down each side, ending 2½ inches from the middle. Cover a piece of cardboard, 14½ inches with repp and stitch across the edges of the bag on the wrong side, to make the base. Stitch the sides together to 7 inches from the top. Turn back the upper corners, face with cretonne, border panels and points with gilt braid. Take up the bottom corners and secure each with a big button of cretonne and braid.

Wind two hoops (12 inches long) with the solage strips, sewing gilt braid on the outside. Hem the top of each side of the bag over the lower edge of a hoop.

There is no home that can contain too many scrap baskets and a pretty one can be easily made by taking a piece of cardboard about 18 by 22 inches. Paste the longer length together to make the pipe. Embroider the linen and sew on the lace. Stitch the sides together on the wrong side and hem the bottom. Line the inside of the basket with a bit of satin or thin silk.

Draw the outer covering over the cardboard and for the bottom cut a round of cardboard the size to fit. Glue or paste the edge and push it into the pipe, resting half an inch or so inside. A narrow upholsterer's gimp is used as a trimming for cretonne baskets and the French gilt for those covered in tapestry.

The wise woman who firmly believes in and carries out the old idea of things being kept long enough to will come into fashion again is surely seeing it carried out these days. Not for years has fashion dipped into old styles as it has this year and the woman who has a real old patchwork quilt is the envy of her friends, and finds them eager to copy it. The newest patchwork, too, has a wonderful charm of its own.

You take, say, for a child's coverlet, a square of quilted muslin, white preferred, and apply it to a wreath of flowers or fruit that you have cut out in washing silk or linen.

The flowers, fruit and leaves, must be of bright color and cut out with a pair of sharp scissors and based on to the square of muslin before they are neatly sewn round.

A brown basket design filled with little oranges and lemons and grapes is handsome on a green or purple silk cushion. Cherries with their leaves, are charming on a green linen. Serge and other woolen materials, foundation and applique may be pressed, of course, into the service.

MOVIES THRILLER

Edward Phillips Leaped From Balloon at Altitude of 2100 Feet at Pittsfield

PITTSFIELD, June 13.—A. Leo Stevens and Edward Phillips of New York arose from the aero park here yesterday afternoon in the balloon North Adams, to register a thrill for a new motion picture which is being screened by a New York company under the direction of Donald McKendrick.

Mr. Stevens was disguised to represent the villain in the play and Mr. Phillips, in a woman's garments and wig, represented the heroine, who was being carried away by the villain.

At an altitude of 2100 feet Mr. Phillips leaped from the balloon with a parachute "to escape" and landed safely in a tree near Goodrich pond, while half a dozen picture machines, scattered about the territory, took the leap. Mr. Stevens made a safe landing at East Hartland, Conn., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon.

THREE MURDERERS RELEASED

HARTFORD, Conn., June 13.—Three murderers, serving life sentences, were released from state prison yesterday by the state board of pardons. They were Thomas McNulty of 1898, who killed a woman; Antonio Grosso of Bridgeport, who slew a man in a drunken scuffle 20 years ago, and Oscar Graves, aged 60, of East Hartford, who has been in prison 43 years for complicity in robbing and murdering the East Hartford station agent.

ORPET MURDER TRIAL

JOSEPHINE DAVIS, CHUM OF MURDERED GIRL, RESUMES HER TESTIMONY

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 13.—Josephine Davis, chum of Marjorie Lambert for whose death last February, Will H. Orpet is charged with murder, resumed her testimony at the continuance of the trial today.

Miss Davis who had been expected to testify for the state, was instead a witness for the defense and yesterday retracted statements she made at the coroner's inquest and at the hearing before the grand jury.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE SAFE, RELIABLE WAY

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from A. W. Dows & Co., or any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footprints become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

PIERROT EMBROIDERY

JEWELS

There can be no real satisfaction in wearing or presenting diamonds or gem jewelry unless one is positive that the jewels are above criticism. While there is nothing more attractive, nothing stirs the emotion more than beautiful gems; so many essentials enter into the grading of precious stones that it is important to exercise great care in selection in order to secure quality and value for the money expended. EVERY GEM HERE IS GOOD AND THE SETTINGS ARE PERFECT—JUST RIGHT TO SET OFF THE BEAUTY AND QUALITY OF EACH STONE. One quality prevails. It is this regard for gem purity which will protect you no matter what stone you buy, and the price will be found to be no more than elsewhere. The policy of this store is not to sell the cheapest goods. An earnest desire is made to merit the patronage of yourself and friends by giving equal or better value for the money than can be had anywhere in town or outside.

Americanism

"We have talked a great deal about Americanism. It ought to be a matter of pride with us to know what Americanism really consists in. Americanism consists in utterly believing in the principles of America and putting them first as above anything that might by chance come into competition with it. And I for my part believe that the American test is a spiritual test. If a man has to make excuses for what he has done as an American, I doubt his Americanism. I ought to know that from my action, the knowledge that lies behind what he does is a native which no American need be ashamed of for a moment. Now cught to put this test to every man know. We ought to let it be kno that nobody who does not put America first can consort with us. But we come to set them the example. We ought to set them the example by thinking American thoughts, by entertaining American purposes, and by pursuing American purposes will stand the test of any sample anywhere in the world, for they are intended for the betterment of mankind.

"So I have come to say these words to you today, gentlemen, for double purpose; first of all to express my personal good wishes to you in your great work, and second of all to remind you we must all stand together in spirit as lovers and servants of America. And that means something more than lovers and servants merely of the United States. You have heard of the Monroe Doctrine, gentlemen. You know that it is already written in stone with both continents of this hemisphere and that America means something that is bigger even than the United States and that we stand here with the glorious power of this country ready to swing it out into the field of action where liberty and independence and political integrity are threatened anywhere in the western hemisphere.

"We Are Ready"

"And we are ready—nobody has authorized me to say this, but I am sure of it—we are ready to join with other nations of the world in seeing that the kind of justice prevails a where that we believe in.

"So that you as graduating teachers, going into a new distinction, G attaches to all those men whose names we love recount, who have made annals of the American army distinguished. They played the part I were called upon to play with honor and with extraordinary character and success, and I am proud to think because you will be better than it but because you will have a world of thought and conception to play your part in. I am an American but I do not believe that any of loves a blustering nationality, a stinging with a chin on the shoulder nationality with its elbows out and swagger on. We love that quiet, respecting, unconquerable spirit which does not strike until it is necessary to strike, and then strikes to conquer. Never since I was a youngster have been afraid of the modern man. I have been afraid of the still man. I had a classmate at college who was most dangerous when he was affable. When he was maddest seemed to have the sweetest temper the world. He would approach a man with an inquiring air, and then you knew that every red cell in his blood was up and shouting if you work things off in your elbow if you do not work them off in your

THE UNIONISTS OF ULSTER AGREE ON PRETEXT OF HELPING WIN THE WAR

BELFAST, June 13.—The Ulster unionist council, while showing no enthusiasm for the proposed home rule compromise at a meeting yesterday presided over by Sir Edward Carson, authorized Sir Edward to proceed with the negotiations. The attitude of the members was that they were willing to make sacrifices in order, as the government desires, to procure a settlement which will strengthen the empire and aid in winning the war.

The meeting was private, but a statement of the proceedings showed that the unionists in the counties of Cavan, Monaghan and Donegal protested against separation from the rest of Ulster, but agreed to abide by the decision of the other six Ulster counties. These counties have shown home rule majorities in their elections. The meeting further adopted a resolution stating that, in the event of failure of negotiations to complete freedom of action was reserved to oppose the whole policy of home rule.

AN ACCIDENT HEARING

CASE OF MICHAEL GIBBONS HEARD BY ARBITRATION BOARD TODAY

An arbitration committee under the workman's compensation act held a hearing at city hall this forenoon on the question of compensation to be paid Michael Gibbons, an employee of the Saco-Lowell shops. Mr. Gibbons had his sleeve caught in a set screw on Jan. 11, 1916, and had his right arm badly bruised. He was treated at the Lowell hospital.

The young man received compensation until Feb. 22, at which time Dr. E. J. Clark, superintendent of the Lowell hospital, claimed he was able to return to his work. Mr. Gibbons, however, did not feel able to work and he remained out a few more weeks. The American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. refused to pay him any compensation after Feb. 22, and Mr. Gibbons appealed to the Industrial Accident board.

The hearing was presided over by Joseph A. Parks of the Industrial Accident board, and the other members of the arbitration committee were Arthur Santry, Esq. for the insurer and John A. Crowley, Esq. for the employee. Gay Gleason represented the insurance company and Mayor O'Donnell the employee. At the opening of the hearing Mr. Parks paid his compliments to the mayor by saying all members of the Industrial Accident board prefer Lowell to any other city in the state for the holding of hearings, for he said the Lowellians are so courteous.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Finishing Blow Given Largest Surviving Band of Villa Followers in Chihuahua

Officers Fired Several Shots—Two Men Arrested.

FIELD HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. PERSHING, June 12, via radio to Columbus, N. M., June 13.—The finishing blow was given the largest surviving band of Villa followers in Chihuahua at daylight June 9 by 20 men of the 13th cavalry under Capt. Otto Rethorsh in a dashing canyon fight 20 miles north of Santa Clara near here. The Americans were unhurt.

U. S. TROOPER SHOT BY BULLET FIRED ACROSS BORDER

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 13.—A bullet fired across the Mexican frontier at Lone Cabin, 40 miles south of Tlachita, N. M., yesterday, struck Lee W. Sanders, a trooper of K troop, twelfth cavalry, in the left leg, according to a report made today by Sanders.

30 MEXICAN HEROES SLAUGHTERED BY INDIANS

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 13.—Thirty Mexican herders engaged in a roundup near Fundacion in the Sahuaripa district of southern Sonora, were attacked and slaughtered by head Indians several days ago, according to apparently reliable reports received here today. The reports stated that the band recently broke through the line of Carranza troops established in the northern Yaqui river valley and have been committing depredations in the district since, several isolated ranches being attacked and a number of Mexicans killed.

1500 ADDITIONAL TROOPS RUSHED TO BORDER

the Mexican border last night and reports of the rapid spread of anti-American feeling continuing to pour in from consuls all over northern Mexico, administration officials made no attempt to disguise their uneasiness. It was unofficially admitted that there is growing alarm over what the agitation may produce and the possibility of an attack on Gen. Pershing's expedition.

No case of attack on the persons of American residents in Mexico has been reported, although there have been one or two attacks on vacant consulates and other American property. Part of the increasing apprehension here is due to the renewed raids in the Laredo region. Several reports dealing with the situation there have been received. Officials declined to reveal details, but they gave the impression of having reason to believe a serious purpose was behind the bandit raid on the Coleman ranch. Three raiders were killed and three captured, one report said, adding that they attempted to burn a railroad bridge near Laredo, but failed.

MEXICANS FLEE TO U. S. TO SEEK EMPLOYMENT
